The Fight Is Off.
Friends With England.
Japan's New Plan.
Hoover Would Save.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

RUSSIAN and Chinese officials are conferring, and that "war" is probably off.

President Hoover yesterday, with Calvin Coolidge sitting beside him, officially proclaimed the Kellogg peace pact in full force. Four South American nations, Switzerland and powerful Japan, adhering to the pact, just in time.

THAT this pact could have prevented war between China and Russia, without violent outside interference, is not clear.

At least it gives nations that happen not to want war, an excuse for rebuking the quarrelsome. That should help.

BRITAIN'S Labor government emphasizes the statement that "preparations for war with the United States have never been and never will be a basis of our policy in any case."

This country certainly doesn't want war with Britain, never intends to have it, or with anybody else, if it can be avoided.

PICKING flaws is unpleasant. But the British do maintain in the West Indies warlike preparations that can be aimed only at the United States.

We have no such arrangements on the long border separating us from Canada. And Canada has none.

R. J. CROMIE, able owner of the Vancouver Sun, attaches importance to the downfall of the recent government of Japan. The new government will seek to develop trade with China by good will, not at the point of the bayonet.

Mr. Cromie warns Americans and Canadians that they must work to hold and increase trade with China against Japan, possessing the advantage of geographical proximity, racial likeness, political affiliation.

THE first step would be to cut the cost of communication between this continent and Asia. "A 25-word night letter from London to New York or Montreal costs 4 cents a word. The same message from the Pacific coast to Japan or China costs 40 cents to a dollar a word. India can cable Germany or England for 6 cents a word. A message from the United States or Canada to India costs 60 cents a word."

Mr. Cromie says that to do business with each other, men must talk to each other, easily. He predicts "the growth and swing of Asia's trade away from Europe across the Pacific to America."

Past wars, and preparation for future wars, cost this country about two billion dollars a year. That is not as bad as spending fifty billions in a hurry, and getting nothing for the money, when war finds us unprepared.

BUT it would be desirable and easy to save some of the millions now spent uselessly. Fifty million dollar battleships, that are only airplane targets in modern war, might be abandoned. Also the spending on our coast defense pop-guns that could never shoot anything.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, an engineer, understands modern methods, and will save hundreds of millions a year if politics and Navy and Army officers, who do not understand modern methods, will allow it.

YESTERDAY afternoon O'Brine and Jackson, young St. Louis fliers with plenty of vitality, were still sailing around in their endurance flight, with all records broken.

FOR many hours the young men had been receiving a bonus of $100 each for every additional hour flown. They assured friends on the ground, by radio, that they were in no hurry to come down.

SUCH tests are valuable, and fortunately not dangerous. They prove the quality of engines, the strength of plane construction. And the long-flight value of oil and gasoline used in the tests.

TODAY the Pope will leave the Vatican to head a religious procession in St. Peter's Square, the first departure of any Pope from the self-imposed imprisonment in the Vatican in more than fifty years.

Yesterday, more than twenty-four hours before the event, crowds had gathered eager to wait a day and a night for a glimpse of the Pope in the religious procession.

THE Communist branch of organized labor in New York has appealed for funds to be used fighting the powerfully organized American Federation of Labor.

Big business, with no internal quarrels, reads about labor quarrels and smiles.

IN INDIA Great Britain governs easily 300,000,000 natives. Mohammedan and Hindu British subjects hate and fight each other. They never combine to fight the British.

The reason is that the British are more intelligent than the natives, just as organized capital, here, is more intelligent than organized labor.

IF IT were not, labor would have the capital. The biggest capitalists were working for small pay a few years ago. Ford for $100 a month, Rockefeller and Mellon for less.

OAKLAND, STRIP DENS OF VICE, COURT TOLD

The Oakland and Strip districts are riddled with gambling resorts and speakeasies, men seeking appointments as constables told Judges Ambrose B. Reid and Frank P. Patterson in Criminal Court today.

"There is a gambling house above the office of Alderman C. B. Qualley, Oakland avenue, near Forbes street," Michael V. Conroy testified. Attorney Samuel Rosenberg said the Second Ward, Strip district, was a "nest" of gambling houses.

APPOINTMENTS REFUSED

Judge Patterson denied the petition of the Verona—McManus-Flanigan faction for appointment of four deputies in the Second Ward.

In the Fourth Ward, the court appointed Louis E. Wicks, regarded an "independent," as constable to succeed Peter J. Madden, who resigned when he was sentenced to three months in the workhouse following charges of election frauds.

The names of Coleman Coyne, brother of Senator J. J. Coyne; George McFarland and Michael V. Conroy were presented, but Coyne's was quickly withdrawn.

McFarland is a deputy constable in Alderman Qualley's office.

Conroy, represented by Attorney Samuel Rosenberg, was questioned, after he had stated that the district was full of gambling houses and speakeasies.

DENIES HAVING "BOSS"

"Have you any political master?" Judge Patterson asked.

"No," Conroy answered.

"Do you know where these gambling houses and speakeasies are?"

"Yes, and I'll close them if I am appointed."

"Do you know of one above

Pirates and Robins Game Is Postponed

The final game of the Pirates-Robins series, scheduled here this afternoon, was postponed when a heavy rain drenched the city at noon. The game will be played as part of a doubleheader here on September 6, when the Brooklynites make their last swing of the season through the west.

Ray Kremer, mound ace, who was to have toiled against the Robins today, will be on the firing line when the Corsairs open their series with the Braves here tomorrow.

The postponement of today's fight erased all Pirate hopes for an immediate return to first place, from which they were dropped yesterday when they bowed to Brooklyn here while the Cubs were taking the measure of the Giants in Chicago.

PICK 5 WOMEN IN FIRST 11 ON SNOOK JURY

Sex and Narcotics to Play Important Parts in Trial, Defense Questions Indicate

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Sex subjects and "experiments with drugs to determine the human reaction," will be delved into at the trial of Dr. James H. Snook, 49-year-old college professor, for the murder of Theora Hix, 25-year-old co-ed, it was indicated in court today.

Mrs. Albert Brooks, a housewife, was the tenth juror tentatively selected. Five women and six men have been chosen.

JURORS CLOSELY QUIZZED

In questioning Elliott P. Rexford, the eighth juror to be tentatively accepted for the jury, defense Attorney John F. Seidel said:

"Would the fact that Dr. Snook and Miss Hix had experimented with doses of drugs by administering them to see the human reaction, influence you for or against this defendant?"

"No," replied Rexford, who is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

SEX ANGLE STRESSED

Sex subjects and the intimate relations between Dr. Snook and the co-ed also will be aired. Attorney Seidel further indicated.

"If it develops," said Seidel, "that the question of sex and the subject of illicit relations are delved into, would the fact that this is a mixed jury of men and women cause you any embarrassment or prevent you discussing the case fully in the jury room?"

"No, it would not," Rexford replied.

Speedboat Breaks 59-Year-Old Record

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—(INS.)—One of "Ol' Man Riber's" most cherished records fell before the sweep of modern mechanical progress today when Dr. Louis Leroy docked his speedboat, The Rogie, at the St. Louis levee three hours and one minute ahead of the record set in the race from New Orleans to St. Louis in 1870 by the famous packet Robert E. Lee.

Dr. Leroy's time for the turbulent trip up the river was 87 hours and 30 minutes. The record set 59 years ago by the Robert E. Lee is generally accepted as 90 hours and 31 minutes.

POPE BREAKS CAPTIVITY

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—The Catholic popes were "liberated" this evening from their long, self-imposed captivity in the Vatican when Pope Pius XI made his historic exit from St. Peter's church into St. Peter's square in the presence of more than a quarter of a million spectators.

It was an imposing spectacle when the Pontiff was borne from the Vatican church kneeling upon his podium beneath a canopy of silk. The solemnity of this scene, breaking a church precedent of nearly 60 years' duration, held the mighty host of men and women spectators, drawn here from the ends of the earth, spellbound during the hour's pageantry that pre-

DOCTOR CAUGHT IN DRY NET

Charged with forging the name of another physician in issuing more than the legal number of liquor prescriptions, Dr. John P. Kirch, of 713 College avenue, was arrested today by the federal prohibition forces.

According to prohibition officers, Dr. Kirch used the other physician's name in obtaining a pad of prescriptions from the prohibition offices after securing his own supply and issued more than 100 in 90 days, using fictitious names and addresses.

Dr. Kirch, who maintains offices in the East End Trust Building, was released on $2,000 bond pending a hearing.

Brotherhood Bank Pays New Dividend

A 10 per cent dividend on the defunct Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company was in the mails today, en route to 2,500 depositors. The dividend was declared Tuesday, and brings the total to 95 per cent, according to state bank examiners.

"And it seems likely that the remaining 5 per cent will be paid at a later date, although this is contingent on our ability to liquidate the remaining assets," a deputy examiner in the office of Frank W. Jackson said today.

Thaw Residence Transferred to New Owner

Formal transfer of the Thaw mansion at 1165 Beechwood boulevard was made today to Frank A. Leovy, vice president of the Gulf Refining Company, with the filing of the deed stipulating $175,000 as the selling price. The sale was reported exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph on Sunday. The deal was made by the Commonwealth Trust Company. P. S. Space, an executor of the Mary Copley Thaw estate, executed the deed.

EX-BANKER'S TERM CUT 4 YEARS

Broken Coal Operator Goes To Home of Son After He Is Notified of Release

John A. Bell was a free man today.

The former Carnegie banker, coal magnate and multi-millionaire, was paroled from the remaining four years of a six-year term by Judges Ambrose B. Reid and Frank P. Patterson in Criminal Court.

"I feel so good that I don't know what to say," Bell told a representative of the Sun-Telegraph, who was the first to convey the news to him that he was a free man.

TEARS OF HAPPINESS

Broken physically and financially, Bell received the news in the Allegheny General Hospital, where he was serving his term, from his lawyer, Oliver K. Eaton, who had pleaded for the parole.

There was a new light in Bell's eyes an hour later as he walked slowly down the hospital steps with his lawyer and his son, John A. Bell, Jr.

As he stepped into the taxicab which was to take him to the courthouse to sign the parole papers, tears of happiness which had been stemmed for two years trickled down his cheeks.

Bell returned to the hospital for lunch and to claim his belongings. His $10 radio set he gave to a nurse. From the hospital his new route was to the Edgeworth home of his son.

300 SIGNED PETITION

The hearing in the case was brief. A petition with 200 signatures of former depositors, asking that the parole be granted was presented. It had been circulated, the court heard, by one who had lost $18,500 in the defunct Carnegie Trust Company. Another petition recording 100 names of former neighbors was presented, and a number of letters.

Judge Reid was given a picture of Bell's broken-down physical condition by Attorney Eaton. The court then called for objectors, and got no

The St. Augustine bank, one of the oldest in the state, had deposits of nearly $2,250,000.

Lucky Bucks—Trade Your Old Money For New

By LUCKY BUCK

Folks, Washington society may have its troubles over precedence, but your old friend Lucky Buck isn't entirely free, himself. It falls upon his shoulders to decide today who is luckier—Miss Mary Harris,

Dave Vandevort Mrs. J. Farkas

8104 Frankstown avenue, or Dave Vandevort, 715 School street, Coraopolis.

It's thisaway: Dave is a nice young fellow who works as a mailing clerk for the telephone company. Friday, last, he was paid in hard-earned simoleons. But by yesterday morning, what with purchases for himself and his Big Moment (we suppose) the poor chap was broke—absolutely flat busted. In hope and desperation he glanced at Tuesday's Sun-Telegraph and—lo and behold!—there was the number of his last dollar. He plans for a hot time Saturday night and Sunday and is collecting more dollar bills from now on, he claims.

But Mary—well, Mary's sister-in-law's husband is a regular fellow. He runs a drug store in the East End, and is twice as popular now he's handed a Rambling Rock to Mary. This young lady went on a shopping trip Tuesday—spent all of her money, but a fin, and spent four-fifths of that at her brother's store. The fifth she retained was a Lucky Buck. Fortunate Simoleon No. RS8289250D is one I left way down near Aliquippa several days ago. How did it reach the East End? Nobody knows, folks, but you see how they do travel.

Then there's Robert J. Munch, 1701 Meadville street. Picking up Buck No. Z64250677D in a restaurant at Penn and Sixth, Munch brought it to the Sun-Telegraph with visible triumph gleaming in his eye. Munch is commander of Post No. 12, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and will use the double sawbucks for tickets to the veterans' circus to be held at Duquesne Gardens in September. He will give the tickets to Pittsburgh boys and girls.

Mrs. Jesse Farkas, 626 Twenty-fourth street, Beaver Falls, held an auction with her Lucky Buck No. B35794847E—but refused to sell it. The word got around—as words do—that Mrs. Farkas had an Elusive Suskin in reserve. All the neighbors crowded into her store for two days, attempting to buy her Lucky Buck. But she held on to it, wisely, and visited me at my office today. I was glad to see her, too, as I am to see all of fortune's favorites.

Now folks, I'm going to start advertising for foot remedies in the very near future. If you can help me out, for goodness sake, write and tell me your remedy for sore feet! I've been trampin' all over Western Pennsylvania for the last many days, and I sure do need somethin' for my dogs.

I've scattered these bones thoroughly. You may stub your toe on them anywhere from Johnstown to Youngstown, folks, or from Butler to Wheeling. Keep that eagle eye functioning and watch out for 'em. Here're the new ones:

U. S.-BRITISH NAVAL AGREEMENT THIS YEAR FORECAST

MACDONALD AND HOOVER IN ACCORD

Quibbling Over Ship Parity To Cease With Two Leaders in Favor of Reductions

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A definite naval understanding between Great Britain and the United States, which will not only limit but actually reduce existing establishments in all classes of ships, was forecast here today at a not far distant date.

The British government of Premier Ramsay MacDonald has accepted without reservation and in its entirety the principle of naval parity between the two countries, which was proposed to him recently by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson. This acceptance is regarded here as the foundation rock upon which the agreement will be erected.

MacDONALD PRAISED

"It is a very immense and tremendous step forward," said Secretary of State Stimson today, referring to MacDonald's speech to the House of Commons yesterday in which he publicly announced Britain's acceptance of complete parity.

Naval parity in principle was established at the Washington arms conference eight years ago, but it was what the diplomats term "statesmens' parity" rather than actual and technical parity, ship for ship, and gun for gun, all down the line. The parity that MacDonald's government has now agreed to amounts to this technical and ship-for-ship parity.

There will be no more quibbling over parity now, and in that fact officials here see the greatest possible step forward toward eventual agreement. It may very well be, it was said today, that the experts will make sufficient progress in their work so as to enable the agreement to be consummated when and if MacDonald comes to visit Washington in October.

HOOVER SUPPORTED

Much negotiation, however, will be necessary before final agreement is reached. President Hoover is intent upon reduction, not mere limitation, of ships and this will have to be worked out on a basis of relative needs of both countries.

With both countries having stopped building, and with Britain at last entirely accepting the principle of parity, officials here feel that two of the most formidable hurdles have been cleared.

State department authorities vigorously dissent from the prevailing view in congressional circles in Washington that President Hoover exceeded his authority in ordering work suspended upon the three cruisers that were to have been laid down this year, under a congressional mandate.

It was pointed out that the President had not actually canceled any of the plans, but simply had ordered them held up temporarily until the situation with regard to an eventual Anglo-American agreement is further clarified.

the 'Squire's' office?" the court asked the applicant.

"Yes, and I'll close that, too."

"MEMBERSHIP" CLUB

Qualley, who was in the courtroom, was called by Judge Patterson.

"Do you know of a gambling place above your office?" he was asked.

"I have heard rumors of it," Qualley answered.

"What did you do about it?"

"I had it investigated and found that it was a membership club, your honor," Qualley answered.

Wicks was next put on the stand and presented petitions signed by 390 citizens and businessmen. He testified he didn't know particularly about the "joints" but that he would investigate. He had been chief deputy sheriff in Criminal Court for six years. The court then appointed him.

COYNE-FUGASSI ROW

Following the hearings, Senator Coyne, head of the Kline-Coyne faction, of which Qualley is an adherent, had heated words with John A. Fugassi, McManus-Verona chieftain. They were surrounded in the corridor near the courtroom.

Fugassi denied that he was a "squawker."

"But your crowd and associates are," Coyne thundered.

While Judge Patterson ruled out the petition of the Second Ward group for the four new deputy constables to "clean up," he stated that he would entertain a petition to have removed the four constables from outside wards who are now reported working in the Second. Then, if there was justification, the court explained, he might consider their petition.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, who heard Qualley's testimony concerning the gambling place, declared he had no statement to make, but said he would confer with Chief of County Detectives George Murren tomorrow, when Murren returns to the city.

SAVES MOTHER, KILLS FATHER

FARRELL, Pa., July 25.—In defense of his mother, Matthew Latinich, 19-year-old Farrell High School Junior, shot and killed his father, Peter Latinich, 45, at their home early today, police say.

The youth fired, he told police, when his father refused to stop beating his mother and threatened to "kill them all."

When Matthew, lame, hobbled home from a movie, a lad who stays at the Latinich home, told him his father and mother were fighting.

The youth fired four times with a .22 caliber revolver, all shots taking effect. His father appeared to be intoxicated, he told police. The elder Latinich is a millworker. The mother had been released from a hospital only a week. The son was jailed.

Natrona Officers Swim to Arrest River Refugees

In the bright lexicon of Constable Edward Heilman and Patrolman Paul Engleman, of Natrona, there is no such word as fail.

When two youths they were seeking on an auto theft charge took refuge on a rock pile in the middle of the Allegheny River yesterday, the two officers doffed their clothing, swam out and arrested Steve Karpinski, 16, and "Cherry" Wiesneski. Frank Pochek was arrested on the river bank.

The three were held for court by Justice of the Peace John C. Oncken.

BUS REPLACES W. VA. TRAIN

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 25.—Motor bus competition has not bothered the West Virginia Midland Railroad, operating between Webster Springs and Holly Junction, where it connects with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. It has merely provided the competition itself.

Effective August 4, the railroad will discontinue passenger service and will substitute a motor bus service between the towns named. The bus will operate on the same schedule as the train service. In addition, the railroad plans to operate a mixed train over its rails.

were intimate on the night of the crime.

SPECTATORS LAUGH

The spectators laughed when Rexford, asked what part of the newspapers he reads, said:

"The funny pictures and the headlines."

Attorney Seidel further indicated it would be contended Miss Hix administered drugs to Snook "on the night of the crime."

In questioning Louis C. Davis, the ninth juror tentatively accepted, Seidel said:

"Would you be prejudiced against this defendant if it were shown they took drugs together and that she administered drugs to him on the night of the crime?"

"I would not," Davis replied.

Dr. Snook was calm and self-possessed throughout the hearing. The tall bald-headed defendant sat relaxed in his chair at defense counsel's table, fingering a gold pencil as talesmen were examined.

IGNORES GIRL'S FATHER

Not once did he glance in the direction of Melvin T. Hix, silver-haired father of the slain girl who sat across the room glaring at him.

Mrs. Snook, the defendant's wife, is said to be standing by him, but she was not in the court room yesterday.

The former professor faces his signed confession that he killed the girl on an automobile ride six weeks ago after she had threatened the lives of his wife and child and reached into a handbag, where she sometimes carried a pistol. The prosecutor said it would be used against him.

ACCUSATIONS HURT

At times Hix, himself a retired public school principal of New York City, almost leaps from his chair when one of the attorneys mentions "a love nest" and hints his daughter and Dr. Snook, during the course of their "affair," used drugs. His Theora!

Theora! What an unusual name. Hix, in a quivering voice, will explain to you the meaning of "Theora." He gave his child that name himself. That was 25 years ago when he was teaching Greek and Latin. He wanted to give his baby a name that would be distinctly individual. So he chose "Theora," which in Greek means "God-given."

PADLOCKS PUT ON 10 PLACES

Temporary injunctions against nine places in Pittsburgh and one in Clairton for alleged violations of the liquor laws were ordered by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today.

The places and their proprietors: Vincent Marino, 66 Washington place; Sam Gondelman, 1312 Clark street; Max Leff, 141 Fullerton street; Edgar Attkisson, Bates street and York way; Manuel Williams, 1407 Epiphany street; William Ward, 3101 Niagara street; Frank H. Pastor and Singer Desert Children to Elope

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(AP.)—Leaving notes for their families, the Rev. John Wesley Gable, 46, pastor of the Enhaut Church of God, and Mrs. John Miller, 33, choir singer, left their homes in the pastor's automobile, say state police, who are searching for the couple.

Paul Gable, New Cumberland, son of the missing preacher, said his father withdrew several hundred dollars from a Steelton bank.

The suspected elopement became known first when Miller, a steel worker, was handed a note by the eldest of his four children when he came home. It read:

"BYE, BYE, DADDY"

"I know you won't love me any more since I did this, daddy dear. Please forgive me. Kiss all the boys for me every night and be kind, especially to Russell, for my sake, please. Bye, bye, daddy and boys."

After reading the note, Miller got in touch with Mrs. Gable, who had been in Halifax for the day with her son. The note left by the Rev. Mr. Gable was discovered soon afterwards. Mrs. Gable declined to divulge its contents.

Both Miller and Mrs. Gable declared they would be happy to take back their spouses if they would return.

WIFE COMPLAINED

Police learned that Mrs. Miller had threatened to leave her home previously because of her home conditions and the heavy burden imposed on her in caring for her four sons, the eldest 10 years old and the youngest 2.

Neighbors said that the Rev. Mr. Gable had been a frequent caller at the Miller home and had been teaching her singing. They sang duets in church.

The Miller children said their mother put three of them to bed, crying over them and kissing them, and then, after handing the note to the eldest, slipped out of the house and joined the Rev. Mr. Gable, who was waiting in an alley in the rear of the Miller home, with his automobile.

Gable had been pastor of the Maytown Church of God before coming to Enhaut last November.

GIRL, 21, HELD IN KNIFE MURDER

HOBOKEN, N. J., July 25.—(INS.)—John Russo, 46, was shot and then hacked to death today and his 21-year-old niece, Lillian Russo, was charged with his murder. According to police, she confessed the slaying, saying her uncle had attacked her.

The killing came as public interest was waning in the case of the 14-year-old girl who killed her father when he attempted to kill her. The Russo killing is the second of its kind in New Jersey in a fortnight.

In the confession police said she made, the girl asserted she fired both barrels of a 16-gauge shotgun into Russo and, after he fell, fired six shots from a .38 calibre pistol. Police also said she admitted she fell on the dying man with a butcher knife and hatchet. The knife was found, buried to the hilt, in Russo's breast.

PISTOL EXPERT FATALLY SHOT

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—Captain William Kieb, widely known life saving instructor and field representative of the American Red Cross, was fatally wounded here while demonstrating to local police the method of getting away from a man holding a pistol to one's back. The revolver being used in the demonstration, thought to have been unloaded, contained a bullet.

Patrolman Warren Xander was holding the revolver. Kieb told him to pull the trigger as he executed the maneuver he was demonstrating and the bullet penetrated Kieb's spine at the small of the back.

Kieb fell to the floor, but did not lose consciousness, directing the ambulance men who took him to a local hospital where he died an hour after his arrived. Kieb was in this city to give a life saving demonstration before the local Kiwanis Club.

WAITING AT CHURCH

FLIERS NEAR 300TH HOUR ALOFT

Almost Two Days Past Old Record, Everything Runs Smoothly for St. Louisans

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD.
International News Service.

LAMBERT FIELD, St. Louis, July 25.—With that buccaneering disregard for records and precedent which has characterized the St. Louis Robin's epochal endurance flight, two adventuresome pilots, Dale (Red) Jackson and Forrest O'Brine, defied an old-established jinx by flying serenely into their thirteenth day in the air at 7:17 (9:17 Pittsburgh time) this morning.

At this time they had been up 288 hours, and the plane's whirring propeller was sounding a monotonous challenge to their 300-hour goal.

41 HOURS PAST RECORD

The St. Louis Robin has now added more than 41 hours to the former world record for sustained flying set by the Angeleno, and few are willing to predict when the plane will come down.

"Everything going fine," was the latest message from the trail blazers of the sky. "We will stay up as long as there is any run left in this motor."

Maintaining a 60-mile-an-hour clip since they rose a week ago Saturday, the fliers have covered more than 16,000 miles. It is estimated the 6-cylinder, air-cooled motor has revolved about 21,000,000 times.

GET $2,400 A DAY

The Robin pilots are beginning to realize cash dividends on their record at a rate of $2,400 a day. They are getting $100 an hour from the Curtiss Airplane Company for every hour they score over the old record. Cash donations and gifts are beginning to pour in for them.

JOHN A. BELL PAROLED

reply. John A. Bell, Jr., told the court he was prepared to take his father to his Edgeworth home.

After a few minutes' discussion with his associate, Judge Patterson, Judge Reid announced that the parole was granted. The district attorney's office offered no objections.

ONCE HAD 10 MILLION

Today's news was good news for the figure whose fortune once exceeded $10,000,000, but it came to a changed man.

Six years ago John Bell was a tall, well-groomed, imposing character whose hand was a dominant one in banking and coal circles of Western Pennsylvania. Politics, too, was part of his activities and politicians whispered confidentially of him not many years ago, "There goes the next United States senator."

Instead of the executive mansion at Harrisburg, jail doors opened for him. The coal market collapsed, loans failed—and Bell found himself branded an embezzler.

His Carnegie Trust Company was closed, his coal lands lay idle and hundreds of depositors clamored for their savings.

WANTS TO PAY ALL

Bell was convicted and sentenced to six years in jail. But the iron bars knew him for only two hours, for he was transferred almost immediately to Allegheny General hospital.

Today he is aged and broken. His approaching 74th birthday finds him a bent, saddened figure. Since he was convicted his wife has died, his two Carnegie homes have been sold on the block, his Coraopolis Heights farm was sold in bankruptcy. He is free—but penniless.

Nevertheless he has high hopes. He recalls the days when he built a great fortune on a single dollar.

"I can do it again," he predicts. "And I hope to clear my name with the people. I want to pay back every debt."

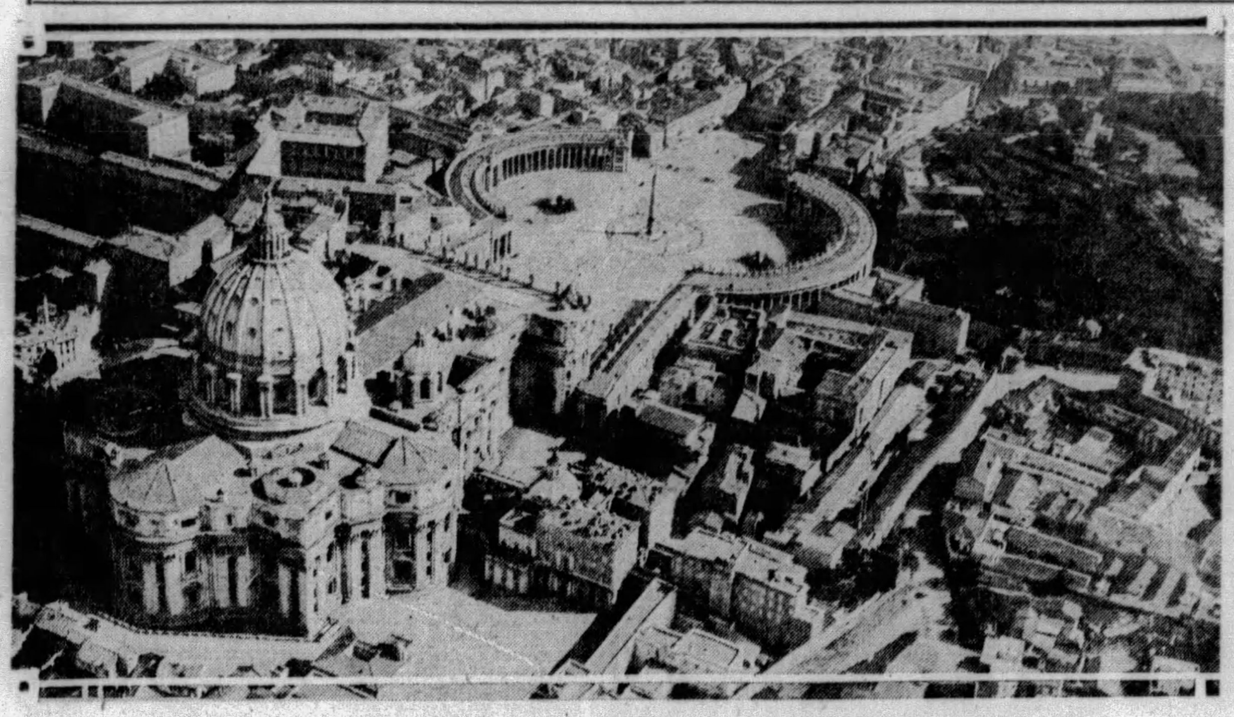
WHERE POPE CONDUCTS SERVICES OUTSIDE OF VATICAN



WHERE POPE PIUS TODAY CONDUCTS SOLEMN SERVICES IN LEAVING VATICAN FOR THE FIRT TIME
An airplane view of St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Peter's Square, surrounded by Vatican palaces. Today, Pope Pius will conduct services in the Square, where many thousands will gather. The services will last for about two hours.

THOUSANDS, FLANKED BY SOLDIERS, GATHERED AT ST. PETER'S FOR POPE'S BLESSING IN FEBRUARY
Thousands and thousands of Romans and tourists crowded St. Peter's Plaza early in February, shortly after the signing of the Vatican-Italian pact that settled 59-year differences between church and state. Pope Pius at that time blessed the crowds.

POPE'S FIRST FETE OUTSIDE ST. PETER'S STIRS WORLD

By CARDINAL VINCENZO VANNUTELLI,

Dean of the Sacred College of Cardinals. Prefect of the Congregation of the Ceremonials, the sacred office which arranges Papal ceremonies and sacred functions performed by Cardinals, the precedence of Cardinals and of Envoys to the Holy See.

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—(By Cable)—The curiosity and interest of all the Catholic world and also a great part of the non-Catholic is centered these days on the great procession coinciding with the first emergence of the Holy Father, Pius XI, in the public function outside the Basilica of St. Peter's.

This curiosity and interest are perfectly justified by the importance of the historical event by which the agreements concluded on February 11 between Italy and the Holy See begin to have their execution.

The material fact of the Pope's emergence from the Vatican Palace to St. Peter's square might seem of itself of no particular importance, because it is a mere step which the Pope will make, issuing from the greatest temple of Christianity into the most marvelous square in the world. At the same time the spiritual value of the act is incomparably greater than the material.

Stays Within City

Pius XI, participating for the first time in a public ceremony outside the Vatican Palace, in which pontiffs have been secluded for 59 years, to affirm the impossibility of accepting the situation created on September 20, 1870, gives practical execution to this treaty which recognized the rights of the Pope and the existence of his own complete and full sovereignty within the limits of the state in which no spiritual or temporal power may be exercised save his own.

All these circumstances show that in the procession the attention of the world is not merely centered on the religious ceremony, splendid as it will be, but it is interested in the fact by which once again the excellence, rights and spiritual sovereignty due to the supreme head of the Catholic church are asserted.

It is necessary to understand well the meaning of this emergence the Pope will make. To be exact, one should say that the Pope will emerge from the limits of the Vatican Palace, but he will not cross the limits of the Vatican City.

As is known, this comprises besides the Vatican Palace gardens and the territories extending behind the basilica, also St. Peter's square. Clause III of the treaty says textually:

Close Square Today

"It is understood, however, that St. Peter's square, though forming part of the Vatican City, will continue ordinarily open to the public and subject to the authority of the Italian police, who will cease their functions at the foot of the steps of the basilica, unless requested to intervene.

"When the Holy See decides to close St. Peter's square temporarily to the Italian public, the Italian authorities, unless invited to remain, will withdraw to the limits of the colonnades of Bernini."

In the execution of this clause, at noon on June 7 last, after the exchange of ratifications of the Lateran accords and following the effectiveness of same, the Italian police in the Vatican Basilica maintaining public order, withdrew and were substituted by the governor of the Vatican City by the pontifical gendarmes, who since then have carried out all the police functions at St. Peter's.

In St. Peter's square, however, nothing has been changed since, as the treaty says, it continues "to be open to the public and subject to the authority of the Italian police."

Today is the first occasion contemplated by the aforementioned clause. The Pope, in view of the solemn function occurring then, will temporarily withdraw St. Peter's Square from public view, giving it over to the great crowd who come to assist at the pious ceremony.

Use National Guards

At the same time the Italian authorities will not withdraw. The Vatican does not have a sufficient armed force to maintain order in the square crowded with thousands of people. Therefore, no sooner had the Pope the idea of this procession than the Vatican authorities entered negotiations with the Italian military police authorities in order to have sufficient force to protect the procession and regulate the movements of the enormous mass of people assembled in St. Peter's Square.

Discussion turned around the use of tens of thousands of soldiers since no less was required for the double cordons around the square and the other troops required by the extraordinary services and necessitated by the huge assemblage.

At the same time, all this does not really constitute the outcoming of the Pope from the Vatican in the commonly understood sense of the word.

The Pope will issue from the Vatican palace but he will remain within his own territory, as he will not pass over the frontiers of the Vatican City.

When one speaks of the Pope's coming out it is generally understood he will go to some other part of the city of Rome or Italian territory. This, fact, does not happen today nor can I say when it will.

Guest of King Outside

When the Pope really emerges from his territory, he will not organize a ceremony with which to make his first appearance among the people, because he will then be the guest of the King of Italy and it will be for the king and the Italian government to offer him that reception which a sense of reverence, religious sentiment,

GAMBLING TAXI SKIPPERS HELD

LONG BEACH, Cal., July 25.—(AP.)—Delbert and Roy Lindsey, accused by police of operating water taxis to the gambling ship, Monfalcone, 12 miles off the coast, were arrested here.

The brothers were charged with violation of a recently-enacted city ordinance aimed at stopping the activities of the gambling ship.

Meanwhile, a second gambling ship, the Johanna Smith, continued operating near the Monfalcone by transporting its patrons from Wilmington, a Los Angeles suburb, from where water taxis may run without molestation.

Unverified reports from the water front said owners of the Johanna Smith had incited Long Beach authorities to make the arrests in the hope of stopping their rival's trade. Police denied the reports.

The Johanna Smith arrived off the coast here several days ago from Ventura, where it had anchored until Ventura city authorities drafted an ordinance similar to the one in force here.

MIDDLE WEST SWELTERS

CHICAGO, July 25.—(A.P.)—The Middle West steamed yesterday with the rest of the country in torrid temperatures and excessive humidity. Government forecasters predicted even higher temperatures today for most of this section.

Occasional thunderstorms and showers served only to increase the humidity.

Chicago, which had experienced relief when lake breezes pushed the temperature down 20 degrees, sweltered again yesterday under a 91-degree temperature. Beaches were crowded to capacity.

Milwaukee recorded 92 degrees, Wisconsin reported two deaths and two died in Illinois, heat victims.

GAS TAX BATTLE DELAYED

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(AP.)—The proposed suit to enjoin the State Revenue Department from demanding surety bonds from Pennsylvania's 27,000 retail gasoline dealers to assure payment to the state of the gasoline tax they collected will probably be filed next Monday or Tuesday, R. U. Douglas, attorney for the Pennsylvania Gasoline Vendors Alliance, announced. The suit is to be brought by the Alliance and the Pennsylvania Independent Oil Men's Association.

Postponement of the filing of the suit was caused by the absence of Victor Braddock, attorney for the oil men, from this city, Douglas said.

Ben Eby, manager of the Vendors' Alliance, said that his organization will challenge the discretionary powers of the Department of Revenue in requiring the type of bond that it is demanding.

Eby said that it was not the purpose of the Alliance to test the constitutionality of the gasoline tax law, but to try to restrain the Revenue Department from abuse of their discretionary power.

Man Gets 112 Days For Slapping Aged Mother

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—John Marsh won't slap his 65-year-old mother again for at least 112 days, Judge Francis Allegretti has seen to that.

"He isn't bad, judge, the gray, bent mother told the court. "It's just that he drinks. He didn't hurt me, much, but the neighbors had to call police. Please let him off, your honor. I'll straighten him out."

Judge Allegretti smiled kindly upon her. Then he whirled and in crisp tones addressed her 39-year-old son:

"You'll serve 112 days in the house of correction. I have no sympathy for a man who slaps his mother."

FIND TOWNSEND FIRED GUN ALSO

Mystery in the shooting of Henry Horace Townsend, at his Coraopolis Heights home, Tuesday night, deepened today with discovery that one shot had been fired by Townsend himself.

County detectives found Townsend's revolver in his home with one shell discharged, they reported. The gun is a .32 caliber.

Townsend explained this, the detectives asserted, by telling them that after being shot at the doorway by a mysterious stranger who had called out that he wanted "to buy a cow," Townsend, wounded in the leg, obtained his revolver and fired once into the air to attract neighbors.

TO QUESTION WIFE

Detectives planned to question Townsend further today at Homeopathic Hospital. Mrs. Townsend also will be quizzed, they said, when she visits her husband.

Townsend told detectives, they reported to Acting Chief James McGinley, that he had recently discharged an employe. It was thought that this man might be the mysterious "Charley White," described as the stranger who fired at Townsend, according to the latter's story, when he appeared at the front door of his home in the darkness.

VICTIM PUZZLED

The discharged man, detectives were told, had gone to work on the former John A. Bell farm. Detectives said they visited this farm, but were told no such person had been employed there.

Townsend, son of the late Henry Townsend, political leader, and part owner with his brother, Edward, of Duquesne Garden, insists he is puzzled why anyone should want to take his life. Edward Townsend, active in Republican politics, is chairman of the Twentieth Ward committee.

Three shots were fired by the intruder, Townsend told detectives. One struck his leg. The other two went wild. No trace of the other two bullets were found by detectives at the scene, they reported.

Killer Wont Walk 2,000 Miles Just To Be Hanged

SPOKANE, Wash., July 25.—(AP.)—Sam Watson has refused to walk 2,000 miles to be hanged and that is all there is to it.

Watson, 69, confessed here recently to killing a man at Folsom, N. M., in 1893, but the New Mexican authorities are not sufficiently interested in the incident to finance Watson's return for trial. Sheriff A. W. Taner, of Folsom, telegraphed to the sheriff here that if the man wanted to come back and stand trial his case would be given consideration in its turn.

Watson said today he had no money and certainly wasn't going to walk back "just to be hanged."

4 JAILED FOR VOTE FRAUD

Disenfranchisement for four years, aggregate fines of $375, and sentences in jail of 10 months and 15 days was the decision of Judge Ambrose B. Reid in Criminal Court today, when he sentenced four North Side men on charges of conspiracy to make a false count in election returns.

Harry Pattison was ordered to pay $150 and spend four months in jail; Edward Alston, $150 and four months in jail; Gus Schindel, $50 and two months, and George Dean, 25 and 15 days in jail.

REFUSES PLEA

Warning that these men could not be paroled, Judge Reid refused a plea of mercy for Pattison, advanced by Attorney A. M. Oliver on the ground that the defendant was suffering from pernicious anemia.

"While his illness is to be regretted," the court stated, "none of these men is to be paroled and all must serve their prison sentences. Conviction in these and other election fraud cases also disenfranchises those convicted for four years after the sentences have been passed. While it isn't generally known that this is so, citizens should prevent from voting anyone so proscribed."

NEW TRIAL DENIED

The four men were sentenced today when Judge Reid refused to grant the men a new trial. They were convicted June 7, the testimony at the trial involving the falsification of ballots and records in the Fourteenth District of the Twenty-first Ward during the November (1927) election.

Prior to this, four others, members of the election board of the same district, were given sentences. They were Clarence A. Bower, James Williamson, Mrs. Anna Alston and Clara A. Manes. Joseph H. Klein, judge of election, had turned state's evidence, telling that the ballot box after the count had been taken to the home of one of the defendants, opened and erasures made in the ballots and the count.

CHINESE FIRE ON RUSS PLANES

TOKIO, July 25.—(INS.)—Warlike demonstrations again flared on the Manchurian border today, according to reports received here.

After five Soviet airplanes had been fired upon while flying over Manchuria, it was reported that Russian artillery, in reprisal, had fired over the border, causing great confusion among the Chinese troops. The Chinese artillery did not return the fire, it was stated.

OTHER FIRING HEARD

LONDON, July 25.—Reuter's dispatches from Tokio this afternoon quoted a telegram from Manchuli, Manchuria, saying Chinese troops had fired on five Soviet airplanes which appeared over the border town about 7 a. m. Later in the morning distant sounds of firing were heard, but they died down shortly afterward.

The shooting was believed to have been caused merely by the excitability and nervousness of the Chinese troops. The newspaper Nichi, in a special dispatch from Manchuli, said Russian and Chinese troops had opened fire on each other when 16 Russian airplanes appeared over the city.

A Tokio dispatch to the Daily Telegraph today declares that Russia has officially intimated to the Japanese government, which has offered to act as arbitrator in the dispute, that no mediation is possible until the Chinese Eastern Railway has been returned to "status quo ante"—its position before the Nanking government seized the railway and turned all Russian employes of the system out of Russia.

NEGOTIATIONS STARTED

This report comes at a time when actual negotiations have already begun between China and Russia, Boris Melnikov, Soviet consul general of Harbin, is conferring with Chang Tso-Hsiang, head of the Kirin provincial government, to discuss the problem.

Liquor Sellers Helpless In Counterfeit Swindle

HALIFAX, N. S., July 25.—(INS.)—Somewhere off the coast of Nova Scotia a band of American rum runners no doubt are laughing aloud and complimenting each other on being plenty "slick."

And here in Halifax a group of Nova Scotian rum runners are all but broken-hearted as they count the $15,000 in Mexican money paid them by the Americans for a boat load of liquor.

On being told by Mahone banks that the foreign money was valueless in Canada and the United States, Capt. Wentzell, who accepted the cash, decided something must be done. So he waited patiently for the return of a searching crew that went out to interrupt the Americans' travels but his face fell when he learned that though the searching party boarded the American boat they were powerless to enforce demands that the liquor be returned.

Rich Youth Kills Self After Girl's Charges

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—(INS.)—Jack DeYoung Gans, of a prominent and wealthy Little Rock (Ark.) family, whose splurge in Wall street in 1926 where he lost $40,000 landed him in a Manhattan jail for making out bad checks, was dead today by his own hand following charges that he had bound, tortured and attacked a 17-year-old beauty contest winner in his hotel room.

Police were trying to force an entry into Gans' room late last night when they heard a pistol shot. Entering, the officer found Gans with a bullet in his right temple.

Muriel Doherty, member of the chorus at a local theater, had staggered into the police station to report that she had been attacked by Gans who, she said, had lured her to his hotel room with the promise of a present.

POPE GIVES BLESSING

Standing bareheaded at this temporary shrine beneath the slanting rays of the setting sun, which glinted upon the purple and crimson robes of the prelates and the brilliant uniforms of the state and papal troops, the Pontiff extended his blessing to the Eternal City and the entire world.

The papal procession started from the basilica of St. Peter's at eight minutes to 6 o'clock (12:52 p. m. Pittsburgh time), which was earlier than had been expected.

Despite a scorching sun, a crowd estimated at more than 250,000 souls had gathered in St. Peter's square, Piazzi Rusticucci and their environs by 5 o'clock.

GREAT SQUARES PACKED

The great squares flanking St. Peter's Chuurch and the Rusticucci Palace were packed with sweltering humanity, but the men and women of this gigantic host were so thrilled by the awe-inspiring and historic spectacle that they forgot the discomforts of the summer heat.

Police airplanes hummed overhead to keep private airplanes, notably those of movie cameramen, from circling over Vatican territory and particularly the square.

Twenty-five thousand Italian soldiers were on duty to direct traffic and prevent the spectators of this gorgeous pageant from stampeding the police lines.

PROCESSION FORMED

Half of the military force lined the route of the papal procession, the soldiers standing six deep. The others guarded the streets leading to the squares.

Twelve Red Cross first aid tents were erected to care for crowd casualties. The weather was hot and it was feared many would be overcome by the heat and excitement. A corps of doctors was on duty at each first aid station.

The papal procession formed in St. Peter's late in the afternoon. Since noon this mighty cathedral had been closed to the public, but inside was a scene of animation as the ecclesiastical officials made the final preparations for the historic event which was to proclaim to the world the new status of the vatican and the pontiff.

SCENE OF SPLENDOR

The scene this morning was one of impressive color and imposing grandeur. The diplomatic corps occupied special seats upon the balcony above the great bronze doors of St. Peter's Church.

The procession was led by a detachment of Swiss Guards in brilliant uniforms.

Then, in slow and measured tread, came the dignitaries of the papal city; representatives of all the religious orders in Rome; the Catholic seminarians who made the pilgrimage to Rome from all parts of the world and whose presence was the occasion for the present historic event; the chapters of the four greater basilicas and of the lesser; the secret chaplains of the Pontiff who bore his tiras; the civil authorities of Vatican City; the Sistine Chapel Choir; the judges of the Holy Rota; the master of the holy hospice and the bearer of the papal cross; abbots, bishops and archbishops now in Rome; the cardinals, imposing in their brilliant garb, the governor of Vatican City; the papal masters of ceremonies and finally the Pope, borne aloft upon his podium, kneeling upon a stool covered with red velvet.

POPE DOES NOT WALK

Pope Pius XI had desired to take part in the procession walking, but it was pointed out that the strain might prove too much since the length of time taken up by the procession is estimated at an hour.

During the procession the Pontiff carried in his hands the Sacred Monstrance. The crowds could not have obtained a good view of the Pontiff should he have carried into execution his original plan to march with the cardinals.

On both sides of the podium marched valets in purple velvet costumes waving the gigantic "flabellums" or white feather fans mounted on poles, flanked by a dozen Noble Guards in high uniform with helmets and high boots.

High above the Pontiff was a canopy or silver silk to protect him from the rays of the setting sun. This baldachin was attached to 10 high poles borne by 10 Roman seminarians wearing white surplices.

The slanting rays of the evening sun danced with brilliant scintillations upon this colorful scene against the background of the papal colors and the plumes of the papal soldiery dressed in uniforms that call the mind back to the Middle Ages.

DIPLOMATS ARRIVE

St. Peter's Square has an imposing size. The space enclosed by colonades is about 650 feet in diameter. There are four series of huge doric columns. The central passage leading into the square is so large that two carriages can drive abreast. The route of the procession was through this gateway.

The whole square was decorated. From the great Loggia over the entrance to the cathedral, from all the windows of the Basilica as well as from the balustrade topping the colonade are beautiful tapestries and crimson draperies.

The motor cars bringing the diplomats to the square went inside the Vatican from the Fundament drive and on to St. Damascus courtyard. Thence the diplomats and their families ascended the terrace.

On both sides of the colonades the police had erected wooden barriers to prevent the crowd from swarming out into the path of the processional. Several regiments were ordered to take up their position there in ranks three deep.

Vatican Fete Stirs World

If one thinks over the circumstances in which the Pope wished to effect his first public appearance outside the Vatican palaces and St. Peter's it must be admitted that the pope's conception could not have been either more pious or original.

The extraordinary wisdom, almost superhuman, with which Pius XI conducted the discussions leading to the Lateran accords has received its eloquent confirmation in the decision to emerge for the first time publicly on the occasion of the eucharistic manifestation.

All the circumstances connected with the function intermingle to complete themselves in a marvelous manner. This year the Pope celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of the sacerdotal ordination in honor of which have assembled in Rome these days an international pilgrimage of seminarists—5,000 ecclesiastics, of which 3,000 are Italians and 2,000 from abroad, from a thousand colleges and institutes of Rome.

Proof of Benevolence

The Pope therefore finds himself surrounded with the flower of youth educating for the sacred ministry and their presence certainly stirs his heart and the memory of his own youthful years, when half a century ago, he came to Rome as a seminarist to perfect his studies and receive in the Eternal City priestly ordination.

Consequently it is natural that Pius XI wished to offer on the occasion of so characteristic and significant a pilgrimage particular proof of his benevolence. All these young men come from every part to see him and he recognized in them the best hopes of the church for the future.

The Pope quickly understood there was no better way to do this than by offering, midst his beloved priests and seminarists, the solemn act of sacerdotal ministry, lending to the same the most extensive pomp and widest publicity.

So he chose the renovation of that traditional, most solemn eucharistic procession which, before 1870, the Pope carried out every year on the occasion of the feast of Corpus Christi, the beauty and pomp of which drew a vast crowd of foreigners to Rome.

In this the Pope has not only been guided by the desire for a great outward show of solemnity but also by the significance of the ceremony chosen.

Recalls Distant Youth

The essential object of the Catholic priest is to bring Jesus to the people. Therefore, how better could the Pope have expressed it than by carrying the living God in the sacrament of the eucharist through the innumerable applauding throngs and himself praying before the greatest temple of Christianity, where lie the ashes of the Apostle Peter, first vicar of Christ and first of the Roman popes?

What better could he have done for the immense mass of people gathered around him that day, for the people of Rome, for the people of Italy who will appear to him that night, than himself to carry the living eucharistic Christ and bless therewith, near and distant, all upright souls, all hearts of good faith?

This was the intention of the Pope when preparing the marvelous procession which will unwind itself under the majestic colonnades of Bernini, ending by the Pope's blessing imparted from the portico of St. Peter's.

I will be the happiest among those present to receive the Pope.

For me personally, the procession will awake one of the dearest and most beautiful memories of my own distant youth. [Cardinal Vannutelli is now aged 93.]

Fete of 80 Years Ago

Eighty years ago, as a young cleric I assisted several times in the Corpus Christi procession. I passed in procession amid the innumerable religious institutes of Rome and witnessed the triumphal passage of Our Lord borne by the angelic Pius IX on the podium designed by Bernini.

I still hear in my heart the echo of those solemn hymns and pious prayers repeated by a people prostrating itself before the passage of our Lord in the act of blessing.

It seems I still see the pomp of the decorations and costumes of those far distant days, the precious arrasses hung from the balconies and the brilliant uniforms of the governor and magistrate of Rome.

Still I seem to hear the artillery salvos greeting the moment of the eucharistic benediction.

The circumstances of the event by which for the first time the Pope will be seen outside the closed walls of the Vatican Palace cannot but increase the enthusiasm and the desire of everyone to give this magnificent renovation of the ancient rite a splendor and spiritual value which will not only equal that of the past but will surpass it.

The policy which from the beginning Pius XI proposed for his pontificate was "Pax Christi in Regno Christi"—"Christ's Peace in Christ's Kingdom." The Pope's work has always been that of peace and in the question of the lateran pacts which give the world a fresh example of pacification, it was not the least among the motives which urged him to face the responsibility of so important a step.

Act of Peace

To make Christ's kingdom the world has been the constant object of the reigning pontiff and he wished to synthetize this aspiration of his by introducing in sacred liturgy a new festival of the Christ King.

Today's procession will be the affirmation of Christ's peace as the benediction by which it is closed is essentially an act of peace. My heart exults at the thought of the magnificent harmonics of the forthcoming papal ceremony.

I wrote as an epigraph on the facade of the new Basilica erected in the honor of Queen Peace at Ostia, "Christ's Peace in Christ's Kingdom," and it seems to me that no better motto could have been inscribed for the part and city of Rome, whence so many apostles have departed to carry the name of Rome and the word of Christian truth.

I am glad these words are proclaimed on the Roman shore by the Mediterranean Sea, which is part of the Atlantic Ocean, for so it seems to me the Christian, Roman voice may reach the far-off Americas to repeat once again to those fervid centers of life and all modern progress the word of wisdom and perfection which for the first time echoed in the mystic night of Bethlehem: "Peace on earth, goodwill to men."

VATICAN BANS MOVIE MEN

ROME, July 25.—(INS.)—The Pope's determination to prohibit photographs or news-reels of today's historic ceremony will be strongly enforced by the Italian government, according to an official announcement.

Owners of houses overlooking St. Peter's square have been warned to prevent cameramen from taking pictures from their windows under penalty of prison sentences.

The Pope's decision to bar all cameramen is understood to be due to an offer of 1,000,000 lire made by an American corporation for exclusive movie rights of the ceremony.

"The church is not on sale," the Pope is understood to have declared when the suggestion was made.

The police proved their intention of enforcing the anti-movie prohibition by seizing a "talkie" newsreel apparatus which an American concern was attempting to hide inside a house whose windows fronted on the square. Two of the operators were arrested, while the others fled.

Police also seized three movie cameras which had already been placed in windows, and because of the recurring infractions of the rules, decided to post an officer at each window and terrace overlooking the square.

Pope Says Mass To Close Seminarians' Pilgrimage

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—(AP.)—Pope Pius celebrated mass at St. Peter's this morning, closing the international pilgrimage of Seminarists and observing the feast day of St. James the Apostle.

The Pope, accompanied by his entourage, left his private apartments at 8 o'clock and went in the Sedia Gestatoria to the altar of the sacraments and then to the altar of confession where he said mass.

Golden Garments Clothe Pope In Pageant

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—(INS.) Plans for the Papel pageant this evening revealed it as one of the most impressive processionals in the history of the Vatican.

There were places in the ranks for 6,000 marchers, six abreast.

The Pope will be bare headed, but his gorgeous robes give a splendid tint of color to an already colorful scene. He wears white gloves. His attire consists of a white cassock, a white lace "Rocchetto" or surplice with red-lined sleeves over which is a white linen alb. Over that is a golden stole and finally the Papal garment "Falda," in linen and gold beautifully embroidered. But the public sees only the outer garment—the golden chasuble clasped on the breast with a jeweled buckle.

COXEY OUT FOR 'FREE MONEY'

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, who led Coxey's army of unemployed in a march on Washington in 1894, only to be put in jail, has started a new crusade for "free money"—and he has some congressional opponents worried.

Some members of the House Banking Committee, who rejected Coxey's scheme, have called for aid in repelling his invasion of their districts in tent meetings.

Coxey, now 75 years old, has sold out his prosperous silica sand business in Ohio to carry on his fight. His pretty daughter, Ruth Patricia, is accompanying him.

Coxey has promised to visit the districts of all members of the House Banking Committee who have voted against his plan, and mobilize public sentiment behind a demand for action.

Reports indicate he has some congressmen worried about their chances of re-election.

The Coxey scheme provides that states, cities and county governments can issue interest-free bonds, send them into the federal treasury and receive money in exchange.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has denounced the scheme as plain fiat money, which would upset the whole commercial system of the country if carried out.

But Coxey declares the bill would save the states and cities $750,000,000 a year and provide a job for every unemployed man in the country. He claims that it was in the interest of the same scheme that he made his famous march on Washington.

BANK CLOSINGS STUN EDWARDS

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT.
International News Service.

PARIS, July 25.—"I am dumbfounded beyond expression to hear this news. But I am confident there is not the slightest reason for any depositors to be the least bit worried."

This was the statement made today by former United States Senator Edward I. Edwards when informed by International News Service that the Hobart Trust Company, of Passaic, N. J., and its two local branches, had been closed by the State Department of Banking and Insurance as "unsafe."

Edwards is president of a holding company which controls 70 per cent of the stock in the three banks. He was ignorant of the catastrophe which had befallen the institutions until told the facts in the hotel where he has been vacationing.

"Bank examiners were on the premises before I left in connection with the disappearance of Willard F. Elliot, one of our vice presidents," Edwards declared. "but they assured me everything was in a satisfactory condition. Otherwise I certainly should not have come to Europe."

Elliot mysteriously disappeared while driving to his office from his home in East Orange. He was found three days later, and told of having been kidnaped and held prisoner by three strange men. He later resigned from the bank.

Find Man Slain In Small Stream

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—The body of an unidentified man, about 28 years old, was found partially submerged in a small stream near Lincoln Heights. There was a bullet wound in the head and authorities believed the man had been murdered.

There was evidence, investigators said, that the man had been shot near the stream and then dragged to it. Residents of the vicinity said they heard three shots at about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The body was found by Alfred Laskowski, a farmer, who reported to state police here.

Another New Idea for the Butter Business

Which will probably soon be widely imitated, as was our "93" score butter by those who think they have "93" score butter.

WHITE MAGIC

DRY ICE ▾ THE WONDER REFRIGERANT

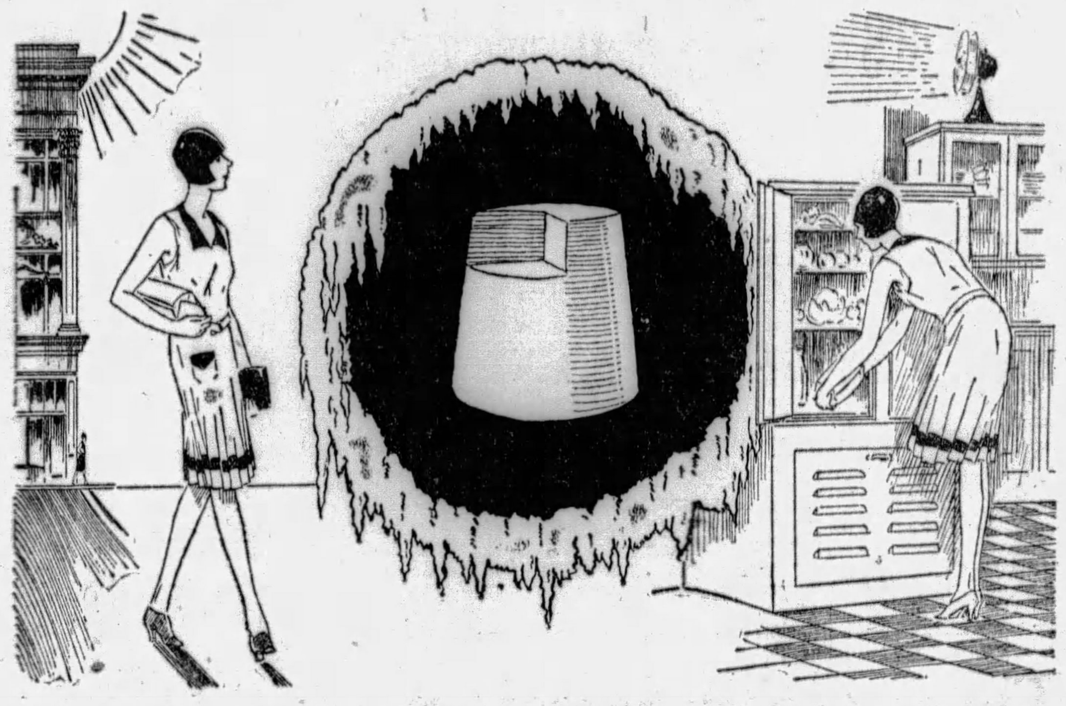
114° Below Zero! 146° Colder than Ice

Again Works for Donahoes!

First with Ice Cream! Now with Butter!

THREE years ago, Donahoe's introduced Dry Ice—not only to Pittsburgh—but to the United States at large. Wherever the Pittsburgh newspapers went, carrying the Donahoe advertisements, there went the story of Dry Ice. Thousands of merchants in hundreds of cities had never heard of Dry Ice and we were kept busy telling them what it was, how much it cost and where to get it.

Three years ago, Dry Ice was regarded by most of the few who knew about it as an interesting novelty—a scientific plaything—but Donahoe's, quickly visioning its adaptability for packing Ice Cream, were the first to put it to use in Pittsburgh and one of the very first in the entire country. Now, with an adequate supply of Dry Ice available, Donahoe's have found another—and wider—use for it.



NOW—on the very hottest day—the kind of day that melts the butter you bought downtown almost to a liquid before you get it home—

You can buy your butter—the Finest Churned in America—at Donahoe's and—When you unwrap it, several hours afterward, to place it in your refrigerator—You will be agreeably surprised, you will be pleased to find—no melted, softened mess of butter—but you will find—neat, sweet, clean cut, absolutely hard chilled butter.

Two small pieces of Dry Ice, wrapped with your butter at no cost to you, has done marvelous cooling work

It is impossible for butter, wrapped in the ordinary manner, to remain hard or firm, if carried around, even for a short time, in hot weather.

Once butter is melted or softened, it is never again the same—even when rehardened.

Not only is there an alteration in its physical condition—the firm smooth texture, with its clean, sweet, golden appearance is gone—but also, and most important—that intangible something, that "imprisoned fairy gold from nature's richest storehouse," with which all fine butter is so richly endowed, the flavor, the aroma, the exquisite bouquet, is released and most of it disappears once butter has been softened and rehardened.

The softening and rehardening of fine butter does not spoil it—but, most assuredly, the softening and rehardening does take away the "bloom" from a piece of fine butter—it often leaves a flat taste.

Donahoe's Butter—the finest churned in America—is now under refrigeration from the churn to your refrigerator

When you leave Donahoe's Downtown Stores with a package of Donahoe's Butter—

You carry the most marvelous modern refrigeration right with you in the package—two pieces of Dry Ice, each about the size and weight of a silver dollar. No big bulky package—it is easy to carry. No moisture—Dry Ice does not melt, it evaporates.

Take Home the BEST Butter in Pittsburgh—Package Refrigerated with Dry Ice, No Extra Charge

P.S.—Small Extra Charge if you desire sufficient Dry Ice to keep butter hard chilled for more than two hours.

What Dry Ice Is—Ana What It Does

DRY ICE is nothing more nor less than your old friend carbon dioxide, which is used every day in the carbonated beverages you drink—soda water, etc., but DRY ICE is carbon dioxide compressed until it becomes solid. Then it resembles a mass of hard, white snow crust. There is no drip to DRY ICE. It gives off a vapor-like, harmless, dry gas which never condenses into moisture. The evaporating gas reduces the size of the cake so slowly that the process is imperceptible. Nor does the mass "melt" in the ordinary sense, but gradually—very gradually—it diminishes, meanwhile radiating intense cold and leaving no trace. Touch DRY ICE and you get a start, because DRY ICE is 114 degrees below zero, 146 degrees Fahrenheit colder than ice.

FIND MAN DEAD ON SIDING

Joseph Reiser, 45, agent for the Monarch Motor Aid, Inc., Keenan Building, was found dead early today on a siding of the National Tube Company, under the South Twenty-second Street Bridge. His chest was crushed. Company police were of the opinion he had fallen from the bridge onto the tracks, which are unused.

Reiser roomed at the El Tower apartments, Squirrel Hill. He is said to have come to this city from New York a week ago. Because of uncertainty as to the cause of death, the coroner notified the city homicide detectives, who began a check-up of the man's movements.

RETURN PERMIT TO BREWERY

Revocation of the near-beer permit of the St. Mary's Beverage Company at St. Mary's, Pa., by Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington was "not justified and was arbitrary and capricious," Federal Judge R. M. Gibson declared today in an opinion which restored the permit.

The company lost its permit on a charge that in October, 1927, it had in its possession 45 gallons of genuine beer, but Judge Gibson held that there was no testimony to warrant such a charge and only a slight suspicion that employes had set aside a small amount of beer for private use.

The permit was revoked by Pennington on December 17, 1927.

VETS ASK MORE HOSPITALS

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—The most pressing need for the relief of disabled World War veterans is additional hospital construction, and the disabled American veterans plan to urge early consideration by Congress of the Rogers bill providing for 3,500 additional beds throughout the country, it was announced today.

William J. Murphy, of Santa Anna, Cal., the new national commander of the organization, who has just completed two transcontinental inspection trips of veterans' hospitals, said that except in certain sections, notably California, hospitals were fairly well equipped to handle tubercular patients.

The plane, piloted by Jack Morris, and carrying five passengers, left Bettis Field at 6 a. m. today for Washington, the third trip in a series to continue a week under the direction of Col. Harry Fry, president of the Pittsburgh Stinson Aircraft Company, owner of the plane. The object of the flights is to test the feasibility of passenger service over the mountains. Two flights were made yesterday. The flying time between the two cities was 1 hour and 15 minutes.

VISIT TO CAPONE STIRS INQUIRY

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(INS.)—The gloomy Holmesburg County prison, now the home of Scarface Al Capone, was shaken today by another prison sensation that threatens to rival the furor created by the revelations of the brutal treatment of the inmates a few months ago.

The latest furor was caused by the discovery that a member of the board of prison inspectors had taken several visitors to see the notorious Chicago racket king, who is serving a 12-months' term for carrying concealed weapons. One of Capone's visitors was none other than Max (Boo Boo) Hoff, diminutive boxing promoter, once termed the king of the city's bootleggers by District Attorney John Monaghan.

The reunion between Hoff and Capone is said to have been sanctioned by Horace P. Conrad, a new member of the reorganized prison board. Conrad denies having taken Hoff to see the Chicago racketeer, but admitted having given a pass for visitors to see Capone at the request of Congressman Benjamin M. Golder and Cornelius Harrarty, Jr., attorneys for Capone.

A thorough investigation of the lax prison regulations by the board of judges was forecast today as a result of the disclosures.

Hoff denies he has seen Capone since he began his term.

2 YOUTHS HELD IN CAR THEFT

David Love, 19, of 10 Miller street and Sol Smolley, 19, of 1606 Center avenue, were held for court on a charge of larceny today in Morals court after Motorcycle Patrolman Thomas Bennett testified the car in which they were arrested last night was a stolen one.

The patrolman, while chasing the youths at Baum boulevard and Euclid avenue, it is alleged, struck and slightly injured Joseph Boyd, 64, of 4403 Breezeport street. Boyd appeared at the hearing but did not testify.

The car, stolen two weeks ago, is owned by Miss Annabelle McCoy, of 5624 Rippey street. Love told Magistrate A. D. Brandon that he had been loaned the car by a friend and was in the act of returning it when arrested. Police were unable to locate the friend.

CUT IN ARMY FACES SNAG

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Plenty of trouble faces President Hoover's Army Commission, charged with cutting military expenditures.

Already the pruning knife has been directed at some of the many garrison posts scattered throughout the Western states. These states in most instances are represented in Congress by some veteran administration leaders.

If the commission's ax falls in this direction, a storm of protest is in prospect in Congress. But Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, one of the most active preparedness men in Congress, has declared this should be one of the ways for greater economy if there must be greater economy.

'FROZEN' STICK KILLS 2 FLIERS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 25.—(AP.)—Student and instructor died here yesterday as the result of a 3,500-foot dive in an open model biplane which represented W. Grady Paschall's initial attempt at flying.

Authorities expressed the belief that the 26-year-old flier had "frozen" the controls, causing the craft to plunge to earth as Lieut. Ralph A. Benson, 34, Army Reserve officer, sat in the instructor's seat, unable to prevent the crash.

The nose of the plane buried itself six feet into the ground near the Roy Wilson Airport at North Hollywood, where the pair had taken off.

LADY THOUGHT END WAS NEAR

McKees Rocks Resident, Ill for Years, Finds Health in Ten Herbs.

All who suffer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness, should take hope when they learn that in a remarkable number of instances the new natural medicine, Ten Herbs, has given men and women of this section amazing relief from such health troubles, after many other medicines had failed to help them. If you have any such ills, get a bottle of Ten Herbs today at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where this celebrated compound with the ten wonderful herbal ingredients is being introduced.

MRS. PEARL HOMYAK

"Ten Herbs helped me back to health, although before taking your medicine I thought I was almost at the end," said Mrs. Pearl Homyak, 325 Phoenix Street, McKees Rocks, Pa. (near Pittsburgh). "For years I had suffered pain and distress due to stomach trouble. My appetite was poor, and gas caused blasting and terrible heartburn. I was subject to headaches, and had severe pains in my back. Black spots floated before my eyes. I never slept well, as my rest was disturbed by having to arise four or five times every night. I felt dull and drowsy during the day.

"Several times I had read in the paper about the great good Ten Herbs was doing others, whose health troubles were similar to mine. I tried a bottle, and it made me feel so much better that I continued using your medicine for awhile. All my ailments disappeared, and I began to feel energetic again. I had no more trouble with my stomach, as food digested as it should. Constipation became a thing of the past, and I gained freedom from aches and pains. I began to sleep soundly through the night, and got up in the morning feeling fine. It gives me pleasure to recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

NT DAY

f its kind in America

Days and nights — and many of both — have been spent literally combing the entire store — basement to roof — "spotting" every single item in the establishment that should be cleared out—regardless of cause—age, color, or too large stock—odd, mussed, etc. —every item fixed with a red ink price (Red Ink Prices are used only on Remnant Days)—a price that positively assures the sale of that item. That explains why Remnant Days here are so famous.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Jane B. Miller to Make Her Bow to Society On December 13

WITH many sun-parched weeks stretching into what seems to us, these blazing days, an endless perspective, how folks can find the enthusiasm to plan for winter events may astonish us. But human beings go on in their accustomed habits in spite of wilting weather. And just now when one should not be censured for imagining the ideal life an existence beneath a cool, shade-giving tree beside a cool stream, folks are arranging dinners and dances for the gay winter days.

From late September until after the holiday season there's going to be at least one notable entertainment a day, I feel safe in prophesying. And December will be the most eventful month of all.

I've just heard of a new date for the Yuletide month. Frederic Walsingham Miller, of Shady avenue, will present his daughter, Jane Bradley Miller, at a dinner dance on December 13. The event will be given, I believe, in the University Club.

Whether Mrs. Anthony Drexel Biddle, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. William Thaw III, of New York, her aunts, will be here for her debut I'm not yet sure.

EVERY day we hear of more folks who're out of town to escape the humid weather here at home. The junior Thomas Flemings, of Pembroke place, are at Nantucket, Mass., did you know? With them is their daughter, Margaret. Mr. Fleming was in the city yesterday, and will return to New England in a day or so, I hear.

Mrs. Thomas Raymond Evans is another society leader attracted to New England. She is at Cape Cod for the summer. With her are her daughters, Ida and Betty, and her two sons, Raymond F. Evans and William Howard Evans.

A little while ago I heard that Marian Stone, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Stephen Stone, was in Watch Hill. Now she is in Nantuckett, and later will go to Rumson, N. J., where she'll stay until fall.

FROM Lake Placid comes the news that Mrs. Charles J. Ramsburg, of Sewickley, and her daughters, Harriet and Margaret, are there at the Lake Placid Club.

When everyone has gone or is leaving, it's refreshingly different, don't you agree, to hear that someone is coming home? Mrs. Frederick A. Russell and her daughter, Adelaide, are back from Holland, and have opened their home on Chestnut road.

This year a number of folks may be found at Hyannisport. Mr. and Mrs. J. Twing Brooks, of Edgeworth, are there with their daughters, Bertha and Ruth.

TUESDAY, August 13, is the date selected by Miss Cecelia Mitsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Mitsch, of Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, for her marriage to William R. Henninger. The ceremony will be performed that morning at 9:30 o'clock in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Mr. Henninger is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henninger, of Greentree Borough, formerly of Reading.

THE marriage of Miss Alice McGary, daughter of Mrs. E. A. McGary, of Ingram, and Charles Gallagher, of Union avenue, Crafton, was solemnized yesterday morning in St. Philip's Catholic Church, Crafton. A breakfast in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. J. McKee, in Evans avenue, Ingram, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher will be at home in Ingram after September 1.

THE Carrick Cotillion Club will hold its summer dance at The Pines Tuesday night. The committee in charge includes Miss Beatrice Pfeifer, chairman; Miss Florence Drost, Miss Edna Fallert, Miss Margaret Halligan and Miss Margaret Hoban.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE R. LOOMIS, of Pennsylvania avenue, Oakmont, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Loomis, and Stephen J. Miller, of Oakmont, which was solemnized July 17. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are traveling in the Muskoka Lake region, Canada. The bride is a graduate of Miss Ellis' School and Wellesley College, while Mr. Miller is a University of Maryland man.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss Marguerie Elaine Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Fisher, of Edgewood, to Ford C. Ritner, son of Mrs. Tillie Ritner, of Oakland, Cal. Miss Fisher is a former student of Mt. Mercy Academy and Mr. Ritner was graduated from the Oregon Agricultural College in 1925. A fall wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary August 7, while they are in Canada. Mrs. Morrison is planning to entertain Monday in honor of the twenty-fourth birthday anniversary of her son, Walter, and on July 31, in honor of the birthday anniversary of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank John Morrison.

Mrs. Robert McDowell and her sons, of Toronto, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison.

Mystery of Ichabod Crane Radio Feature Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

ICHABOD CRANE and his excitable nag, "Gun Powder," will thunder through radio land tonight. Clattering after them in wild pursuit will be the phantom of the headless Hessian trooper as WLW brings to us Washington Irving's amusing "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" at 8:30 o'clock.

We all recall the story of Ichabod Crane, the old school teacher, who was quite severe with his pupils but a dandy among the ladies; of how he fought his rival, Brom Bones, for the hand of Katrina Van Cassel and finally lost her when one dark night, riding home from a quilting party at the Van Cassel home, he suddenly spied the apparition of the headless Hessian trooper coming toward him at a lightning gait. Ichabod's excitable horse, "Gun Powder," didn't wait for an explanation but tore away for safety with the phantom in close pursuit. What happened to poor old Ichabod no one knows but Brom Bones married Katrina Van Cassel and often told for the delight of the superstitious townfolk how the headless Hessian trooper chased Ichabod into parts unknown.

When Ichabod and "Gunpowder" scamper over the Sleepy Hollow bridge we expect to hear some unique radio sound effects.

To celebrate the introduction of a new loudspeaker unit—the Kylectron—Vincent Lopez and his orchestra will give the second of a series of concerts through KDKA at 7:30 o'clock. The Kylectron, a surprising development in speaker units, made a big hit at the Chicago radio show. It has no cone or horn. It is standard equipment in Peerless receiving sets.

PLAN ROADBED AS HIGHWAY

SHARON, Pa., July 25.—Use of the right-of-way of the Sharpsville-New Wilmington Railroad as a route for a new highway is urged by George Mahaney, president of the Sharpsville Motor Club. The railroad company recently asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the road, which has been operated under receivership for many years.

The right-of-way is graded and drained, leaving a minimum of work in construction. The road would connect the Sharon-Mercer road near Hermitage and also connect at Wilmington Junction, near New Castle. It would also intersect the New Wilmington-Mercer highway and would be only 12 miles from the Perry highway.

Man Fined $125 On Liquor Charge

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., July 25.—Charles Bilock, arrested by Constable E. E. Watson when the officer said he found a pint of liquor in his home, was taken to Mercer to serve time in the county jail until he pays a fine of $125.

RUM RUNNER BUYS PLANT

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., July 25.—(Canadian Press).—The largest liquor exporter at Bridgeburg has sold out his entire interests to a Detroit River rum-runner, it is authentically reported here. The runner in question owns and has been operating 18 launches. The reported sale, it is expected, will result in hi-jackings and other troubles when the Detroit party arrives.

Meantime, Bridgeburg exporting activities are continuing briskly. All manner of launches, speedboats and motorboats, and even skiffs and ordinary rowboats comprise the fleet carrying on business from the Jarvis street docks there.

United States coast guard patrols do not appear to be meeting with much success in checking the exporters and no recent losses to the fleet have been noted.

No More Hemorrhoids

All Pile Agony Ended Without Cutting or Salves.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting, he discovered the cause of piles and then went further and compounded a harmless tablet that would remove the cause.

Every pile sufferer should benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, May-Liggett and Mayflower Drug Stores and all druggists sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should try Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID without delay.

"VERY MEDICINE I NEEDED WAS NEW KONJOLA!"

Pittsburgh Man Has Health He Never Expected to Regain—Praises Modern Compound.

There is a reason why Konjola is the most talked-of medicine in Pittsburgh, as well as in America. That reason can be summed up in just three words—Konjola Makes Good. And a medicine that does not make good is worse than no medicine at all, for it is a waste of money and a disappointment.

MR. C. J. MURPHY

Many, learning of the amazing success of this modern compound of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value, ask why it is that Konjola conquers when all else tried has failed to relieve the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, as well as rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. That is a very natural and important question for all who are ill, and it is one of many that the Konjola Man is answering daily at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. Meet the Konjola Man. You will not be obligated in the least. He is here to explain to one and all how this master medicine works and why it triumphs even over the most stubborn cases, those that have held on, year after year, with bulldog-like tenacity. Konjola does these amazing things simply because all of its 32 ingredients, working together, go to the very fount and source of the ailment, and give battle to the causes.

See what Konjola has done for others; that's the wise way. Then profit by their experiences.

Consider, for instance, the happy experience of Mr. C. J. Murphy, 2908 White Street, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"The very medicine I needed was Konjola, and because I did not heed the advice given me months ago, I went on experimenting with this and that, and got no better. In fact, I grew steadily worse. My stomach was in terrible shape. I often wondered if anyone ever had indigestion worse than I had. I lived on mighty little, and even that failed to digest, and caused gas, bloating and palpitation. I could not sleep at night, and I lost weight, strength and vitality.

"As I said, Konjola was recommended to me, but foolishly I did not take the advice. But I kept getting worse and worse and I wondered if it might not be wise to give this new medicine a chance. I said to myself that if Konjola can help me it must surely be SOME medicine. Well, Konjola proved to be exactly that. Just as I was told it would do, it lost no time in getting to the very causes of my troubles. My stomach was stimulated, as were my other organs, and in four weeks I was the happiest and most surprised man in Pittsburgh to find that I had a real appetite and good digestion. I am feeling better than in many years, and I owe it all to this master medicine of them all."

So it goes; one success after another when Konjola is given a chance to prove why it is the most talked-of medicine in America.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

There is also a Konjola Man at Dow's, Diamond and Smithfield—also Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty.

LINDY BIDDER FOR N. J. HOME

NORTH CALDWELL, N. J., July 25.—(AP.)—Alexander H. Sands, Jr., an official of the American Tobacco Company, said Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was negotiating for the purchase of his estate, atop a mountain overlooking the Passaic River Valley.

Sands declined to furnish any details, or say how far the negotiations have progressed. The estate, consisting of many acres and a 26-room house, is two miles from the flying field the Curtiss Company is developing.

The home was built three years ago at a cost of $100,000.

JUDGE ASSAILED FOR EDITORS' SENTENCE

Cleveland Citizens' League Sees Appealed Verdict as Boon to Vice Interests

By SAM BLAIR.

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—A new and caustic attack on the action of Judge Frederick Walther, who sentenced two editors to jail for criticizing his official acts, has been launched by Mayo Fesler, director of the Cleveland Citizens' League, and answered by Judge Walther himself.

Fesler yesterday gave the following statement to the press:

"If Judge Walther's contempt sentence of these two local editors is sustained in the higher courts, then freedom of the press in this country will have been struck the foulest blow in all our history. This verdict, if upheld, will mean that any corrupt judge, aligned with rotten, crooked interests, can gag the press the while he takes dictates from his masters and, unknown to the public, accomplish the most damning public harms."

In reply Judge Walther said:

JUDGE HITS BACK

"My sentence of these two editors was not a thrust at freedom of speech or of the press. I did not cite them because they had criticized my decision. Any newspaper should have the right to criticize the decision of any judge. I found them guilty of contempt because they attacked my court as an institution, directly charging that the court was taking orders from a race-track gang. Inasmuch as their comment was upon a decision in a case still pending before the court, I had no option but to adjudge them guilty of contempt."

Eight days ago Judge Walther sentenced to 30 days the editor and the chief editorial writer of the Cleveland Press, Louis B. Seltzer and Carlton K. Matson. The sentences, following a hearing in which Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, vigorously defended a newspaper's constitutional right to criticize a court or its action, was based on an editorial published by the Press, in which it was implied that Judge Walther was the tool of interests which proposed to operate the Thistledown race track here.

The judge had signed an injunction order, restraining the sheriff from interfering with the "contribution system" of betting at the track, but he had interpolated into the order the peculiar words, "if this (the betting system) be not contrary to the laws of the state."

WRIT "MEANINGLESS"

Baker and his associate, Marcellus De Vaughn, in an appeal now pending before the Appellate Court, will argue that the judge's injunction was a "vain act"; that he was not rendering a legal order at all, but just subscribing his name to a meaningless jumble of sentences; that he was not, therefore, technically sitting on the bench, but merely on the furniture of the court, and that, therefore, there can be no contempt in criticism of a court which at the time is not existent.

Fesler has been considering the possibility of starting action to summarily remove Judge Walther from the bench, both on the ground of the injunction ruling and that of the contempt sentence.

"Under the Bender act in our state," he said, "any thousand voters can cause trial of any county officer, be he judge or not, by the filing of a petition charging him with misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance or misconduct in office."

Bee Causes Man To Upset Auto

WEST MIDDLESEX, Pa., July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson and their son, Joseph, Jr., narrowly escaped serious injury in an accident near Five Points, caused by a bee flying into their automobile.

In trying to get the insect out of the car, Johnson drove off the road into the ditch. The car upset.

Cherrington directed practice firing on the rifle range at Camp Simms. The men will fire for records. Capts. Connor and Minnich and Lieut. Zebles encouraged their troops, as the winners are to receive loving cups at the end of a week's firing. Capt. Bohn and Lieut. Thomas have the medical center functioning and taking care of the C. M. Aunt Who Rode Astride Slain, Boy on Trial

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 25.—(AP)—A 17-year-old school boy was placed on trial in the Stamboul criminal court charged with murdering his 19-year-old aunt because she rode astride.

The youth declared the priest of his district had summoned him and complained of what he considered the girl's offense against decency. The boy said he remonstrated with his aunt, but when she declared that Turkish women were now free to do as they liked, he "avenged the family honor."

Crash Hurts Driver As Steering Locks

Charles Sipe, 25, of Forest Hills, suffered lacerations and probably internal injuries today when the automobile he was driving crashed into a machine driven by Joseph Farrell, of 3623 Frazier street, in the William Penn highway near the Greensburg pike. Sipe told police his steering gear locked. He was taken to Columbia Hospital. Both machines were badly damaged.

BOMB BLASTS ROCK CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 25.—(INS.)—A black powder bomb explosion rocked the south end of the loop shortly before last midnight, shattering windows in department stores and office buildings and creating excitement among home-bound theater throngs, motorists and pedestrians.

A few minutes later a second bomb burst on the near south side less than a mile away.

The first bomb exploded in an alley entrance to the Davis Company store. The detonation was heard and a tremor was felt for a mile or more. Police were forced to rope off a wide circle to keep back pressing crowds while firemen quenched flames which followed the blast.

While detectives were investigating damage done by the Davis Company blast the second bomb was exploded in an areaway near Twenty-second street and Michigan avenue. Thirty telephone operators in the Calumet exchange were thrown into a panic.

COOLIDGE SHEDS RESERVE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge was enroute back to his home at Northampton, Mass., today, by way of New York, after his first visit to the capital since he relinquished the presidency last March.

He was pleased over his visit, proud of the occasion which brought him here—the proclamation of the Kellogg-Briand treaty for the renunciation of war—and delighted to meet again many old friends who were close to him during his administration.

In one of the most intimate interviews he has ever given, he commented on the White House ceremony at which the anti-war treaty was proclaimed in effect as being "particularly impressive and one fitting in every way the world-wide importance of the occasion."

"I look on it as a great historical event, perhaps of even more importance than we now realize," he remarked.

Big Muskellunge Caught in Shenango

MERCER, Pa., July 25.—Paul Hinkley, fishing in the Shenango River, caught a 7½-pound muskellunge, measuring 31½ inches. Harry Filson, who was in the same party, caught one that measured 30 inches and weighed 6¼ pounds. Several large bass also were caught.

Steam Roller, Plane Crash Ends in Draw

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 25.—(AP.)—A clash between a steam roller and an airplane seems to have been a draw. One was cruising at two miles an hour. The other was slipping out of the skies at about 35 for landing. The roller's smokestack was knocked off and the engineer put in a hospital. The fuselage of the plane was battered and one wing smashed.

FIRE ENGINE IS JUST ANOTHER AUTOMOBILE TO MOVIE STUDIO GATEMAN

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.

DAD OWENS is M. G. M.'s famous custodian of the gate. Dad has the rep of being hard boiled. He isn't when you know him, but he has the rep. They're tellin' this one on him.

A few days ago, there was a fire in the recording building at M. G. M. A fire S. O. S. went out. A hook-and-ladder car sirened up to Owens' gate instead of going through the regular transportation gate.

"Where do you think you're going," Owens barked.

The driver explained.

"That's too bad," Owens is said to have barked. "You'll either have to get a pass from the front office or go around to the back lot. You may be a fire engine downtown, but you're just another automobile out here!"

Corinne Griffith

This department rarely goes in for praise. Like producers we're afraid it will make folks too happy. The following epistle however, may be of interest. It comes all the way from Kyoto, Japan, to Corinne Griffith from that W. K. writer, Mrs. E. Barrington.

"Dear Miss Griffith:

"Here in Japan I have just had a huge bundle of English press clippings about the London release of 'The Divine Lady.' I always knew that your beauty and sensitive appreciation were the ideal expression of Emma Hamilton's nature, but your triumph in England, where sharp criticism was naturally to be expected, was a triumph indeed, and I congratulate you very warmly and truly. You have fixed an image of Lady Hamilton on English men and women which will make her memory a far more sympathetic one than it has been. I had that in mind myself in writing my novel.

Very cordially yours,
"E. BARRINGTON."

Shrewd Extra Hides Whiskers

WELL, bigosh—an example of shrewd, Hollywood reasoning.

It transpired on the Mary Pickford-Doug Fairbanks' "Taming of the Shrew" set. First extra stumbles across second extra. Apparently they are friends.

First extra: "Hello old kid, say what became of that swell, long beard you used to have? The one you have on now is bum."

Second extra: "Sh-h, not so loud. Here it is tied up under my chin. I can get 20 bucks a day for that baby. Think I'm going to give it to these guys for a $7.50 check?"

Dorothy Mackaill

SCREENALITIES: Dorothy Mackaill, feelin' pretty swell after her Honolulu jaunt, goes to work next in "Woman of the Jury," direction William Seiter, with Sidney Blackmer her hero. . . Dixie Wilsson, W. K. Writer, traipsed to the Hollywood Hotel desk to leave her key prior to departing. Dixie wore a heavy starched apron over neatly starched pink frock. "I'm going out to cook dinner," she explained to the startled clerk. "My goodness, Miss Wilsson," he ejaculated, "you don't do that, do you?" "Sure," she nodded, "how did you think I made my money?" . . Constance Bennett has been here seven weeks waiting to start her "To Begin Immediately," Pathe reeler. No sooner was Monday set as the definite date for rehearsals than Connie caught herself a hey-hey case of ptomaine poison. She reckons, however, that she'll be oke by Monday.

Film Newcomer Fools Himself

HERE'S one ready to go the rounds. It concerns a certain newcomer in the story brokerage business. In Hollywood, one can get along nobly by savvying the art of making an impression.

This lad savvied the art. He had taken up an office, a nice office. Arrived there after luncheon one afternoon, he espied a man. Excelsior! A visitor. Business picking up. Excusing himself, he hurriedly dialed a number, careful to keep the received gadget down with one finger.

"Hello — Hello," importantly, "Let me speak to Joe Glutz (naming a big executive). Hello, Joe? This is Fred. About that story you wanted I can let you have it for 50 grand. Okeh? I'll be out tomorrow with the contract. Goodby."

Then turning to the patient visitor, he asked: "What can I do for you?"

"Nothing," solemnly. "I'm the telephone man. Just came to connect the 'phone!"

Fashionable

The gay Adolphe Menjou and Miriam Seegar set some new romantic styles in "Fashions in Love," coming Monday to the Stanley screen.

Swanson Picture Gets London Premiere

The world premiere of "The Trespasser," Gloria Swanson's first all-talking and singing picture, written and directed by Edmund Goulding for United Artists release, will be held in London during her forthcoming trip to Europe.

The premiere will be given at the New Gallery Theater in London, on a date that is tentatively set for August 30.

Miss Swanson will be guest of honor on the occasion when a motion picture audience will hear her speak and sing for the first time from the screen.

Prior to her departure from New York, Miss Swanson, according to present plans, will make phonograph records of the two numbers she sings in her first 100 per cent dialogue and singing picture.

She will proceed directly to Paris to join her husband, the Marquis de la Falaise, and then journey to London for the premiere. She will return to the United States in time for openings of the picture in this country.

IT IS rather surprising to see that they had their way of telling the time in the dark centuries before luminous dials became the rage. In England there is a "clock-watch" of 1580, with pins at each hour by which the wearer could tell the time by touch.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Paul Baumer and his soldier comrades all enlisted at 18. During their training, they were abused and persecuted by a former mail-carrier, now Corp. Himmelstross. Hating him, they beat him up the last night. Later, at the front, he appears. One of the privates calls him a "dirty hound." He threatens court-martial. Light sentences are imposed when the lieutenant learns the whole story of the corporal's abuse in camp.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

WHEN we break up Kat says to me: "What do you say to some roast goose?"

"Not bad," I agree.

We climb upon a munition wagon. The ride costs us two cigarets. Kat has marked the spot exactly. The shed belongs to a regimental headquarters. I agree to get the goose and receive my instructions. The outhouse is behind the wall and the door shuts with just a peg.

Kat hoists me up. I rest my foot in his hands and climb over the wall. Kat keeps watch below.

I wait a few moments to accustom my eyes to the darkness. Then I recognize the shed. Softly I steal across, lift the peg, pull it out and open the door.

I distinguish two white patches. Two geese, that's bad; if I grab one the other will cackle. Well, both of them—if I'm quick, it can be done.

I make a jump. I catch hold of one and the next instant the second. Like a madman I bash their heads against the wall to stun them. But I haven't quite enough weight. The beasts cackle and strike out with their feet and wings. I fight desperately; but Lord! what a kick a goose has. They struggle and I stagger about. In the dark these white patches are terrifying. My arms have grown wings and I'm almost afraid of going up into the sky, as though I held a couple of captive balloons in my fists.

Then the row begins; one of them gets his breath and goes off like an alarm clock. Before I can do anything, something comes in from outside; I feel a blow, lie outstretched on the floor, and hear awful growls. A dog. I steal a glance to the side, he makes a snap at my throat. I lie still and tuck my chin into my collar.

It's a bulldog. After an eternity he withdraws his head and sits down beside me. But if I make the least movement he growls. I consider. The only thing to do is to get hold of my small revolver, and that too before anyone arrives. Inch by inch I move my hand toward it.

I have the feeling that it lasts an hour. The slightest movement and then an awful growl; I lie still, then try again. When at last I have the revolver my hand starts to tremble. I press it against the ground and then say over to myself; Jerk the revolver up, fire before he has a chance to grab, and then jump up.

Slowly I take a deep breath and become calmer. Then I hold my breath, whip up the revolver, it cracks, the dog leaps howling to one side, I make for the door of the shed and fall head over heels over one of the damned geese.

At full speed I seize it again, and with a swing toss it over the wall and clamber up. No sooner am I on top than the dog is up again as lively as ever and springs at me. Quickly I let myself drop. Ten paces away stands Kat with the goose under his arm. As soon as he sees me we run.

At last we can take a breather. The goose is dead, Kat saw to that in a moment. We intend to roast it, without telling anybody. I fetch a stove and wood from the hut and we crawl into a small deserted lean-to which we use for such purposes. The single window space is heavily curtained. There is a sort of hearth, an iron plate set on some bricks. We kindle a fire.

Kat plucks and cleans the goose. We put the feathers carefully to one side. We intend to make two cushions out of them with the inscription: "Sleep soft under shell-fire." The sound of the gun-fire from the front penetrates into our refuge. The glow of the fire lights up our faces, shadows dance on the wall. Sometimes a heavy crash and the hut shivers. Aeroplane bombs. Once we hear a stifled cry. A hut must have been hit.

Aeroplanes drone; the tack-tack of machine guns breaks out. But no light that could be observed shows from us.

We sit opposite one another, Kat and I, two soldiers in shabby coats, cooking a goose in the middle of the night. We don't talk much, but I believe we have a more complete communion with one another than even lovers have.

We are two men, two minute sparks of life; out side is the night and the circle of death. We sit on the edge of it crouching in danger, the grease drips from our hands, in our hearts we are close to one another, and the hour is like the room: flecked over with the lights and shadows of our feelings cast by a quiet fire. What does he know of me or I of him? Formerly we should not have had a single thought in common—now we sit with a goose between us and feel in unison, and are so intimate that we do not even speak.

It takes a long time to roast a goose, even when it is young and fat. So we take turns. One bastes it while the other lies down and sleeps. A grand smell gradually fills the hut.

The noises without increase in volume, pass into my dream and yet linger in my memory. In a half sleep I watch Kat dip and raise the ladle. I love him, his shoulders, his angular, stooping figure—and at the same time I see behind him woods and stars, and a clear voice utters words that bring me peace, to me, a soldier in big boots, belt and knapsack, taking the road that lies before him under the high heaven, quickly forgetting and seldom sorrowful, for ever pressing on under the wide night sky.

A little soldier and a clear voice, and if anyone were to caress him he would hardly understand, this soldier with the big boots and shut heart, who marches because he is wearing big boots, and has forgotten all else but marching. Beyond the sky-line is a country with flowers, lying so still that he would like to weep. There are sights there that he has not forgotten, because he never possessed them—perplexing, yet lost to him. Are not his 20 summers there?

Is my face wet, and where am I? Kat stands before me, his gigantic, stooping shadow falls upon me like home. He speaks gently, he smiles and goes back to the fire.

Then he says: "It's done."

"Yes, Kat."

I stir myself. In the middle of the room shines the brown goose. We take out our collapsible forks and our pocket-knives and each cuts off a leg. With it we have army bread dipped in gravy. We eat slowly and with gusto.

"How does it taste, Kat?"

"Good! And yours?"

"Good, Kat."

We are brothers and press on one another the choicest pieces. Afterwards I smoke a cigaret and Kat a cigar. There is still a lot left.

"How would it be, Kat, if we took a bit to Kropp and Tjaden?"

"Sure," says he.

We carve off a portion and wrap it up carefully in newspaper. The rest we thought of taking over to the hut. Kat laughs, and simply says: "Tjaden."

I agree, we will have to take it all.

So we go off to the fowl house to wake them. But first we pack away the feathers.

Kropp and Tjaden take us for magicians. Then they get busy with their teeth. Tjaden holds a wing in his mouth with both hands like a mouth organ, and gnaws. He drinks the gravy from the pot and smacks his lips:

"May I never forget you!"

We go to our hut. Again there is the lofty sky with the stars and the oncoming dawn, and I pass on beneath it, a soldier with big boots and a full belly, a little soldier in the early morning—but by my side, stooping and angular, goes Kat, my comrade.

The outlines of the huts are upon us in the dawn like a dark, deep sleep.

There are rumors of an offensive. We go up to the front two days earlier than usual. On the way we pass a shelled schoolhouse. Stacked up against its longer side is a high double wall of yellow, unpolished, brand-new coffins. They still smell of fir, and pine, and the forest. There are at least a hundred.

"That's a good preparation for the offensive," says Muller, astonished.

"They're for us," growls Detering.

"Don't talk rot," says Kat to him angrily.

"You be thankful if you get as much as a coffin," grins Tjaden. "They'll slip you a waterproof sheet for your old Aunt Sally of a carcass."

The others jest too, unpleasant jests, but what else can a man do?—The coffins are really for us. The organization surpasses itself in that kind of thing.

Ahead of us everything is simmering. The first night we try to get our bearings. When it is fairly quiet we can hear the transports behind the enemy lines rolling ceaselessly until dawn. Kat says they do not go back but are bringing up troops—troops, munitions, and shells.

The English artillery has been strengthened, that we can detect at once. There are at least four more batteries of 25s to the right of the farm, and behind the poplars they have put in trench mortars. Besides these they have brought up a number of those little French beasts with instantaneous fuses.

We are in low spirits. After we have been in the dugouts two hours our own shells begin to fall in the trench. This is the third time in four weeks. If it were simply a mistake in aim no one would say anything, but the truth is that the barrels are worn out. The shots are often so uncertain that they land within our own lines. Tonight two of our men were wounded by them.

FOREST LOVE By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Nancy Writes Roger and Pleads With Him to Secretly Visit Her

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, beautiful and romantic, becomes cynical when her mother warns her against marrying a poor man. She causes comment when she gives up Mat Tulley and accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer who plans to divorce his rich wife to marry Nancy. On a mountain trip with relatives, Nancy toys with the affections of a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. In spite of her expressed desire to marry for riches only, she suddenly gives way to Roger's passionate love-making and marries him. At first she is happy in his mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a long trip, she flees to her home. Without informing her family of her marriage, she re-enters the old social life. At a party, Jack Beamer monopolizes her. But Nancy repulses Beamer's affectionate embraces. At home Nancy's letters from Decatur arouse her mother's suspicions. Nancy almost tells her secret. But even Louise shows no interest when Nancy mentions the ranger. Lastly her father, too, warned her against following up a "summer flirtation."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

IT WAS raining in Gale's Flat. The rain fell in slanting, silver sheets out of a leaden sky, onto a soft dirt road. It formed in foamy brown pools in the hollows so that the horses had to splash through them knee deep. It soaked the soft felt hats of the two rangers riding in from the valley, dripped off their yellow slickers onto the saddles, turning the leather sodden and dark.

"How'd you like to have your feet propped up in front of Ackerman's stove about now, and a good plate of chile con carne along side?" the smaller man grinned, trying to turn his collar so that the water would stop dribbling down his neck.

"Not a bad idea. Want to cut over that way?"

"Get us back pretty late. Guess I'd better hit it straight for home if you don't mind, Decatur. Helen will have dinner all ready. And you know how the women are when you're late. Wow!"

"That's right. Well, I'll hit for home, too. Get along there, Maggie; do you want to stay out in the rain all night?"

Jack McKimmons urged his horse faster, too. He was sorry he had mentioned Ackerman's, sorry he had made that break about the wife waiting dinner. Poor Decatur, with his wife away!

The days were short now. It was dark when they came to Roger's cabin, standing stark and deserted on the side of the hill.

"S'long, McKimmons."

"S'long, Decatur."

But McKimmons sat hunched on his horse in the rain while Roger fed and bedded the steaming Maggie. Seemed kind of heartless to go off and leave his friend to open up the cold cabin, when he knew that light and a roaring fire would be waiting for him in the pot-bellied iron stove in the lookout, and Helen and the baby with arms open to welcome him.

Roger came out of the stable whistling. "Oh, is that you, Mac? I thought you'd gone."

"No. I happened to think maybe you'd like to come up and have dinner with us. Kind of lonesome all alone."

"Oh! Thanks, Mac. No, I guess not. Thanks just the same."

"Well . . . S'long. By the way, when's the Mrs. getting back?"

"I don't know yet. Her mother isn't very well yet. S'long, Mac!"

Over his third cup of coffee, nibbling at a huge second helping of Helen's apple pie, Jack McKimmons thought again of Roger.

"It's too bad about Decatur's mother-in-law," he said. "She's still sick. Tough on him. He doesn't know when the girl will be back. Of course he was alone before, and thought nothing of it. But after a fellow's been married . . . well, I feel kind of sorry for him."

Helen looked up at him shrewdly. "Did you ask about his wife?"

"Yes, why not? What are you looking so funny about?"

She looked down at her red little hands, bit a hangnail thoughtfully. "Oh, I don't know. Just a hunch I had."

McKimmons choked over his last bite of pie. "Why, Helen, you don't mean that . . . that she's left him? Decatur? A swell fellow like that? Say . . . cut it!"

"All right, I hope I'm wrong. But I had my doubts about her when she came up here that day. She acted kind of funny. I thought it was because she hadn't settled down, but I'll bet she just wouldn't settle. And as far as Decatur looks and all that, don't you see that proves it?"

"Huh! Proves nothing."

"It does, too. She probably met him and married him suddenly. You know he never said a word about getting married before he came back with her. He's just the kind that could sweep a girl off her feet. And then when she got up here, and far away from her pink teas and all that, why she repented and went back to her mother. I'll bet her mother isn't sick at all. Don't you see?"

"Boloney!" said McKimmons, who was more convinced than he wanted to be.

"All right. But you take my advice, and don't you go asking Decatur any more about his wife!"

"Boloney!" McKimmons reached for his pipe and stuffed it with a scornful thumb. "Boloney!"

But he never again asked about Nancy, and as Roger never volunteered any information, he had no more news of her to bring home to Helen.

Roger Decatur, who had never in all the years of his life known loneliness, knew it now. He had loved the cabin. He had built nearly everything in it. It was home.

Now it was haunted. Haunted by the wistful ghost of the girl he brought there a bride. He couldn't hang up his hat without having to look at an old one of hers. He couldn't put away a boot himself without seeing the narrow satin slippers she had left behind. Bronze hairpins. A little handkerchief. Spilled powder in a dresser drawer. A certain scent she used to use . . . smelled it, verbena . . . it clung to his coats.

When he would go into the little lean-to kitchen to get dinner at night he would bring in the wood and light the fire with a clatter of damper and stove lids. Bring bacon and a can of beans from the shelf, and then stand staring, lost in thought, at the spot on the oil cloth covered table where he had found her note. Sometimes the fire went out, and had to be made again. Sometimes the beans burned in their pan. Once he sat huddled all night in a chair by the cold stove, forgetting to eat, forgetting to go to bed. Lost in longing. Gnawing, aching longing for Nancy.

But he wouldn't go to see her in Piedmont. "Roger, you don't know how I miss you. Couldn't you come just for a day?" she wrote. "I could meet you somewhere. The family wouldn't even have to know. Please come; it may be so long before I can really go back to you."

The dull red mounted to the roots of his hair as he read. He wanted to go. Wanted her so terribly. To see her, if it were only for a day. To touch her bright, springy curls. To hear her laugh and call his name . . .

But he wouldn't go. He set his mouth stubbornly. Not like that.

"It would only make it harder," he wrote back. "Besides, that isn't the way to do things. If you must stay with your mother and you must not tell her the truth until she is better, I can stand it. I can wait for you, but I can't come sneaking down there and meet you somewhere when they don't know we're married. Don't ask me to. And oh, Nancy girl, come back to me soon."

She cried when she got the letter. That was one of the days when she almost slammed her things into a suitcase and took the first train. But if she did, he'd keep her there; she'd never get him away from the woods . . .

"I'll talk him into coming" she thought. "He won't give me up. He could make a name for himself here. He's too fine to be buried in the woods. Lots of opportunities for a man like Roger. May Belle's father has always liked me; he'd do anything for me; he'd give him a good position in the real estate office. That would do for a start. We'd manage . . . I'd be economical for his sake. I'd do anything for Roger . . . Didn't I carry wood, and wash dishes . . . ah, Roger, please, please come!"

Days passed. The mails were so slow. Up Gale's Flat way the roads were rivers of mud. The wind whistled round the cabin; the rain lashed the windows, pattered against the door.

By the light of the kitchen lamp Roger read Nancy's last letter. He had already read it four times, jogging home in the dusk.

Nancy's tears and the raindrops had almost reduced it to a pulp. It was such a short letter, he already knew it by heart.

"Roger, Darling:

"We can't go on this way. I am almost crazy. I've told you so many times. Why do you ask me again? I can't go back just now and I can't tell the family yet. I'll explain when I see you. You must come; I must talk to you. You could come for a week-end and I would find some way to get away. If you love me you won't let that job of yours stand in the way. Roger, I'm begging you! I'm putting all my pride in my pocket. I can't get along without you. I love you so. I'll look for you Saturday. I'll meet you in the lobby of the St. Francis at half past twelve.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Companionate Divorce

COMPANIONATE DIVORCE is a fact in Chicago, and Judge Sabath is its father. He wisely grants unloving couples six months of temporary divorce, in which to "think it over." Then he gives them a second guess.

* * *

What could be fairer? Or sweeter? Or wiser?

* * *

Six months of complete vacation from matrimony, in which to get a rest from its trials, struggles and vicissitudes; to get a new slant and a new perspective on each other; and to try out the new candidate for the next matrimonial adventure.

HELEN ROWLAND

Because, there always IS a new candidate, somewhere in the offing! Parting with a husband, like parting with a tooth, is such a painful thing, that few women can bring themselves to the point of getting rid of the old one, until they have a new one all ready to fill up the gap he leaves in their lives.

* * *

And few men actually reach the point where they are anxious to slough an old wife—or an old hat—until they have found a new one that looks better to them.

* * *

But, in six months, you may discover that the new flame has, not only all of the old one's trying little ways and failings, but a few of his or her own special brand, for good measure.

Not only does Harold get spots on the tablecloth, throw lighted matches into the waste-basket, and show up an hour late for dinner, just as John did; but, he criticizes your complexion, wants to pick out your hats, dictate your politics, choose your friends and "Mussolini" your life all up, besides.

* * *

And, it's hard to get used to living with a dictator, after all the years you have spent in a nice, scrappy democracy, with careless, genial old John. It's hard to readjust yourself to a new set of idiosyncrasies and face a brand new collection of problems.

* * *

In six months, a man may discover that the sweet young thing, who looked so much more alluring than his tired, middle-aged wife, may be a very good playmate for an occasional rose-colored evening; but, that, as a life-mate, she would bore him to death, worry him to death, or speed him straight into the poor-house.

* * *

Marriage gets you too close to the picture. Sometimes, all you need is a good, long matrimonial vacation, and a chance to compare your current husband or wife with somebody else, to discover that your first guess was best, after all.

* * *

Many a woman has traded in a wild, good-natured, fascinating, devil-may-care husband for a nice, reliable, steady-going one, only to find herself bored to death, or bullied, or bossed, or nagged to death for the rest of her life.

* * *

And many a man has swapped an over-stuffed, plain-faced wife, with an original mind, a ready wit, and a sweet disposition for a beautiful pink and white doll, only to spend the rest of his existence working himself to death to buy things for "Dolly," torturing himself with jealousy, or wearing himself to a shred, trying to keep pace with her young feet.

* * *

A six months' trial divorce would end, nine times out of ten, in a grand old reunion. Nothing makes you appreciate a comfortable old shoe, like trying on a new one!

THE GIFT OF CHARM

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

WHAT would you ask for if you had your choice of all the gifts that could be given you? Would it be riches? Or beauty? Or happiness? Or perhaps all three? Then, if you were granted all these, you'd probably remember that you had forgotten to ask for Fame—and your happiness in the three gifts bestowed on you would turn to ashes. And then what would they be worth? Less than nothing!

But suppose you had taken Charm as your gift! Then you would have been the possessor of the gift that makes for constant happiness, for Charm embodies all the gifts of the gods! The girl with charm may be penniless, and almost homely, yet people will flock to her as flies to the honey-pot! For charm not alone brings happiness to its possessor, it also gives happiness to its possessor, it also gives happiness to all with whom it comes in contact. Therefore, let your prayer be for charm—that indefinable something that the Frenchman calls "charmant," the Spaniard "simpatica" and which embodies all the loveliness of soul and heart that makes for popularity.

Wouldn't you rather be charming than beautiful? Of course, I'm not saying that there is no beauty without charm, for there is—lots of it. But sometimes the beauty thinks this sufficient without the exercise of charm. And then Beauty palls.

So seek Charm! For Love will surely find you then and you'll acquire all the gifts that can be bestowed on mortals!

Correct Manners

Hospitable Dinner Informalities

1. Is it correct or otherwise for the master of the house to start the passing at the dinner table?

2. Is it advisable to have the spoons all in one container on the table, or should each individual be given one? E.

EITHER he or the hostess, or, in fact, any member of the family who is sitting near the item of food that is to be passed. Part of the hospitable duty of the members of the family who are having an informal dinner is to see that the foods, such as the tray of rolls or the serving-dish of jelly or olives, are passed to the guests.

2. Spoons should never be put on the table in a holder of any kind. At the individual places the spoons are placed that will be needed by the guests for the menu that is being served. Spoons are placed on the right of the plate, and on the right of the knives, which are nearer the plate.

Acknowledging a Dance.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I do hope this question won't seem too absurd for you to answer. What is the proper thing to say when you have finished dancing with a young man and he says "Thank you"? I think there are various things to say, but please mention a few.

AN ARTISTE.

WHILE the girl does not say a "Thank you" in response to the man's "Thank you," she does say something that indicates that she has enjoyed the dance. And she may say just that: "I enjoyed that dance so much, Mr. Allen," or "That was a glorious dance, Jerry, and I enjoyed every minute of it," or "It's good to dance with you again, Bob—I enjoyed that dance so much."

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Reveals More Amazing Conditions

THERE was a note in Mary's excited voice which stirred me with fear that the girl's ethical standards were being weakened by the passionate sense of injustice, and the resentment which she patently was cherishing against Philip Veritzen. Only too well I remembered the day she just had recalled to me when she had confessed to her employer that she had broken his training schedule and risked the danger of undesirable publicity as his protegee by her escapade as the masked dancer at the night club. It had been one of the big moments of her life, a distinct turning point in her character development and my memory fondly held the picture of her tense young figure going bravely to meet the verdict of the man from whom she expected no leniency. Yet now her voice and words held an undeniable sneer at her high resolve of that hour.

I could do nothing, now, however, save provide a road on which her excited story could travel, and I laid down another plank by a prompt answer to her question.

"Naturally, dear, I always have had a theory as to the conditions Mr. Veritzen imposed upon you, but I'd rather hear them from you."

"Yes, I suppose it wasn't hard to dope out," she replied. "Well! in the first place the old crocodile told me he'd known I was the masked dancer all the time, and that he'd been waiting to see whether I'd be honest enough to come and tell him about it. He could give Ananias three strokes a hole and win eight up, that old buzzard. But of course I had to pretend to swallow it."

I told myself apprehensively that if Mary applied another name of outlandish beast or bird to stately Philip Veritzen, I could not be responsible for the behavior of my laughter muscles.

"Then he handed out a long spiel about my being the first protegee who ever had defied his orders in the slightest degree without being kicked off the earth pronto. I guess that's right at that, though, isn't it?"

"I am sure of that," I told her truthfully.

"But that was on your account," she said to my astonishment and embarrassment. I was so furious that I could not keep my cheeks from flaming as she rattled on.

"He told me that he was reluctant to grieve you by depriving me of the chance he had promised you he would give me, and that he would take me back upon one condition—that I would cure Noel of what he very kindly called 'the boy's blind infatuation.'

"Oh! there weren't any 'ifs' or 'ands' or 'maybes,'" she went on bitterly. "He made me promise that I wouldn't speak to Noel except when it would be noticeable not to talk to him, and that I would make Noel believe I had no use for him, preferably by pretending to be interested in some other young man. That's the reason the old hyena has always grinned whenever Georges has been dancing around."

I laughed outright as I had told myself I would have to do, and after a puzzled look at me she gave me an answering grin of comprehension.

"I guess I have made a menagerie out of the old fool," she said, "but those are mild names compared with the ones I'd like to call him if you weren't a lady. I'm perfectly willing to forget I was 'raised' to be one.

"I was such an ambitious little fool," she went on slowly, "that instead of giving him the swift kick in the slats he deserved, I agreed to his conditions, and promised to show Noel the way to the sidewalk. And now everything's out—gone—departed—and I'm on the outside, looking in. But will I make that old lad pay? Just watch me a few years from now. I know now where I can hurt him most, and little Mary isn't the gel who won't spread the mustard plaster."

That she was talking wildly, childishly, I know. But still there was something steely in her voice which showed how deep was her hurt. I hated to have her dwell upon Philip Veritzen's cruelty any longer, but I could not accept her self deprecatory explanation that it was her ambition alone which made her accede to her employer's conditions. Both Lillian and I had suspected that he skilfully had sounded another note, and I put our suspicion into words.

"Tell me, Mary," I commanded, "was your ambition the only reason you made that promise? Didn't Mr. Veritzen threaten you that if Noel persisted in his affection for you, his father would disown him again, and wasn't it fear for Noel rather than for yourself that was behind your decision?"

Her glance fell away from mine, and her cheeks flamed. Then her eyes lifted to mine again resolutely.

"I don't see why I shouldn't spill the whole plate of beans," she said. "Yes, he did hand out that very threat, but I would have done what he wanted, anyway. My 'career' was at stake. But I've got it cinched now, I suppose. I came very near tossing it over the railing though. Haven't you ever noticed how I've been saving my money lately, and guessed why?"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, July 26.

ALTHOUGH this bids fair to be an exceedingly active and interesting day, judging by the lunar aspects, yet it is probable that matters achieved must be wrested from tenacious obstacles or difficult situations. There may be opportunity for new contracts, and in those things pertaining to writing, publishing, promotion and publicity as well as in ordinary channels of trade and bargaining, but postponements and setbacks should be viewed with equanimity, as but temporary.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a lively and eventful year, with promise of good business, new contracts and all pertaining to writing, publishing and kindred occupations are well fortified, but all may be subject to postponements and tenacious obstacles to be overcome before ultimate triumph.

A child born on this day may be exceedingly clever and versatile, all equipped for professional success, but it may encounter many tenacious obstacles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Hot Weather Coughs Hang on Tenaciously

WINTER is the time we expect colds and catarrh. But it is not in cold weather alone that human beings suffer from these ailments. Even in midsummer they are all too common.

Indeed, about the worst of colds is the "summer cold." It drags on, taking what is left of exhausted energy. Really, you can be positively ill and incapable of your daily duties. From the effects of one of these colds, you may feel like staying in bed for several days.

DR. COPELAND

Science has much to learn about the common cold. It is not known for a certainty what causes it. Is it due to the action of germs, bacteria, bacilli, or a virus of some sort? Who knows?

Some day the mystery will be solved. Then a remedy will be found, or at least a reasonably sure means of protection will be discovered. Until that glorious day we must do our best with present knowledge.

Anything that lowers the vitality, lessens the resistance to disease. When we are well and strong, full of energy, properly nourished and living right, we can fight off the agents of disease. We can resist infection.

Anything that weakens the system, prepares the way for disease. The effect of intense heat, causing loss of appetite and broken sleep, lower the resistance power to those agents that produce colds. That is why the Summer cold is almost as frequently met as the Winter cold.

Neglected teeth, with abscessed roots or pussy gums, may promote the growth of germs that attack the tonsils or nasal tissues. Abscessed tonsils may be the breeding place for such poisons. These causes operate in hot weather as in cold, and may be more dangerous because of the weakened resistance due to days and nights of intense heat.

One goes to sleep without cover and wakes up chilled to the bone from a change in the weather. It is difficult to determine just what effect such exposure has, but undoubtedly it is a factor in exciting a cold.

Contacts with persons who have colds, swimming in contaminated waters, drinking from unclean glasses—all these have an important relationship to the taking of colds. We should not overlook them.

Take care of yourself if you have a cold. Practice the Golden Rule by regarding the rights of others. Don't expose family, friends or the public to the effects of any carelessness on your part. It is easy to "spread" the disease.

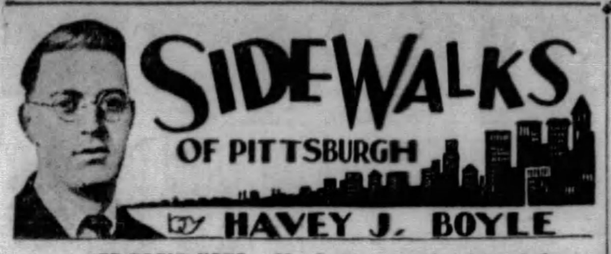
FULL BENCH SOUGHT TO ACT ON CHARTER

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



By HAVEY J. BOYLE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Boyle's copy is arriving daily. In this and subsequent columns, he records his impressions of Paris.)

PARIS, FRANCE.

AS A man who can take his cheese and leave it alone, and as one who prefers to leave severely alone persons eating a certain kind of cheese, I notice that Parisians probably divide their lives into two well-regulated periods—when they are not eating cheese and when they are eating cheese. It is a poor meal, indeed, that does not bring at least three varieties of this food. I have no doubt that M. Crandall, of marathon dance fame, would have no trouble at all in finding in this city a list of entries for the championship cheese eating contest.

It is the complaint of the true cosmopolite, of course, that Paris in the summer time is taken over by the tourists and that all good Frenchmen leave the city to its invaders, yet if the tourists remove some of the native color in this fashion, there is still plenty left to suit the average observer.

There is a street, for instance, whose name I now can neither spell nor pronounce, which is lined with curbstone venders. Business being a little dull inside the stores, the merchants move a stock of what we department store people call a "special" and a barker is put to work to attract the attention of the ladies and gentlemen who pass by. You may not believe it, but I picked up a dozen of the nicest celluloid collars I've seen in a long time for a franc, twenty-five, which amounts to about a nickel.

ALL kinds of salespeople line the curbstone on this street and if you're looking for a bargain in anything from neckties to a marvelous substance that removes the most obstinate rust I'd advise you to take the next boat.

Today I was walking when a funeral procession came into view. The casket is hauled in a plain, black hearse, horse-drawn, and the mourners walk behind the hearse. There were about eight in the mournful procession which moved slowly through a congested area. The funeral procession, of course, got the right of way and as it passed along persons walking on the pavements raised their hats out of respect to the dead. It was more impressive than any funeral procession I have ever seen. Even taxicab drivers, halting while the cortege passed, respectfully lifted their caps.

WHILE, of course, rooms with baths in the hotels are available, it appears that the bath connected with the room is not viewed so importantly here as it is elsewhere. There is compensation for the lack. You ring for a Garcon or a valet and after being notified, he prepares a large tub, making you feel just a little like the Earl of Somebody or Other, with the notable exception that the Earl does not have to walk along a corridor before taking his Saturday ablutions.

As a rule, soap is not served on such an occasion. But Americans who have become accustomed to carrying things for their amusement and entertainment find no difficulty, of course, in putting a cake of soap in their hip pocket on the way to the bath.

Having forgotten to bring my own soap with me, I now owe my room-mate, Mr. Hungerford, two ounces of soap suds.

In putting my cap on the hatrack, outside a dining room, I was reminded by the company my cap was keeping on the rack, that I'll soon have to lay in a stove pipe hat. I haven't had one since Uncle Charlie quit driving the depot bus.

ZONE RULING REVERSED IN MT. LEBANON

Court Holds Board in Error and Grants Permit For Apartment Building

A building containing five store rooms with 18 apartments above is to be erected in Beverly road at Overlook road, Mt. Lebanon Township, as a result of an opinion handed down in Common Pleas Court by Judge Ambrose B. Reid reversing a decision of the township zoning board.

A building permit had been refused Louis Merwitzer on the ground that an amendment to the zoning ordinance, which marked Beverly road the business street of the community, restricted his property to the single family dwelling class. He appealed to court and the judge's opinion followed a hearing in which plans were shown indicating Merwitzer intends putting up a substantial and handsome building.

Judge Reed has also granted an alternative writ of mandamus on the Mt. Lebanon Township commissioners requiring them to permit Bernath Herskovits to build a six-story apartment building in Beverly road, returnable for a hearing July 3.

Herskovits says he was told there would be no objecton to the building and he was granted a permit for excavating. Later the building permit was refused. The building is to cost $250,000.

CITY TO BE HOST TO 40,000

Prediction that 40,000 persons will attend a series of conventions and meetings in Pittsburgh between August 1 and December 31 was made by Raymond M. Kenny, secretary of conventions and visitors of the Chamber of Commerce. The first major event will be the meet of the New York Central Lines Athletic Association, September 18, when 10,000 visitors are expected to be in Pittsburgh.

Others will be the annual convention of the Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania, October 1 to 4, 10,000 visitors; University of Pittsburgh-Ohio State University football game, November 2, 10,000; convention of the National Association of Practical Refrigeration Engineers, November 4 to 7, 4,000, and several other conventions will bring large numbers to the city.

BRIDGE WORK TO BE RUSHED

Erection of several temporary buildings including an engineer's field office, on the south shore of the Ohio River at McKees Rocks, within the next few days, will mark the beginning of work on the McKees Rocks-North Side Bridge.

The Dravo Contracting Company which has the contract for the masonry, is constructing two large steel caissons at its Neville island plant. These will be towed to the site of the two river piers within the next few weeks and sunk to permit start of the foundations.

Engineers of the company today estimated that the piers would be completed by the end of 1930.

RIGHT TO PUT PLAN UP TO VOTERS AIM

Court O. K. Wanted to Get Metro Proposal on Ballot In November Election

A full bench of three judges of Common Pleas Court will be asked to sit specially during the summer to determine the legality of resubmitting the metropolitan district charter at the November election so that the seal of approval or disapproval may be obtained from the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in time for the election.

This is the announced plan of County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich, who stated today that he will shortly complete a petition for this unusual action in Common Pleas Court to hear argument on a case stated, an amicable action to resolve the legal doubt attending the re-submission asked of the County Commissioners by the Metropolitan District Commission.

QUICK RULE SOUGHT

Dithrich will seek to have a third judge sit with Judges Ambrose B. Reid and Frank P. Patterson, appointed during the summer recess, and if the plea for special argument and expedition is granted, Dithrich declared, an appeal will be filed promptly in the Supreme Court. The highest court will be asked to advance the case for argument on the first day of its sitting here, September 30, and to expedite its decision.

Dithrich expressed confidence that the Common Pleas Courts, in conformity wth precedents in cases of outstanding public importance, will comply with the plea for haste. Ordinarily argument could not be heard in Common Pleas Court before the third week of September, which would prevent any high court decision in time, Dithrich said, due to the lapse of time for consideration, appeal and the requirement of 10 days' election notice.

LEGALITY DOUBTED

The failure of the charter act enacted by the Legislature for carrying into effect the constitutional amendment provisions for re-submission of the plan at future elections cast a doubt upon the legality of re-submission at the November election, in the opinion of Dithrich.

The charter act provided merely for submission at the special election in June, when the charter plan was defeated, he said. The technical legal construction of "submission" is involved in the opinion of Dithrich.

'OLD IRONSIDES' HISTORY AID

Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, and a member of the Greater Pittsburgh "Old Ironsides" committee, has approved the move to reconstruct the famous old American war vessel as a tremendous aid in teaching the early history and establishment of the United States to school children. Pittsburgh's quota in the drive to rebuild the vessel as she was in the War of 1812 is $25,000.

"Old Ironsides," christened the "Constitution," but given her durable nickname by Oliver Wendell Holmes, was the backbone of the American Navy. Her story, according to Dr. Davidson and other school authorities, is an adventurous statement of the establishment of American rights among nations more than a century ago. J. C. Nevin, director of the Federal Reserve Bank, is treasurer of the Greater Pittsburgh Committee, which has headquarters at 414 Smithfield street. Governor John S. Fisher is honorary chairman.

Other dates for flower donations are August 1, 8 and 15, before 7 p. m.

DEFER ACTION ON MONUMENT

Council has deferred until next Monday taking action on legislation authorizing the removal of the Soldiers' Monument on Monument Hill, North Side, to a site in West Park near Lake Elizabeth, in the vicinity of North avenue and Buena Vista street.

Architect E. B. Lee, of the City Art Commission, yesterday presented to Council alternate drawings of a proposed monument to be erected on the new location.

Lee would use the five figures symbolizing the Army and Navy and the stone in the present chaft for the new monument. He recommended discarding the present balcony and sections of the base.

Council has $35,000 available for the project.

QUARREL ENDS IN KILLING

Resuming a quarrel which started at a church festival Tuesday night, Walter Brown, Negro, of Mine No. 3, Mollenauer, drew a revolver and shot to death Leonard McPherson, 40, a Negro, also of Mine No. 3, in Mollenauer, last night, according to county detectives.

The shooting occurred near their homes, the detectives said, when the pair met. In the quarrel, Brown was alleged to have shot McPherson in the head. He fled after the shooting, but was captured after a half-mile chase by a coal and iron policeman, and turned over to county detectives.

NORTH SIDE HAS BIG OUTING

More than 20,000 residents of the North Side yesterday attended the fifteenth annual outing of the East North Side Business Men's Association in West View. Three hundred business houses closed at noon in order that owners and employes could attend the outing.

A feature of the afternoon was a school girls' fashion revue of sport clothing.

Cornelius A. Pappert and Wilfrid S. Kuhl were general chairmen in charge of the day's activities, assisted by George Schumacher, F. C. Bauer, Edward C. Neid, H. A. Peck, L. B. Seefried, O. A. Freyvogle, Frank Mangold and Dr. C. M. Stroessley.

RUSH STREET AT BEECHVIEW

The short cut leading from Cape May avenue to Broadway, Beechview, will be opened for traffic in about two weeks, it was announced by the Department of Highways yesterday. Four streets on Hampshire avenue have just been completed with the grading and curbing. The paving will start immediately. Motorists are now using Cape May avenue to Sebring avenue, and with the improvement, it will shorten the distance by more than half a mile. Hampshire avenue between the two main streets of Beechview has been a mud road and impassable to traffic.

AIR EQUIPMENT PURCHASED

Equipment for an amphibian air route between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati and other Ohio Valley points, including Marietta and Wheeling, is being acquired by the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, Incorporated. Plans are also under way for the operation by the local concern of the large new independent flying field planned for Harrisburg.

Announcement of the Ohio Valley Amphibian line was made by R. W. Robbins, vice-president of the Aviation Industries. Technicians associated with the company and those in direct charge of the flying field were introduced to the directors by George R. Hann, president of the corporation.

Given 30 Days To Find Home Address

Ben Pine, 40, Negro, will spend the next 30 days in the county workhouse to make up his mind just where he does live.

Arrested by Patrolman William Gallagher in the West End, late Tuesday night, he had in his possession a large knife containing a six inch blade and a half pint of moonshine.

Before Magistrate John J. Sweeny in South Side Police Court yesterday, Officer Gallagher testified that the prisoner told him that he lived on Cremo street, North Side. The address he gave is a vacant lot. He told the sergeant that he lived on Wylie avenue. That address was also fictitious. Magistrate Sweeney asked Pine where he lived, and he informed him that he made his home on South Thirty-first street, and was employed in Jones and Laughlin plant. He is not known at the latter address nor is he on the payroll of the steel corporation. He was charged with being a suspicious person.

Holds Office 31 Years; Has Enough, Will Quit

Gottlieb F. Seif believes 31 years is long enough for one man to hold the same office.

He announced today that he will relinquish the duties of treasurer of Ross Township at the expiration of his present term and will not be a candidate for renomination at the September primaries.

NAMED IN 1928

Since 1898 when he was first appointed by the court, Seif's name has been synonymous with honesty and efficiency, his friends assert. He has been re-elected, virtually without opposition in the intervening years, and has collected taxes running well over the $1,000,000 mark.

"I've held office long enough," said Seif, "and while I appreciate the confidence of my fellow citizens of the township, I will retire.

"I have grown up with the township," he went on. "When I was first appointed treasurer, there were only 600 names on the books. The school taxes amounted to about $2,800 a year and the township taxes about the same. Now the school taxes total $117,000 and the township taxes about $33,000. There are 4,500 taxables on the books and our population is estimated at 7,000."

SEES TOWNSHIP GROW

In the 60 years that Seif has been a resident of the township, virtually his entire life, he has seen the district develop from an expanse of farms to a surburban residential community.

Several candidates, it is understood, will seek the nomination for the office which Seif is quitting, as it is the most lucrative of township offices.

The 18-Day Diet Ends

In response to an unabated flood of requests, the Sun-Telegraph has been reprinting in daily installments Hollywood's 18-day diet, first presented to Sun-Telegraph readers by Louella O. Parsons, motion picture critic and writer. This is the final menu.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

Breakfast—One-half grapefruit, melba toast, coffee; lunch, 1 egg, tomatoes, ½ grapefruit, coffee; dinner, 1 broiled fish, plain spinach, ½ grapefruit.

Melba toast is made by cutting white bread very thin—less than one-fourth inch—toasting it very slowly in oven under low fire until crisp and toasted all the way through and then buttering it as desired.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 25.

Here is some news that I think will be of interest at this time to the entire world. Claremore, Okla., will not attempt to break the refueling record. There is a city that always strives to be original.

We read a lot about the kind of planes they are in, what gas they use, what cigarets they smoke, but nobody has ever said what kind of hose they use to get the gas from one plane to another, it's time somebody spoke a word for hose.

Mr. Hoover says we are spending too much on military expenses, and is appointing a commission to investigate it. Their salaries will be added to the cost.

Yours, WILL.

CITY TRANSIT PLAN FOR RAIL TERMINAL STILL LACKING

COUNCIL GROUP AGAIN FAILS TO REPORT

Subway Proposal Discussed In Connection With P.R.R. 20 Million Station Project

Council's special committee again has failed to make a recommendation of a transit plan to fit in with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's proposed passenger station and terminal extensions estimated to cost $20,000,000.

The committee includes representatives of the City Departments of Law, Transit, Planning and Works; a member of the Mayor's Better Traffic Committee and officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

One of the subjects under discussion is President of Council James F. Malone's plan for a street car subway under Grant street from Water street to Eleventh street and under Penn avenue from Eleventh street to a point near Twenty-fourth street.

Another factor in the discussion is a traffic circle on Eleventh street between Penn and Liberty avenues.

To expedite a decision on the transit plan, officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad recently presented to Council drawings showing their idea for disposing of the traffic problem.

A spokesman for Council's special committee, after a meeting yesterday, said a recommendation would probably be submitted in about 10 days provided a requested traffic analysis was received in time for proper consideration.

ACTION ON PARK FILM LIKELY MONDAY

Required Sum to Come from Firemen's Salary Fund, Mayor Tells Councilmen

Council expects to act finally next Monday on Mayor Charles H. Kline's resolution appropriating $5,000 to finance free Sunday motion picture shows in city parks.

The resolution, presented last Monday, proposed to obtain the money by transferring $5,000 from the firemen's salary account to the equipment account in the mayor's office. Council returned the resolution to the mayor with a request for an explanation of how any account could have a surplus of $5,000.

Mayor Kline submitted a reply yesterday stating that council had appropriated in the 1929 budget $87,000 for a deficit in the firemen's wage account, which was $5,778 in excess of the amount needed.

Daniel Winters explained that it is the mayor's idea to have the films passed upon by the same committee that now supervises programs for the city's band concerts.

Try This on your breakfast table

"Joy of Living"

Say nothing to the family. Let them think that tomorrow's breakfast is going to be just like any other breakfast.

Then—surprise them! At each place have a beaming bowl of Heinz Rice Flakes.

"Oho—what's this?" they'll ask, when they see these curly golden-brown flakes of fairy lightness.

Then the fun begins. "Where did they come from?" "What are they?" "Like nut-meats!" "Like pop-corn"! —and good—oh so good!

Good to see them feeling so much better—when these breakfasts become a daily treat.

For Heinz Rice Flakes are good for everybody. Because Heinz has perfected a new process in cereal-making which transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure cellulose and produces a gentle natural laxative effect that means happy, joyous health!

Isn't it all wonderful?

RIVER HIGHWAY AFFECTS 86 HOMES

Conference Held to Clear Way for New Boulevard; Will Avoid Short Notice

The razing or moving of 86 buildings, mostly private dwellings, in the line of the Ohio River boulevard, will be arranged in so far as possible to avoid thrusting persons from their homes on short notice, according to county engineers.

Conferences on the subject have been held between engineers of the county and Booth & Flinn, contractors, with a view to determining at what points work on the new highway will start and what buildings will be involved.

Some of the tenants will have to vacate at once, according to present prospects, while others may not need to move before next spring.

The construction of a traffic circle at the northern terminus of the McKees Rocks-North Side Bridge and the building of a new street from Termon and California avenues to connect with the boulevard will mean demolition of 26 houses. The others are stretched between that point and the Emsworth Borough line.

HIVELY APPEALS DISCHARGE BY EVANS

Accountant Will Carry Case to Civil Service Board; Charges Denied

Harry Hively, Jr., of 918 Woodbourne avenue, Nineteenth Ward, who was discharged as accountant by Controller Henry O. Evans, has appealed to the Civil Service Commission, Secretary James C. Smith said the commission would set a date early next week.

Hively was discharged last Monday under civil service rules after a five days' suspension on Evans' charge of "disloyalty and unfaithfulness against public interest by concealing information concerning fraud against the city."

The discharge was the outgrowth of the audit initiated by Evans which has resulted in a suit against the American Reduction Company to recover about $1,000,000 on the garbage and rubbish contract.

Hively's statement to the commission denies that he was disloyal and unfaithful to public interest. He declared that he always performed his duties honestly, faithfully and intelligently and that his service always has been satisfactory.

SPORT COMMENT

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor

Reserve Gets Genius. In K. E. Davis. Break for Both.

TENNIS FACILITIES NEEDED HERE

(James J. Long is recovering from his illness and expects to be able to resume his column next Monday. Meanwhile this department will be conducted by the sports editor.)

PITTSBURGH'S loss, Cleveland's gain.

Those four words summarize the signing of Karl E. Davis, popular former graduate athletic manager and alumni secretary of the University of Pittsburgh, to serve in a similar capacity at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, beginning August 1.

K. E. Davis.

Davis—familiarly known to thousands of the graduates of the University of Pittsburgh as "K. E."—was perhaps the biggest single factor in the building of the athletic scheme at Pitt, taking hold in 1913, when the attendance at the football games ranged from two to five thousand and booming things to the point where Forbes Field was not large enough to house the crowds for the more important games and the present Stadium became a necessity and blossomed into a reality.

A few years ago a new regime took office at Pitt, following the death of A. R. Hamilton, that other mighty factor in the development of athletics at the institution, and Davis gradually found himself crowded out of the picture and finally resigned rather than continue in office in a subordinate capacity.

DAVIS' talents in the college athletic realm are well known and Western Reserve makes a ten-strike in obtaining him. The Cleveland university has an enrollment of about 10,000 and during the last two seasons has been making strides in a football way under the coaching of Gordon Locke, former Iowa fullback star, who is athletic director. Davis and Locke are warm friends and should make a fine team, with Davis taking care of the administrative work and Locke the field duties. While he is not a graduate of Reserve, Davis will have the same titles as at Pitt, viz, graduate manager of athletics and alumni secretary.

Reserve is in the midst of an expansion program which includes the erection of new buildings, enlarging of the campus, etc., and realizes that in order to interest its alumni in getting back of the projects it must make its athletic teams more attractive and organize its graduates into a stronger body. These two tasks will fall to Davis, and there is not a man in the country who is better equipped for the work. The system of athletic management K. E. built up at Pitt stands as a monument to his memory there and has served as a model for other colleges and universities to copy after.

CLEVELAND should prove a fertile spot for such a genius in athletics as Davis. It is a good sporting city which never has had good college football teams. For years Case and Western Reserve have been rivals there, but weak ones at best. Recently Reserve has outstripped Case, an engineering school, and John Carroll, formerly St. Xavier, a Catholic university, has come along. The situation is almost identical to that of Pittsburgh, with Pitt, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne, a big university, a technical school and a Catholic university. Davis should be able to develop some keen local rivalry within the city and bring big teams in from the outside.

Jackie Fields.

Next fall, Reserve will play its home games at Dunn Field, the American League baseball park, and next year the new $2,500,000 municipal stadium, for which the bonds already have been voted, will be available. It will seat 80,000 and will be centrally located.

Carnegie Tech will be one of Reserve's opponents at Dunn Field in October of this year, and the Clevelanders will play Cornell at Ithaca. Next year, an even more ambitious program will be outlined.

The possibilities in Davis' new position are almost limitless and he is to be congratulated upon making the connection, just as Reserve is to be felicitated upon making such a fine catch. That Davis' friends will be pulling for him goes without saying. Indeed, a movement already has been started among them to tender him a big testimonial dinner before he departs to make his home in Cleveland. It probably will be held early next week.

THE wise men of boxing are installing Jackie Fields, the National Boxing Association champion, as the favorite over Joe Dundee, the world welterweight champion, in their 15-round bout for the latter title in Floyd Fitzsimmons' new arena at Detroit tonight. Pointing to Dundee's in-and-out performances during his reign as champion and Fields' brilliant work in recent months, they regard the transfer of the title as a mere formality.

They may be right, and, then again, they may not be. Fields wasn't so hot when he lost to Sammy Mandell, the light-hitting lightweight champion, in Chicago last year, and there is a black mark in his record in the form of a defeat by Louis (Kid) Kaplan, the former featherweight champion, in New York. In other words, it would appear that Fields is a great fighter until he steps out against the men who have scaled the heights.

Jackie is a fine, fast-moving boxer and a good hitter. Dundee is more of the fighter type, a fellow with the legs of a lightweight and the build around the shoulders of a middleweight. Jackie is a fast starter and Joe a great man over the route. From this distance, it would appear that if Jackie is to win he must do it in the half dozen rounds before Dundee gets warmed up, for most of Dundee's setbacks have been caused by getting in trouble early. If the fight goes the limit, Fields figures to experience considerable difficulty standing up under the bruising body smashing and slashing inside fighting of the champion. Dundee demonstrated in his bout with Billy Alger at the Meyers Bowl recently that he is far from being all washed up and he looks to this scribe as a great short-end bet to whip Fields.

Ichiya Kumagae.

THE manner in which the Western Pennsylvania men's and women's and Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' championships have been forced virtually to go begging this season serves strikingly to emphasize the unfortunate dearth of tennis facilities existing in Pittsburgh since the famous Pittsburgh Athletic Association courts were ripped up three years ago to make room for the Pitt Cathedral of Learning. It is no secret that but for the hospitality of the Stanton Heights Golf Club and Carnegie Tech, the two leading local tournaments would have been in a bad way for sites of battle this summer. The condition is deplorable in a community of the size, wealth and glowing racquet history that Pittsburgh boasts.

Back in the era before the World War, this city was one of the outstanding tennis centers of the country. The National Clay Courts tourney was held here in 1916 and the annual West Penn meetings brought together fields that included numerous stars high in the United States rankings. Then, too, in those gladsome days when Harry Seymour and his ardent followers took an active interest in such affairs, Eastern and Western luminaries were wont to stop off here for exhibition tussles in the course of their gallivantings about the country and splendid galleries habitually turned out to behold such mighty figures of the games as Maurice McLoughlin, Dick Williams, R. Lindley Murray, Zenzo Shimzu, Ichiya Kumagae, S. Howard Voshell, G. M. Church, Sam Hardy, Little Bill Johnson, Peck Griffin, Tom Bundy, Norman Brooks, Molla Bjurstedt (now Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory), Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman and many others.

EVEN after the war and up until as late as 1924, Pittsburgh was favored by visits from Bill Tilden and his entourage. The death blow was struck, however, when the University of Pittsburgh acquired the P. A. A. court property and shut down on the charging of admission to affairs held thereon. Possibility of paying the expenses of out-of-town players was squelched and for the past half-decade Pitts-

DETROIT, July 25.—(AP.)—With a gate of more than $160,000 assured for the first 15-round championship fight in Michigan under the new boxing law, Floyd Fitzsimmons' chief worry today was the weather, which threatened to dampen the ardor of 32,000 fight fans who purchased tickets for the Joe Dundee-Jackie Fields welterweight championship battle at the Michigan State Fair Grounds tonight. Dundee, the Italian champion from Baltimore, has not shown any considerable fighting ability since he gained the title two years ago, and consequently will enter the ring tonight strongly suspected of being about to lose his crown. Fields, who is five years younger and carries considerably less ring experience, has come up rapidly and has plenty of betting support, being the favorite at 7 to 5. Fields' supporters expect him to knock out the champion. Dundee has been down several times, but never out.

Elmer (Slim) McClelland, Detroit, referee, will be the third man in the ring.

IN PERFECT CONDITION

Handlers of both fighters have announced that their boys are in perfect condition and would offer no alibis regardless of the outcome of the fight. Fields indicated that he did not intend to let the prestige of the champion impress him.

"I mean to come out of the ring the new welterweight champion," he declared. "I'm going to box and punch Dundee off his feet."

Dundee also expressed confidence as to the outcome of the fight. "I am in the best shape I have been in years," he asserted. "I hope to make my best fight in defending my title against Fields."

JOE MORE EXPERIENCED

In experience Dundee has considerable advantage over the challenger. He has nearly 100 ring battles behind him, compared with Fields' 44. Dundee has knocked out Mickey Walker, now the middleweight champion, Tommy Freeman, Hilario Martinez and Clyde Hill. Against this, Fields has a record of 10 knockouts and eight decisions in 18 fights during the past 18 months. His knockout victims include Sergt. Sammy Baker, Don Frazer, Jack Zivic, Joe Vargas, Pete Myers, Mike Payan, Tommy Elks, Jackie Horner Al Van Ryn and Joe Cooper.

Both fighters are expected to be well under the welterweight limit of 147 pounds when they weigh in before the Michigan State Boxing Commission at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Dundee's manager has posted $5,000 guarantee that the Champion will make the weight.

TO INSPECT ARENA

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—Frank Bruen and Mike Jacobs, representing the Madison Square Garden Corporation, today are en route for Detroit, where they will witness the Joe Dundee-Jackie Fields fight tonight and also inspect Floyd Fitzsimmons' arena with a view to leasing it for the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight.

The pair also will confer in Chicago with George F. Goetz, who was associated with the late Tex Rickard in the promotion of the second Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago. It is believed that the Schmeling-Sharkey bout will be held in Detroit or Chicago.

SHADE-DIXON MATCHED

TOMORROW—THE HOOVER MYSTERY.

DAVIES BOXES CARL CAVELLI TONIGHT

The Junction Park outdoor arena at New Brighton, one of the most successful in the district since it was opened several shows back, will play host again to the boxing fans tonight with a card featuring Willie Davies, of Charleroi, and Carl Cavelli, of Canton, O., in the 10-round main bout. It will be their fourth clash. Cavelli recently held Willie to a draw at Altoona, on the eve of the big automobile race there, and put up a terrific battle with Frisco Grande, the Filipino, at Junction Park, and is a big favorite in the Beaver valley.

Lee Sala, of Donora, meets Nick Polis, of Aliquippa, in the six-round semi-final, and, in another six-rounder, Jimmy Birch, of Ashtabula, O., will box a substitute for Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, who was injured in training. In two four-round bouts, Bud Morrison, of Canton, will box Rube Sanders, of Youngstown, and Scotty Baird, New Brighton High School athlete, will oppose Scotty Graham, of Donora.

Pete Zivic, who is back in training again following his long layoff due to a bad ear, wants to meet Benny Schwartz, of Baltimore, who recently registered a hit in beating Jackie Rodgers at the Bridgeville

Wills Defeats Nuthall in Boat Match

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—A wireless message from the steamship Aquitania told of the victory of Helen Wills over Betty Nuthall, English champion, in an exhibition game of deck tennis aboard the liner. The message read:

"Hundreds of passengers, including members of the British Wightman cup tennis team, watched Helen Wills defeat Betty Nuthall, 6-2, 6-2, in an exhibition game of deck tennis on the Aquitania today. Captain Diggle, commander of the Aquitania, was the referee. 'Play you again in regular tennis soon,' was Helen's goodbye to Betty."

CUP NET DUELS DRAW MADE

PARIS, July 25.—(AP.)—Staged with all solemnity in the presence of diplomats, the draw for the Davis Cup challenge round between France and America resulted today in George Lott being paired with Jean Borotra and Big Bill Tilden bracketed with Henri Cochet for the opening two singles matches tomorrow at the Roland Garros Stadium.

The 22-year-old American youth, Lott, and his veteran Basque opponent, will take the courts at 2:15 p. m. (8:15 a. m. Eastern standard time). Tilden and Cochet are scheduled to play at 4:30 p. m. (10:30 Eastern standard time).

Both teams appeared satisfied by the results of the draw, for varying reasons. To the American viewpoint it appeared an advantage to have Lott start against Borotra, feeling perhaps more confident than he would against Cochet, ace of the French team. Tilden, too, will be fresh for his biggest test of the series on the opening day.

The French, on the other hand, suggested that Lott, perhaps burdened with responsibilities, would be less formidable than if he had drawn the second match.

There was a slight tendency to lengthen the odds but with plenty of American money in evidence, the figures were no more than 2 to 1 against the chances of the United States.

Although final announcement will not be made until tomorrow, it is regarded as virtually certain Cochet and Borotra also will form the French doubles combination for Saturday's match against the youthful stars, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn.

ZACH TAYLOR GREAT AID TO CUBS

A certain obscure receiver who may have merited more of a "tumble" by the wiseacres of the National League, appears to have played a big part in putting the Cubs on top in the National League. The reference is to Zach Taylor, who recently made a grand right and left, swing-your-pardners change from the lowly Braves to the lofty Bears.

Taylor long has been a dependable receiver who could sock the ball just about as hard as the next catcher. Yet he was peddled about like a four-a-day vaudeville act, until Joe McCarthy figured that he would help out in a distressful situation.

Since Marse Joe closed that little transaction with the Boston people, his pitching staff has done a right-about-face. You can put the credit where you wish, as everyone has a right to his opinion.

Keck to Cover Title Battle At Detroit

When Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, defends his world welterweight championship against Jackie Fields, the National Boxing Association champion, in their scheduled 15-round bout in Floyd Fitzsimmons' new arena at Detroit tonight, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will be represented at the ringside by Harry Keck, its sports editor, who will have a graphic description of the battle, along with a column of interesting sidelights, in tomorrow's issue.

A number of Pittsburghers will witness the bout and many others are keenly interested in the outcome after having seen Dundee engage in a final tuneup battle for the affair against Billy Alger in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, recently.

Some 500 rooters will accompany the Uniontown American Legion junior baseball team when it comes to Pittsburgh Saturday to play in the final game for the West Penn championship, and they will be accompanied by the American Legion Fife and Drum Corps of the town, according to Ben Giffen, tournament director.

The game will be played at Forbes Field following the Pirates' doubleheader, at which 1,500 Legion juniors will be the guests of President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates, who also is donating the use of the field for the occasion.

JACOBS GAINS QUARTER FINAL

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 25.—(AP.)—Two seeded players in the West Virginia open tennis championships fell yesterday in the third round of the men's singles.

Bud Buxby, of Miami, disposed of Elmer Rudy, Baltimore, a seeded player, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4. Buxby forced his older opponent to waste valuable shots.

The other upset was provided by Jake Hess, of Rice Institute, Texas, who defeated Eddie Neer, of the University of Southern California, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-1. Hess was brilliant in placements.

Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore, beat B. Wilkinson, Huntington, 6-0, 6-1. Bruce Barnes, University of Texas, also had an easy day, defeating William Williams, Charleston, 6-2, 6-4. Francis Hardy, University of Southern California, defeated Frank Hutchcock, of Westbury, L. I., 6-1, 6-1.

The bracketing today will bring together Jacobs and Hess, Taylor and Cohn, Barnes and Hardy and Dunlap and Buxby.

In the women's singles play went through to the quarter-finals.

Mrs. Deloyd Thompson, Washington, Pa., defeated Miss Eva Bennett, Charleston, 6-0, 6-0. Miss Marian Wells, Washington, D. C., disposed of Miss Martha Norvell, Huntington, W. Va., 6-4, 6-1. Mrs. M. G. Martinez, of Washington, D. C., eliminated Miss Eleanor Wells, Washington, D. C., 6-0, 6-1. Miss Lucy Newberry, Huntington, W. Va., West Virginia champion, defeated Miss Wilhelmina Penders, Charleston, 6-3, 6-3.

ROBIN SERIES FINAL GAME POSTPONED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

A heavy rain at noon today resulted in the postponement of the final game of the Pirates-Robins series, scheduled for Forbes Field this afternoon. The game will be played as part of a double-header on September 6, when the Brooklynites make their final swing through the West.

Remy Kremer, who had been given the slab assignment for today, will retain the slab ticket tomorrow, when the Boston Braves appear here to open a series.

The day of enforced idleness killed any hopes the Buccos may have entertained for an immediate return to first place, from which they were toppled yesterday when the Robins were victors here and the Cubs downed the Giants in Chicago.

HEINE MEINE FAILS

Heinie Meine was not equal to the task of checking the Robins yesterday, although the Pirates had enough runs on the sacks in the ninth inning for victory. With the bases packed and two runs necessary to tie up the contest, Lloyd Waner flied to Frederick for the last putout. The score was six to four.

Watson Clark traveled the entire distance for the invaders, the left-hander pitching a smart game. He was in plenty of trouble in the final round, but was able to get enough stuff on the ball in the real crisis to fool the star centerfielder.

Larry French pitched the last two frames and was very clever. The young lefthander has been on the mound twice in two days and on each occasion looked better than the boys he relieved, so that he may soon get a chance to start a game.

HERMAN LEADS ATTACK

Meine's offerings were "duck soup" for Babe Herman and his pals, who combed Heinie's slants for two three-baggers and four doubles among their 10 safeties. Herman connected for two three-sackers.

Manager Bush started the game with Stuart Clarke on third, partly because a lefthander worked against the Pirates and for the reason that George Grantham's arm would profit by a bit more rest. Sparky Adams went to second at the beginning of the contest, but emergency men later took Clarke out and brought Grantham into action.

COLT BREAKS CIRCUIT RECORD

GRAND RAPIDS, July 25.—(AP.)—Walter Dear, W. H. Kane's brown colt which has been an outstanding favorite for the Hambletonian stake to be trotted at Lexington in October, made his first start of the season in the three-year-old trot here yesterday afternoon and celebrated the event by setting a new record for the 1929 Grand Circuit. Walter Dear stepped the first heat to beat out Contender, in 2:03½. The best previous mark by three-year-olds this season was 2:04¼, which Contender hung up at Kalamazoo.

Following the sensational first heat, Walter Dear went the second heat in 2:06½ and the last heat in 2:04¼, thus bringing forth the three fastest heats of the season and strengthening the opinions of wiseacres looking ahead to the Hambletonian.

Enoch Guy and King Grattan finished one-two in straight heats in the 2:16 pace, both out-pacing the field handily. Labrador, E. J. Baker's classy pacer, outclassed the field in the 2:18 event, the Driving Club Stake, annexing in straight heats by comfortable lengths.

WILSON'S HOMERS DRIVE CUBS INTO LEAD

MACKS RETAIN LEAD; YANKS VICTORS

(By Associated Press)

The Chicago Cubs, hard fighting crew, are back in first place in the National League today, prodded there by the doughtiest fighter of them all, burly Hack Wilson.

For it was Hackenschmidt, with an architectural style that resembles a quarter section of a fortress wall, who crushed the New York Giants with his big bat yesterday after even the elements had seemed to contrive to keep intact a slender one point margin of the leading Pirates.

The scene was set nicely for the graceful ascent of the Cubs.

PIRATES OUSTED

The scene was set nicely for the graceful ascent of the Cubs into first place when things began to happen that called for sterner, brusquer methods. For the second straight day, the malevolent Brooklyn Robins, going nowhere in particular but mighty pugnacious about it, swarmed all over the Pirates and beat them 6 to 4.

Everything was peaceful at Wrigley Field. With Guy Bush, ace of the Cub staff, going nicely, the Cubs ran up a lead of 4-0 on the Giants by the time the sixth inning rolled around. Rogers Hornsby hit one homer off Jack Scott, his twentieth of the season, and Hack got another—his twenty-fourth. Everything was under perfect control from a Cub standpoint.

Then the peaceful scene turned into a mild madhouse. The Giants rose and slashed Bush for three runs in the sixth; thunder and lightning swept the field, and the game halted while spectators and players rushed through the downpour from flooded bleachers and dugouts. The sun came out in an hour and play was resumed. Bush was out of there. In a few minutes so was Art Nehf, and before the interrupted sixth was over Pat Malone was hanging on the ropes and the Giants were leading, 7-4.

WILSON STAR

But John McGraw's discarded chickens have a habit of coming home to roost—right on his neck—at such times as these. It was the master mind who sent Hack Wilson to Toledo in 1925, after three poor seasons with the Giants. Hack waited until the seventh, when Heathcote and Hornsby singled, and then smashed his second homer of the day into the centerfield bleachers. These three runs evened things. A walk, sacrifice and McMillan's single gave the boys from the pineapple orchard an 8-7 victory and first place by half a game.

The remainder of the National League battling was interesting but inconclusive, while the situation along the American League sector remained unchanged with the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics winning the day's jousts.

The A's kept their 10-game lead intact by downing Cleveland 5-3 behind Big George Earnshaw's sterling hurling, and the Yanks crept up from behind to edge out Detroit 7-5. George Uhle threw against Herb Pennock, the Yank southpaw, and both were hit hard. Jimmy Foxx landed his twentieth homer for the A's, and Bill Dickey, Yankee kid catcher, hit a homer and three singles.

CARDS VICTORS

Bill McKechnie came back to the St. Louis Cards from the Rochester farm to reap his reward for managing the Red Birds into a pennant last year, and started off nicely. The Cards downed the Phillies 6-4 when Wallis Roettger, rightfielder, hit a homer with the bases full in the sixth and Jimmy Wilson got another with Roettger aboard in the eighth.

The Boston teams struck blows for the home folks both home and afield. The Braves bested Cincinnati 5-3, and the Red Sox took the St. Louis Americans 9 to 7. Bob Burke won a pitching battle with Alphonse Thomas as Washington edged out the Chicago Americans 3 to 2.

WALLACE WINS STATE TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—Billy Wallace, Philadelphia, last night slugged his way to the lightweight championship of Pennsylvania in a 10-round bout with Johnny Jadick, also of Philadelphia, at the Phillies' ball park. Each scaled 133 pounds. Wallace, who recently moved to this city from Cleveland, gave a brilliant exhibition of boxing and was too clever for Jadick.

In the 10-round semi-windup, Matty White, 122, won the decision over Frank (Kid) Anselm, 123, Central American Negro. Anselm substituted for Al Brown, Colon, Panama, who is recognized by the New York Boxing Commission as bantamweight champion. Brown weighed in before the Pennsylvania commission in the afternoon, but failed to report at the park last night.

NEALE AID

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—Earle (Greasy) Neale, former Cincinnati manager, has been named coach under Billy Southworth at Rochester by the Cards.

STAR HURT

CHICAGO, July 25.—Eddie Roush, Giant centerfielder, pulled a tendon in his right leg here yesterday and will be out of the game for a week or more.

Captain Dick Long took his private club linksmen out to the Schenley Park municipal links yesterday afternoon to meet the all-star public links aggregation corraled by U. S. G. A. District Public Links Committeeman Ken Witherow, and the W. P. G. A. squad came out of the battle victor, 11 matches to 4, with one tied, although it found it had been through a real struggle. Watts Gunn, famed Atlanta pal of Bobby Jones, who flew to the scene of the tournament from Columbus, O., met defeat at the hands of Bob Graham, brother of John Graham, president of the W. P. G. A., 3 and 1.

FRENCH LEADS IN CANADIAN

KANAWAKI, Quebec, July 25.—(AP.)—Long Jim Barnes, former American and British open champion, set the pace for the early starters in the Canadian open golf championship today by negotiating the first nine holes in 32 strokes, three under par.

An extraordinary rub of the green occurred at the second hole when George von Elm's iron second landed squarely in the lap of Charlie Keenes, London (Ont.) youth, who was sitting on a bench at the third tee. The amazed lad asked bystanders what he should do.

Advised to "stand up and see what would happen," he did so and the ball fell to the ground. The Detroit amateur chipped it up close to the pin and was down in one put for a par four.

Emmett French, of Southern Pines, N. C., posted a 70 for the first 18 to take an early lead over the field. He took 35 out and the same number coming in.

Correct Baseball Scoring

NO. 20.

Everything that has gone before in this series on Correct Baseball Scoring had to do with certain plays and today's lesson is a bit different.

The average fan who attends a ball game and has a score card in front of him does not keep it. He should know that, with a little practice on a simple system, all the plays could be recorded very easily. This adds to the enjoyment of the game.

There are a number of systems and no one may be termed as "the" system. However, the writer is going to take the reader through one method easy to master.

In the first place, remember that each one of the little scores on the score card should represent the four bases. The fielding record of the opponents should show in these spaces opposite the name of the player whose batting records will be obtained from these figures, inning for inning.

In order to show this fielding record the players should be numbered. One of the most general systems of numbering lists the pitcher as (1), catcher (2), first baseman (3), second baseman (4), third baseman (5), shortstop (6), left fielder (7), center fielder (8) and right fielder (9).

Suppose Jones was at bat and grounded out, shortstop to first base. The little square in that inning should show back of Jones, 6—3, meaning that (6), shortstop, is given credit for an assist and (3), the first sacker, the putout.

(Symbols used in scoring will be listed tomorrow.)

Dead Heat Run At Empire City

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—Scheduled as just the usual opener for youngsters valued at $2,000 to $3,000, the first race at Empire City turned into a thriller yesterday as J. H. Loucheim's Prince Toy and R. T. Wilson's Night Extra raced to the first dead heat of the season on New York turf.

Night Extra went out in front on the stretch turn as Prince Toy slipped through on the inside. Closing rapidly Prince Toy was soon on even terms with Night Extra. Tht two colts went into the final drive taking stride for stride, and that is the way they went under the wire, three lengths in front of Monica, which took down show money. All wagers on the two winners were divided.

Scranton Promoter Barred by Comish

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission has announced the following suspensions:

PUBLIC LINKS TEAM LOSES

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Again the all-star private links team, captained by Richard C. Long, veteran Stanton Heights star, defeated the picked forces of the municipal links, in their seventh annual match over the Schepley Park municipal links yesterday. The score was 11 to 4, which was a better showing than the public coursemen made last year.

The event was one of the finest ever held, since it was inaugurated seven years ago by John Jay Burke, and Kenneth Witherow, district member of the U. S. G. A. public links section, is to be complimented upon its success.

With the aid of several of Schenley Park's most enthusiastic women golfers, enough money was taken in through the "tag" method to assure Pittsburgh's representatives, who are to play in the National public links championship at St. Louis, August 6 to 10, of sufficient expense money to see them through.

GUNN DEFEATED

The major portion of the gallery followed the big match in which Watts Gunn, former Atlanta star, played Bob Graham, and William C. Fownes, Jr., former National amateur champion, competed against Red Barr. Graham took a 3 to 1 victory over the runner-up in the last National amateur championship played at Oakmont.

Carl F. Kauffmann, national public links champion for the last two years and reigning city titleholder, upset Raymond L. Babcock, of Oakmont, 6 and 5, in another feature contest. Pete O'Malley and I. W. Danforth, of Oakmont, ended their match all even.

J. Scott Burke, of Fox Chapel, also met hard defeat at the hands of another member of the city's delegation to St. Louis when C. J. Lunden set him down, 6 and 5. Dick Wessell nosed out Greer McIlvain, of Longue Vue, president of the State Golf Association, 1 up.

PAIR FLY HERE

Watts Gunn and Greer McIlvain, by the way, arrived on the scene of action only shortly before the contests started, having traveled by air to Rodgers Field from Akron and thence directly to Schenley's links.

Other scores follow: Joe Crawford, Oakmont, defeated J. W. Platt, 1 up; R. C. Long, Oakmont, defeated Bernie McFarland, 2 up; Davey Herron, state amateur champ, Oakmont, defeated Bill Spurrier, 1 up; Bob Lyne, Oakmont, defeated M. A. Evans, 2 and 1; J. B. Crookston, Stanton Heights, defeated Joe Natalie, 4 and 3; Jock Graham, South Hills, defeated Joe Curto, 6 and 5; George Ormiston, Oakmont, defeated F. N. Roche, 4 and 3, and Freddie Wepner, Stanton Heights, defeated S. W. Phillips, 1 up.

MIXED FOURSOME TODAY

A mixed foursome tournament is scheduled for today at the Pittsburgh Field Club. The Women's Golf Committee of that club will be in charge of the affair, which has attracted a large field. The golf event will be followed by a dinner and dance this evening.

Women Card Team Matches in West

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—The Women's Western Golf Association club team championship will be decided August 12, in a "contest against par" over the home courses of member clubs. Teams of four players named before August 8, will play 18 holes on their own courses under rules laid down by the association, the best total score to be rewarded by possession of a cup for one year. Permanent possession will be gained by three victories in the competition.

Les Marriner Wins Over Tony Fuente

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Les Marriner, former University of Illinois tackle, chalked up a clean out victory over Tony Fuente, Los Angeles, Mexican heavyweight trial horse, in their six round bout in the Chicago stadium last night.

A strike of ticket sellers and ushers at the stadium, forced the crowd to wait outside for several minutes while Paddy Harmon president of the Chicago stadium corporation, obtained other help. He called upon friends and himself assisted in seating the customers.

The trouble occured when Harmon insisted upon using his own ticket takers. All those identified with the ushers and ticket-takers union walked out, but were replaced within a few minutes.

SINGER STOPS ANDRE ROUTIS

A capacity crowd jammed Ebbets field for the show, staged for the General Wingate memorial fund. Routis' title was not at stake. He weighed 128¼, Singer 129.

SPORT COMMENT

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor

Is the present unfortunate situation due to waning of tennis interest in this locality? Most emphatically it is not. The appeal of the sport is as powerful as ever, but young—and veteran—athletes are discouraged by the difficulties besetting the Steel City racqueter. To begin with, the municipal or public parks courts of Pittsburgh are pathetically few in number and ridiculously impoverished as to equipment. Attempting to play the game creditably upon them is an utter hopeless task.

Mrs. Mallory.

BUT more important than the foregoing is the fact that the tennis clubs of the district are for the most part two or three-court organizations without comfortable dressing accommodations and entirely incapable of handling galleries of any considerable size. Tennis is essentially a game that flourishes best with club background. The fascination of the pastime itself is great, but such attractiveness is immeasurably enhanced by a social side of the sport, which is almost completely unknown to the rank and file of local court devotees. And the peculiar part of it is that this social side flourishes strongly and valuably in almost every tennis town, large or small, except Pittsburgh.

The crying sport need of this city is a club devoted exclusively and on a large scale to tennis. Young players could be developed there and from it would spring a torrent of racquet enthusiasm that would inundate thousands of Pittsburghers in a flood of health. Such a club would be a real philanthropy. The time will come when some public-spirited citizen of means will see this splendid chance to do good for the youth of the community and will set the ball rolling toward the goal. That day cannot arrive too soon!

O'LOUGHLIN, BROIDA CLASH FOR TITLE

FINAL MATCH DELAYED BY RAIN

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Although rain interfered with play at mid-day in the Pittsburgh Center court tournament, it was hoped play would be resumed some time this afternoon in the event the weather took a turn for the better.

Billy O'Loughlin, Duke prep star and defending champion, was to have met Frank Broida, Harvard freshman luminary and former Peabody southpaw, in the finale of the annual Steel City youths' tournament on the Carnegie Tech courts at 11 o'clock this morning, and whether or not the match is played at all today depends entirely on weather conditions.

Meanwhile, in the boys' division, if play is resumed, Carl Link, East End protege of Dick O'Connor, will tangle with Harry Tsorvas, Bluff street darkhorse, in combat for the younger performer's crown. Victofs in the two battles will be sent at the expense of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association to compete as local representatives in the National junior and boys' championships at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana, the week of August 12. All semi-finalists in the Center meeting are eligible to enter the nation-wide event, though only the winners ride free.

CHAMP THRICE VICTOR

The district tournament opened under broiling skies on the Skibo lot yesterday and Committeeman John O'Loughlin pushed the contestants through at a great rate until fields of 14 in the juniors and eight in the boys had been narrowed by mid-afternoon to two apiece. Billy O'Loughlin, fighting for his third consecutive medal, disposed of three opponents in straight sets.

The Dukelet's ripping forehand was flashing with deadly pace and precision. Carl Kretchman could garner but one game in the face of it in round one, while Bill Creighton, courageous Mount Washington lad, was able to do no better than 6-1, 6-3 a bracket later. In the semi-finals, Ed Alcorn, Mount Lebanon driver, offered the prepper a nice run, but lacked the strokes to tally when tallies might have meant sets. As a result, O'Loughlin copped, 6-2, 6-4, 7-5.

Broida, whose forehand wallops have improved immeasurably since their propellor has added a number of inches to his stature, justified the advance dope by struggling gallantly to eliminate Al Lazar, Grant Krans and Jack Redmond in the order named. Lazar grittily pushed the Crimson frosh ace to 9-7, 4-6, 8-6, and Redmond, Peabody hope and another lefthander, played severe tennis that was always dangerous but never quite up to grabbing a set. The count read 7-5, 6-0, 6-3.

ELLIOTT DEFEATED

The defeat of Paul Elliott, Wilkinsburg mite and 1928 champion, was the feature of the boys' milling. Tsorvas was the giant-killer, 6-4, 6-4, and by virtue of his win he passed into the final. He had earlier downed Bockstore in a tough tussle, 7-5, 6-2. Link attained the titular frame by accounting successively for Johnny, last of the Smeatons, 6-3, 6-3, and Bill Nicklin, Stanton Heights entrant, 6-2, 6-2. The summary:

O'Loughlin defeated Carl Kretchman, 6-0, 6-1; William Creighton defeated Jack Rosen, 6-2, 6-1; Leo O'Neill defeated David Cohen, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2; Jack Redmond defeated Harold Hatch, 6-2, 6-1; Joseph O'Connor defeated James Robertson, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3; Frank Broida defeated Al Lazar, 9-7, 4-6, 8-6.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Answered By JIM BARNES
Former American open champion

My first suggestion is: Practice a lot. Use a comfortable stance, ball fairly close to the feet. Keep head and body quiet. Hit squarely with the putter, moving the putter head in a straight line. Avoid rotating the club, or swinging it so that the putter head moves in a curved line before it hits the ball.

GETTO SIGNS AS KANSAS COACH

LAWRENCE, Kas., July 25.—(AP.)—Michael Getto, star tackle last year at the University of Pittsburgh, today was selected as first assistant coach of football at the University of Kansas. Getto signed a year's contract. The salary was not announced.

Mike Getto, who wound up his college football career at Pitt last fall, was a star tackle on Panther elevens for three years. Last season his play stamped him as one of the nation's greatest linesmen, and he was given a place on the majority of all-America elevens.

DAVIES MEETS CARL CAVELLI

Promoters at Lynn, Mass., are trying to sign Jack Zivic for a 10-round bout with Tony Shucca, of Lynn, who recently defeated Larry Brignolia in Boston.

Billy Jones, local Negro heavyweight, is training at Flynn's gymnasium for his 10-round windup with Murray Gitlitz, of New York, at the New Castle Jolly Bowl next Monday night. Jones also is matched with Maxie Rosenblum at Atlantic City, August 26, and holds victories over Tony Fuente, Benny Ross, Rosy Rosales, Pietro Corri, Babe McGorgary and other good ones.

Pittsburgh fans who plan to take in the Dominick Profio-Tiger Joe Randall return bout at Cycler Park, McKeesport, tomorrow night and make the trip by automobile can do so in approximately 25 minutes via the following route: Through South Side, take river road through Hays and Dravosburg and cross bridge into McKeesport.

CANGY TOUGH FOE

Teddy Welch has plucked off a tough one for himself in meeting Paris Cangy, of New Castle, in the eight-round semi-final to the Tommy Crawley-Tony Herrera bout at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night. Cangy, a protege of Jimmy Dime, is a good boxer and a tough puncher with plenty of experience. He recently knocked out Frankie Ferro, of Philadelphia, after the latter had gone the route with Tony Herrera at New Castle. Leo Mozdy, hard-hitting flyweight, of Erie, meets Georgie Tomosky, of Wilmerding, in the second bout Monday.

Rosenbloom Signed To Box Harry Dillon

PORTLAND, Ore., July 25.—(AP.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, spectacular New York light-heavyweight, has been signed by Joe Levy, matchmaker for the Portland boxing commission, to fight 10 rounds here July 30 with Harry Dillon, of Winnipeg. He also will meet K. O. White, of Chicago, in six rounds at Aberdeen, Wash., August 2.

DAVIES LIKELY GRIDIRON AID AT GENEVA

By JESS CARVER.

A Youngstown man, who will teach physical education, is rumored as Mack Flenniken's new assistant football coach at Geneva. Davies, I think, is the name.

Clair Merriman, former Geneva College basketball and track star (not so VERY former, as he only graduated this year), has enrolled in the medical school at Pitt.

This fellow Rhiel, who knocked Pirate strategy galley west the other afternoon out at Forbes Field by cracking out a home run with the bases full, was Southern Conference football star of the first magnitude not so many seasons ago.

STAN HAS JOB

Stan Berkman, one of the best backs ever developed in the Tri-State Conference, who quarterbacked for Thiel for three years, will teach physical ed at Monaca High this year.

Dwight Beede, head football coach at Westminster, if he can develop a fullback to replace the powerful Jinks Havrilla, now a graduate, will be able to put another title-contending United Presbyterian eleven in the field this fall.

FOWNES OUT OF AMATEUR

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—The West, host this year to the national amateur golf championship at Del Monte, Cal., dominates the entry list for the first time in the history of this classic of the links.

The total of 205 entries received by the United States Golf Association will be cut down considerably, but as it stands now, 134 represent the broad expanse west of the Mississippi, with about half of these from the Pacific Coast section. The eastern half of the country filed 61 entries, but whatever it may lack in number appears offset by the strength of an array led by the South's one and only Bobby Jones, four-time champion, as well as such stalwarts as George von Elm, of Detroit; Jess Sweetser, of New York; Maurice McCarthy, of Georgetown, and George Voight, of New York.

TEN FOREIGN ENTRIES

Ten foreign entries complete the list, including Cyril Tolley, the new British champion, C. Ross Somerville, of London, Ont., and Don Carrick, of Toronto, present and former Canadian champions, respectively.

Altogether the holders of four national amateur titles are listed, including Jones, Tolley, Somerville and Jack Westland, former University of Washington star who won the French championship this year.

Conspicuous among the names missing from the entry list are Max R. Marston, of Philadelphia, champion in 1923; Ellsworth H. Augustus, Cleveland star; Dexter Cummings, former intercollegiate champion; R. Ray Gordon, the Brae Burn veteran, who gave Bobby Jones his closest match last year; T. Philip Perkins, former British champion and 1928 runner-up to Jones; and William C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, champion in 1910, who has failed to enter for the first time in 20 years.

TO TURN DOWN FIFTY

Approximately 50 entries will be turned down by the United States Golf Association championship committee under its regulation limiting the starting field to between 150 and 160.

Besides the several stars mentioned who failed to file entries, the missing eligibles also include these players: J. Walcott Brown, William M. Reekie, Lauren Upson and Eddie Wild, all in New Jersey ranks; Paul Haviland, former Yale ace; Dick Jones, of New York; M. L. Massingill, of Fort Worth, and George V. Rotan, of Houston, Texas; C. F. Netteiblad, of Worcester, Mass.; J. Wood Platt, of Philadelphia; Billy Sixty, of Milwaukee; George Thomas and Harry Walton, of Chicago; David Ward, of Grand Rapids, Mich; P. W. Whittemore, of Boston, and M. B. Stevinson, of Chevy Chase, Md.

Essex Net Tourney Matches Postponed

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Mass., July 25.—(INS.)—Rain today caused postponement of the semi-final singles matches in the women's invitation lawn tennis tourney at the Essex Country Club between Miss Mary Greef, Kansas City, vs. Miss Eleanor Goss, New York, and Miss Edith Cross, San Francisco, vs. Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, New York.

Winter League May Be Started By Majors

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP.)—The presence here of five major league baseball scouts has stirred up considerable interest.

Jack Zellers, scout for the Detroit Americans, is touring the West Coast in quest of ball players and a training camp for the Tigers next spring. Joe Engle, of the Washington Senators; William Essick, of the New York Yankees; Willis Butler, of the St. Louis Browns, and Kitty Bransfield, of the Boston Braves, are others here in search of players.

Engle is said to be on the lookout for a first baseman for the Senators.

The Detroit scout also revealed that there was some talk of starting a winter league in Arizona, embracing Nogales, Mesa, Tucson and Phoenix, for use as "farms" for major league teams. The plan is for major league clubs to send their young ball players there for development during the winter season.

ZACH TAYLOR CUB AID

cago slab casualties in the first half of the race. The Sheriff was one of the best pitchers in the league last season, but he couldn't turn in much stuff of account this year, it appears, until the past few weeks. Whether Taylor has been a help to Blake is a question that Marse Joe or Weslayan Fred could answer.

Reports from the big city on Lake Michigan are to the effect that MaCarthy has something like six pitchers in top form. Perhaps that is right, but the score of yesterday's game was not such a hardy testimonial for the contention. The Cubs, however, may be well set in the slab division now with Malone, Root, Bush and others winning consistently.

Babe Herman has made himself quite a pest to Pirate pitchers from Burleigh Grimes right on down the line. The lanky rightfielder belted out two mean three-baggers off Meine's offerings. His second drive almost hit the right-center exit gates on the carry. The Brooklyn boys beat a tattoo of two-baggers against the rightfield ramparts.

PIE ABOUT READY

Pie Traynor is about ready to don a uniform and take easy workouts, but he is not likely to wing into action this week.

The Braves will be here tomorrow for a series, a doubleheader being scheduled for Saturday.

SONNENBERG WINS

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(INS.)—Gus Sonnenberg successfully defended his world wrestling title here last night, defeating Joe Malcewicz, of Utica, N. Y. in two straight falls. He took the first in 42 minutes, 22 seconds, with a body slam. The second came in 11 minutes, 42 seconds. A crowd of 10,000 saw the bout.

CENTRAL LOOP TEAMS FACE TESTS

By TOM BIRKS

Two battles will be staged in the Central League this evening, W. O. W. and the Jimmy Cosletts will tangle at Harlan field. This will be the first trip the Cosletts have made to the Rox grounds, and a large crowd should be on hand. The other battle will find the Roosevelt club stacking against the J. J. Boyles. Roosevelt is going at a sensational clip, and the Boyles will have a tough battle before the ball game is finished.

BRAKERS SEEK REVENGE

In the West Penn League, Wilmerding will make an effort to avenge that overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Verona Community on Tuesday evening. This game will find McNally facing the Airbrake nine, and Manager O'Connel will not have Artmann to come back with. But Wilmerding might get going in this game. Powley is a great hurler, and it is no great loss of form to be beaten by the fast ball pitcher.

The Stowe Civics will visit Herron Hill this evening to hook up with the W. L. Reinecker nine. Stowe wants to keep the lead in the City League. Manager Geer expects to send Roscoe to the mound to stop the Hill nine. Reineckers have not been going so well. Gettings will probably work for the Reineckers.

DISPATCH AT WHOOPEE

The Dispatch club will show its stuff at Whoopee this evening in the Steel City loop. Dispatch copped its opening second half battle against Herron Hill, but the game has been protested by Manager Batch.

Whoopee is raring to go, and intends to beat Kennedy's club.

In the Commercial and Industrial loop two undefeated clubs, Gimbels and Joseph Hornes, will tangle at Camp Horne.

HOMEWOOD VICTOR

Homewood defeated Beltzhoover 5 to 2, and Dormont blanked the Jimmy Smith club 6 to 0 in Inter-County League fracases last evening.

In the City League, Reliance Life won from Pleasant Valley, 2 to 1, in a close and well-played game. Book Shoe hammered out an 8-to-2 win over St. Johns.

The J. A. Lineys won from the Doelfels 9 to 5 in the Central Pittsburgh League, and in the Philadelphia Company loop Duquesne Light downed Equitable Auto 5 to 3.

W. O. W. whipped the Harveys 9 to 2 in one Central League affair, and the W. O. W. nine emerged from a losing streak by defeating the J. J. Boyles 3 to 2.

GRAYS WIN

The Homestead Grays opened their eastern invasion by walloping the Altona Works nine, 16 to 2. Pitcairn won from the Ranger Girls 10 to 9.

U. S. BUSINESS IN PERIOD OF SPECULATION

Commerce in Transitional Stage With Trend Toward Best-Managed Companies

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, July 25.—With industry and banking being reconstructed through mergers and absorptions, this is a speculative era in American business.

Commerce is in a transitional stage, with the trend toward the largest and best managed corporations. Past prosperity records in the aggregate are shattered, but many concerns in unfavored industries and smaller and less efficient units in favored industries fail to participate proportionately in currently generated profits. This unevenness of the distribution of bounties has been accurately reflected in the highly selective character of the stock market.

With the nation's business in a fluid and speculative stage, conservation of capital becomes increasingly difficult. It is difficult for the investor to play the role of an ostrich and close his eyes to the unquestioned hazards. For a year and a quarter, even the purchase of high grade bonds resulted in a shrinkage of principal, although recently the bond market has given signs of more promise.

UNPRECEDENTED PROFITS

The period has been marked by unprecedented profits for the astute speculative financiers and their followers, who took advantage of the changing conditions. Those who were less nimble in acting and less competent in analyzing fluid events had difficulty in merely holding their own. This status is not common to all eras. There have been periods of quietude and less accelerated change in which it was far easier to attain safety of principal and assured regularity of income. In these difficult periods, several hundred newly-created investment trusts purport to offer a way out for the inexperienced investor. The dilemma of the lone investor has proved the opportunity for investment trusts, which have had a mushroom growth. In the last analysis, investment trusts are good or bad in proportion to the competence and honesty of managers. The technical provisions of the debentures and of the by-laws of such companies are distinctly secondary in importance.

ENTAIL LARGER RISKS

After the spectacular rise of selected stocks since the May reaction, new commitments at these levels obviously entail larger risks.

Seeking guidance, an enterprising group sent out a questionnaire to hundreds of chief executives in the principal corporations of the country asking which stocks in their opinion offered the best prospects for the near-term future. The consensus of opinion among the seasoned executives was that the established leaders still offered the greatest promise, of course, no individual or group can talk with any degree of certainty concerning what lies ahead. The future at the market-place is inevitably to a large extent unknowable, and the composite opinion of even a distinguished array of outstanding corporation presidents and chairmen is subject to change without notice.

In the list of favorites, as reported in Forbes magazine, General Electric stood first; American Telephone & Telegraph, second; United States Steel, third; then came the following stocks in this order: Bethlehem Steel, New York Central, Anaconda, Atlantic Refining, Electric Bond & Share, Consolidated Gas, General Motors, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Atchison, United Gas Improvement, Union Carbide and Chemical, Goodyear, Kennecott, Pennsylvania Railroad, United Corporation, Radio Corporation of America, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, International Nickel, New Haven, Packard, Pure Oil, Union Pacific, American & Foreign Power, Canadian Pacific, Montgomery Ward & Company, National Dairy Products, Standard Oil of California, American Can, International Harvester, Reynolds Tobacco, Sears-Roebuck, Allis Chalmers, American Radiator, and Bendix Aviation.

PICKED BY GROUPS

In the order of preference of these executives, stocks were picked by groups as follows: Public utilities, rails, steels, electrical equipment, oils, motors, chemicals, coppers, chain stores, rubbers, drugs and chemicals, radio, mining and metals, dairy products, farm machinery, tobacco, aviation, and machinery, only those stocks and groups which were selected by at least fifty executives are included in the foregoing summaries.

Bull maneuvers are based on fact and fancy, as to the gossip that the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Company was preparing to merge with Johns-Manville, Walworth, and Otis Elevator, a spokesman for the company informed this column that no negotiations for the acquisition of any three of the other concerns have been carried on.

Record Profits Shown By A. M. Byers

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE A. M. Byers Company established a new high record in earnings in the three months ended with June 30. Net profit after all charges totaled $530,199 compared with $410,645 in the previous quarter and with $484,232 a year ago.

After deducting dividends on the $6,726,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock, profit for the quarter was equivalent to $1.59 a share on the 266,635 shares of common stock. This compares with $1.13 a share in the preceding quarter and with $1.89 a share on the 199,340 shares outstanding in the corresponding quarter of 1928.

The company's fiscal year will end on September 30. Results for the first nine months indicate that the present fiscal year will exceed the last by a large margin.

Profit for Nine Months

IN THE nine months ended June 30 net profit was $1,361,540 which was equal to $3.90 a share. In the same period a year ago earnings amounted to $1,078,654 or $3.80 a share on the stock outstanding at that time.

Profit for the nine months was greater than in the full fiscal year ended September 30, 1928 when $1,148,654 or $5.76 a share was earned and it was not far below the profit of $1,577,513 or $5.76 a share earned in the last full fiscal year.

The last change in the capitalization resulted from the offering to stockholders of record January 14, 1929, of rights to subscribe for one new share of common stock at 100 for each four shares held. The rights expired on March 1, 1929.

Not to Build Sheet Mills

REPORTS emanating from Youngstown that the A. M. Byers Company plans to install sheet mills at the Warren plant are declared to be without foundation by officials here. The Warren plant is being used for the production of wrought iron by the new Byers' process under a lease. Eventually the production of iron by the new process will be transferred to Ambridge. Officials state that they have no plans for the plant after this change is made since the present layout of buildings and equipment is not suitable for the installation of sheet mills.

Construction work on the $10,000,000 plant at Ambridge is proceeding satisfactorily. The steel framework of the new buildings has been erected and the plant should be in operation about the end of the year.

A large stock of muck bar and wrought iron billets has been accumulated to insure a supply of raw material in case there is any lapse in time between the completion of the Ambridge plant and the expiration of the Warren lease. The old puddle plant at Girard is also being kept in operation to further protect the supply of wrought iron in case of a serious delay in the starting of operations at the new plant.

Standard Plate Glass

THE report of the Standard Plate Glass Company for the second quarter indicated that some progress is being shown in lowering operating costs and in establishing the company on a sounder basis. A net loss after all charges of $12,737 was shown but this was after making provision for a charge of $109,708 for idle time due to the installation of improvements at the Butler plant.

Last year the Springdale plant was abandoned and it was decided that better results could be shown by the concentration of operations at Butler. Large expenditures were made for improvements and these should be reflected in future statements.

The loss of $12,737 in the second quarter compares with a loss of $122,751 in the first quarter and a profit of $1,267 in the second quarter of 1928.

Standard Plate Glass is in a strong cash position at present but is faced with a maturity of $3,000,000 in notes next year. It is understood that arrangements have been made to take care of this obligation.

Freshman Radio

THE Charles Freshman Company on Tuesday set a new record for production when it turned out 1,370 sets. This will be increased until a daily mark of 1,500 sets is reached within the next few weeks. The production is eight weeks behind sales. Officials expect a daily output of 3,000 sets within the next six months.

The average profit on a set is $19 and this should be doubled when the increased production is attained. The company is earning 25 cents a month on the 903,000 shares of common stock outstanding, which is the entire capitalization. The company has more than 5,000 dealers and 116 wholesale distributors.

STEEL HOOP HAS BIG EARNINGS

SHARON, Pa., July 25.—Sharon Steel Hoop Company had net earnings of $944,550.34 during the first six months of this year, as shown by the semi-annual earnings statement just issued. During the entire year 1928 the earnings were $971,853.53. Profit from operation before depreciation but after deducting charges for maintenance and repairs, was $1,761,208.23. Net earnings are within $27,303 for the six months of the 12 months of 1928.

Earnings are equal to $2.63 a share on the 359,240 outstanding shares.

The company paid $19,994 in dividends on its old preferred stock on April 1 and will pay $179,620 on its present no par stock. The dividend passed several weeks ago was 50 cents a share.

The company had improved operations over the first half, during which period it brought in its new continuous hot strip mill and its new cold rolled strip mill. The plants are working full capacity.

Net profit before depreciation	$1,761,208

Interest and discount	177,864
Total deductions	$ 685,656

STOCK MARKET PRICES TURN REACTIONARY

Recessions Range From 1 to 10 Points—Money Boosted—Loan Gain Seen

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed again in today's stock market although a sprinkling of issues continued to show independent strength. Selling embraced a wide variety of stocks, including several of the recently popular rails and public utilities, with net declines ranging from 1 to 10 points.

The reaction was generally characterized as the further readjustment of a top-heavy speculative position. In some quarters there was a tendency to attribute the nervousness on the part of the speculative public to the month-end credit stringency, the war clouds in the Far East and recent bank failures which have not, however, involved any large institutions of consequence.

CALL MONEY RAISED

Call money renewed at 8 per cent, but the supply of funds was light, and the rate was marked up to 9 in the early afternoon, with indications that it might work higher. Time money rates continue firm. Bankers hold out little hope of any material easing of credit conditions in the near future, barring a sweeping reaction in stock prices, although the Federal Reserve is expected to increase the supply of credit available in order to facilitate the distribution and harvesting of crops.

Business news continues generally favorable. Several favorable half yearly earnings statements were published again today, the Chesapeake and Ohio and Allis Chalmers statements being particularly attractive. A moderate increase in Federal reserve brokers' loans was expected after the close of the market.

American Telephone continued to show outstanding strength, moving up more than 5 points to another new high record at 262¾. Pacific Telephone soared 13 points to a new high at 218. Radio and International Telephone also pointed upward.

BREAKS 10 POINTS

International Business Machines broke 10 points and Atchison 6. Declines of 2 points or more were registered by a wide variety of stocks including General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Union Carbide, A. M. Byers, Bendix, Simmons Company, Johns Manville, Burroughs Adding Machine, General Railway Signal, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Union Pacific and Frisco common.

Wall street continues to be flooded with stock split-up and merger rumors. General Gas and Electric is expected to split up its stock 4 for 1, Baldwin Locomotive 4 for 1 and American Can is reported to have under consideration the declaration of a 50 per cent stock dividend later in the year.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Raw sugar declined 1-32c early today to the basis of 5.96c for spot duty paid. Refiners continued to show but little interest, while offerings were more liberal. The only sales reported were 10,000 bags of Porto Rico at 5.96c and 25,000 bags of Cuban for September shipment at 3.96c delivered.

Futures opened 2 to 4 points lower under liquidation and selling by producing interests, promoted by the easier spot market and the unfavorable London cables. September contracts sold off to 2.14c and December to 2.22c, with the general market at one time 3 to 4 points below the previous close. Covering by trade interests against sales in the spot market checked the decline and a partial rally followed with the list at midday 2 to 3 points net lower. Trading on the whole was not very active and operators were inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments in Cuba relative to the single selling agency plan.

Refined was unchanged at 5.50c for fine granulated, with second hands available at from 5.47½ to 5.20c.

Money Market.

Speculation Gone Out of Business, but Into Stocks.

By B. C. FORBES

CURIOUSLY, about the time speculation went out of fashion in the running of a business, other forms of speculation, especially stock market speculation, came into vogue.

Not so long ago it was common for manufacturers, merchants and others to operate more or less speculatively, especially in forward buying of materials and merchandise. But few of them thought of speculating in Wall street. Today the tables have been turned.

Will this last?

BEFORE the war hand-to-mouth buying was not the rule in this country. Merchants bought for a whole season at a time. Manufacturers sometimes loaded up with raw materials, sometimes refrained from covering their requirements for orders on hand.

It used to be said of a man, "He's a very shrewd buyer." In fact, in many lines of business it was recognized that unusual business was mainly attributable to the exercise of superior judgment in purchasing, especially in knowing when to order heavily for distant delivery. Certain men became recognized as possessing uncanny ability to "feel" the market. They sensed when to plunge and when to operate extremely cautiously.

BUSINESS success is rarely attained this way nowadays. Merchants buy only for nearby needs. Manufacturers try to avoid speculative operations.

Success today is sought, rather, by developing efficiency to the highest attainable pitch. Merchants watch the trend of fashion day by day and act promptly. They employ high-priced brains to conduct their advertising, upon which much greater sums than formerly are now spent. Window dressers of inimitable ability are engaged at salaries formerly paid only the presidents of the nation's very largest banks. Selling staffs are coached and drilled in courtesy, attentiveness, helpfulness and service.

OUR great manufacturing concerns do not depend on mystic intuition on the part of any executives. They don't gamble in raw materials or other supplies. Speculative operating has given place to scientific operating. Facts are preferred to hunches. Research is king. Efficiency and economy are sleeplessly pursued. Higher quality and lower costs are recognized as the certain passports to profits.

In short, the methods of the astronomer rather than the methods of the astrologist are now followed.

YET, speculative operations in the stock market have attained proportions never remotely approached in pre-war times.

Although hunches and gambling and plunging have been largely discouraged in business, they have attained unprecedented vogue in stock market operations. Men and women in all parts of the country have purchased stocks—often on margin—without the slightest investigation. A "tip" from any source whatsoever, no matter how irresponsible, has been considered sufficient to warrant the risking of hard-earned savings.

Even responsible business men, careful in all their business dealings, seeking always to make sure of the facts and to avoid all unnecessary risks, have gaily speculated in this, that and the next stock on nothing more substantial than hearsay. Somebody told someone else that "they are to boost a certain stock"—and a buying order was rushed in with feverish haste.

Since nothing succeeds like success, the profits so easily made during the market's long upward movement incited the amateur speculators to become more and more daring. Most of them pictured themselves as extremely discriminating investors, wonderful judges of finance.

THE terrific 1920-1921 business collapse was chiefly responsible for the advent of hand-to-mouth buying.

The long-sustained rise in stocks was chiefly responsible for the spread of speculation.

But my guess is that some unhappy day stock speculation will lose its popularity and that hand-to-mouth buying will be abandoned—in both cases only for a period. Human nature hasn't changed. Just as severe losses stimulated hand-to-mouth buying, severe losses will make stock speculating unpopular.

Street Expects Baldwin Directors to Announce Capital Readjustment.

WALL STREET was expecting announcement of a plan for capital readjustment by the Baldwin Locomotive board late in the day. Directors met this morning, but voted adjournment until after the close of the market. Current high prices for Baldwin ruling for more than a year have robbed that stock of the wide market popularity which it once enjoyed. Only a few years back Baldwin was regarded as one of the pivotal industrial stocks, and its shares were the object of many a sensational market performance. For several years now, or since it broke out of the moderate price range, it has been relegated to the background of the speculative market. The street has long been expecting a split-up of the stock, and is confident that such a plan has been under consideration.

Having had little part in the speculative utility market of the last several months, Utilities Power and Light presently is attracting a good deal of attention. Current gossip attributes recent activity on the buying side which has lifted the "A" stock to new peak levels, to accumulation by new interests who have in mind the possibilities of the company's properties relative to new affiliations now being worked out. Its operations are international in scope, being located in 19 states in this country, in London and England, and in the province of New Brunswick. In utility circles the company is looked upon as being in a position to figure prominently in the new alignments now evidently under consideration.

UNDER the terms of the new offering of additional stock to shareholders, subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission, the "rights" accruing to Consolidated Gas stockholders, based on current market value of the stock would be worth around $6.50. Following the announcement of the declaration of the regular dividends the board made known the offering of new stock to shareholders at $75 a share in the ratio of one new share for each 10 shares held. The deal would bring Consolidated about $78,000,000 in new money for corporate purposes. Whether this financing foreshadows a deal for Brooklyn Union, is not yet known, although it is reported that large shareholders in that company have received a bid recently for their stock.*

Despite the fact that the time is close at hand when the Radio Corporation will make public its second quarter earnings which are expected to prove quite disappointing, there appears to be no respite for shorts in that stock. In fact it was one of the notably strong features in the course of today's generally irregular market. Radio pushed forward to new high ground on the movement, spurting more than 4 points on a relatively small turnover. Its action indicated that the floating supply of the stock is of nominal proportions, thus making it necessary for shorts to bid against each other to cover their requirements.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC stockholders find added encouragement in each successive monthly statement of earnings for an increase in the dividend from 6 per cent to at least 7 per cent. The preliminary returns for the first half of the current year are now available and disclose an increase in railway operating revenues of $10,340,000 and in net railway operating income of $4,688,000. A new high record for the latter item in June was made this year when the figures were $5,482,000. The closest approach to this level in previous years was in June, 1926, the peak fiscal period of the railroads of the United States, when net railway operating income amounted to $5,153,000. In June, 1928, 1927, 1925 and 1924, the total in each instance was under $5,000,000. In the last named year it was only slightly more than $4,000,000.

In well informed circles it is stated that earnings of American Sugar Refining Company are running well ahead of last year. Although 1928 was far from a highly profitable year for those engaged in the sugar industry, American earned $7.60 a share on the common, against an annual payment of $5. So far this year refiners have been realizing a fair margin of profit on operations and the company stands in a fair way to materially better last year's showing. Gossip in sugar circles is to the effect that management has been giving some attention to entering the industrial alcohol field.

The new spur will connect the Pittsburgh with those of the Donora Southern railroad, an industrial line, and will serve the American Steel and Wire Company mills.

BUGS BAER Says

WHERE THE DAWN COMES UP LIKE THUNDER

A LADY writes in to ask if the war between the Russians and the Chinese is really a war.

All we can say, lady, is that it's a war if you happen to be a Russian or a Chinese.

"Bugs" Baer fighting bumble bees.

When they get down to parchment atrocities and revengeful improvements—that makes it a peace conference.

We have seen many men of many races lying murdered on the ground. Their faces turned toward the stars they could not see.

And we have noticed that all men bleed red.

So if you don't think the Russians and the Chinese are at war, you can get excursion rates from any steamboat company.

The sudden resumption of delicate horrors indicates that the last conference in Geneva was a success.

But we do happen to remember that there was a certain brand of gin named after that city.

Blagoveschensk. Make a note of that. A new atrocity not covered by the League of Nations.

They're making barbed wire out of the alphabet.

The Chinese starched, laundered and ironed them to a razor edge. Those boys have run restaurants in New York so long that they have learned all there is to fighting.

Did you ever go into one of those oon bong gong restaurants on Saturday night?

If you did then you will realize that the Oriental military system is vastly improved.

In the old days we used to win all the restaurant battles. Now, it only requires two Chinks to throw out one collegiate.

So, lady, there is a war.

If you wish to enjoy some atrocities we advise you to visit Blagoveschensk. But we assure you that it will be much healthier to rock a canoe on Lake Champlain.

War is war. So why not stay home, loll back in your hammock, pick up a magazine and read the very interesting information that lemon juice will remove ink stains from tablecloths.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Its Industrial Population Is the Most Prosperous in World

Use for a Few Millions

Play Would Benefit Every One of Its Audiences.

"After 15 years in the theater I am convinced that nobody knows anything about it."—Elmer Rice.

Rice wrote and staged "Street Scene." It won him the Pulitzer prize. The play was turned down by 11 prominent producers in New York. It is running to capacity houses.

"Street Scene" is a simple play, written and acted with tremendous sincerity. It shows the conflict of ideals among people in one little sordid spot in a great city. It reveals, very clearly, the tragic efforts of perplexed humans to find beauty. In an hour and a half an audience learns more sociology than the novel, the pulpit or the school is able to teach in a year. It is one of those triumphs in which the stage transcends almost any other human institution.

If you happen to have a few million dollars you would like to spend in education, buy "Street Scene" and send it touring throughout the United States, admission free.

Sure and Cheap Justice

Britain Has It.

The stock of the British Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, owner of the lost ship Vestris, has dropped in value $20,000,000 in six months.

The British, with good reason, have confidence in their courts of judgment. They know the Royal Mail Company will have to pay for that Vestris loss.

What chance would a man with such a claim have in this country?

His first talk with a moderately competent lawyer would cost him $50. And he couldn't follow his claim through our courts and legal postponements for $1,000.

Why is that?

Because lawyers make our laws and court procedure and make both profitable for lawyers. That's human nature.

New Bedroom Clocks

They May Establish New Era of Peace.

Germany is flooding the United States with tuneful little bedroom clocks, that chime a melodious tune at any appointed hour. And the price is quite low. So it may be only a matter of time until those of us who toil may go tripping off to work with a song on our lips and carrying dinner pail in one hand and twirling a walking stick in the other. The psychology of the old-fashioned alarm clock was very bad. The persistent clanging, loud and rude, made us argue needlessly with our wives. There never was a woman who did not resent being hit by a shoe that was poorly aimed at a blatant alarm clock. It is just possible that Germany's polite and pleasant bedroom clocks may establish a new era of worldwide peace.

When in Doubt—

Don't Shoot.

Mr. Lowman, assistant secretary of the Treasury, whose difficult job is prohibition enforcement, rejected wisely, a suggestion that prohibition agents be disarmed.

To send men, unarmed, against bootleggers, hijackers, rum-runners, would be worse than sending them uphill in a charge of the Light Brigade. NONE of them would return.

What is needed is some plan that would persuade prohibition agents to use their shotguns and automatics with more discrimination.

Their motto should be "When in doubt—DON'T SHOOT," or, "Shoot only AFTER you find the whisky."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MARY is the wife of a traveling salesman.

Yes, you guessed it right—there's trouble.

Mary has to send the Big Boy's suits to the dry cleaner, and naturally she must go through the pockets first.

AND ALMOST EVERY TIME SHE DOES SHE FINDS GIRLS' ADDRESSES—WRITTEN IN HUBBY'S OWN HAND!

He has been a good husband—never given her a moment's anxiety outside of that, so she hasn't even mentioned the subject to him—but she worries and worries and WORRIES.

And now she writes to ask if I honestly believe that "all traveling salesmen chase around with other women."

OF COURSE I DON'T!

Let me tell you something, Mary!

WOMEN AREN'T HALF AS MUCH OF A TREAT TO THE AVERAGE MAN AS WE GIRLS THINK THEY ARE.

This isn't merely a pretty theory of mine. I have had an unusual chance to prove it by actual experience. For years men were my only companions in the woods and mines. Often, for months at a time, I saw no women. Only men, at their wildest and woolliest.

AND YOU'D BE SURPRISED, SISTER, AND PROBABLY GREATLY DISAPPOINTED TO KNOW HOW LITTLE OF THEIR TIME THEY DEVOTED TO THINKING ABOUT WOMEN OR LOOKING THEM UP.

Your particular man MAY be chasing—I can't pass on that. But the mere fact that he's carrying around a bunch of girls' addresses doesn't prove it.

Do you ever go through a little boy's pockets? You will find every sort of loot there—from bed springs to fish worms. There's something in a little boy's nature that makes him just naturally long to accumulate souvenirs.

AND THAT SOMETHING PERSISTS AFTER HE BECOMES A MAN. Your husband is probably accumulating female addresses just as he once accumulated fish worms.

The chances are that he won't give them a second thought after he has once acquired them, but he loves the adventure of discovering them and he likes to lug them around.

ALSO HE LIKES TO THINK WHAT A DEVIL HE IS—OR MIGHT BE! That's another little boy trait which it's well to recognize, Mary.

EVERY MAN WHO'S WORTH SHUCKS WANTS TO THINK HE'S A HARD BOILED EGG.

AND EVERY WOMAN WHO HAS THE SENSE GOD GAVE A GOOSEBERRY WILL LET HIM THINK SO!

Bible Passages

Hope in God

(Psalm 43)

JUDGE me, O God, and plead my cause against an ungodly nation: O deliver me from the deceitful and unjust man.

For thou art the God of my strength: why dost thou cast me off? why go I mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?

O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles.

Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy: yea, upon the harp will I praise thee, O God, my God.

Why are thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a New England poultry dealer down in New York taking a ride on the subway. He got to monkeying with an out-of-order gum-selling machine, and was all mixed up in it when one of the guys that works for the company that owns the machines come along, refilling the things and carrying away the pennies.

"This here thing is a fraud," says the New Hampshire man. "I'm going to write a letter to the papers about it. It's a crime and a shame!"

"What's the matter with it?"

"What's the matter? Plenty! I dropped a penny in, and the plagued thing spit out 10 sticks of gum at me, all at once."

"Well, you should complain. You got 10 sticks for a cent instead of one stick. Course it's out of order, but what then?"

"Well, I put in another penny, and I can't get a thing out of it. I believe it's run dry. It's a shame that you should be allowed to have these things empty here to catch honest folks' pennies!"

Isn't It So?

MORE HORATIO ALGER STUFF

By Herbert Kaufman

DR. WATSON'S boy, the weedy, horse-swapping youngster who sold sewing machines around Painted Post, and afterwards went to work for that Building and Loan Association in Rochester, has closed his country estate for the summer and departed for Europe to confer with the company's foreign executives and factory chiefs.

Unexpected circumstances interfered with his college plans, but they DIDN'T rob him of the initiative and determination he intended to put into a professional career. So he managed to land with the National Cash Register, promote himself to General Manager and finally reach Broad Street and Presidency of International Business Machines.

The record doesn't indicate that any high school classmate, who finished his education with a degree, ALSO became a multi-millionaire or one of industry's field marshals.

NECESSITY snatched away HIS textbooks in the eighth grade, but ability promptly showed him some ladders that the professors DON'T handle.

Around twenty-one, he was wearing shoulder-straps at Washington, where the Ordnance Department passed up West Pointers, Harvard graduates and enlisted bankers, in search of a man to direct small arms production, put him in charge and honorably dismissed him from service as the youngest Major in the American Army.

Incidentally, he is now assistant to the President. And HE didn't slip into office with a frat key, EITHER.

Mr. Hubert T. Parson, having completed a new mansion at Shadowlawn (the former J. B. Greenhut property), once the summer residence of Woodrow Wilson, informs us by cable that his little PIED-A-TERRE, Avenue Foch, Paris, will soon be blueprinted.

THE convenience of a specially designed French establishment will nick him to the neat tune of twelve hundred thousand dollars—but without denting his income.

Mr. Parson is the President of the F. W. Woolworth Company and originally occupied a stool in the bookkeeping division—a reputed CUL-DE-SAC of business, which opportunity is POPULARLY supposed to neglect.

The five-and-ten-cent store hadn't then ripened into a worldwide institution, and nickels and dimes had to jump so often to earn a dollar that the best start he could get was twelve a week.

He took the twelve and took his CHANCES. Now see how he's standing.

These incidents are quoted for the benefit of OTHER lads prone to suffer inferiority complexes, simply because paternal affluence wasn't sufficient to provide them with tasseled mortar-boards and University Club memberships.

UNFAMILIARITY with the processes by which competence is judged TOO frequently leads 'em to believe that ALL roads to preferment are routed across the campus—whereas the short cuts to recognition and advancement are mapped on the balance sheet.

Native wit, integrity and thoroughness are the deciding factors for every big job in sight. And one HONE is as good as another to DEVELOP them.

A sound craftsman never QUARRELS with his TOOLS. Sewing machines, stenographers' notebooks and ledgers conceal as many secrets of success as an academic course or a drummer's sample case.

A NATURAL WINNER will ALWAYS discover a way and evolve a method to do it BETTER.

RADIUM

By Archibald Henderson

IT is perhaps no exaggeration to say that, in proportion to bulk, radium is the most wonderful substance in the world. In the first place, it is secured in minute quantities from enormous masses of ore; and so it may be regarded as a sort of quintessential substance. In the second place, it has an incredibly long life, considering that it is constantly giving off emanations of various sorts. In the third place, it is almost unbelievably powerful in its energy and deadly in its effects. Its value to mankind is that all these remarkable properties have been harnessed and controlled by science, and are now being used for the benefit and advantage of mankind.

Some 35 years ago, Henri Becquerel, the French scientist, left a piece of Bohemian pitchblende lying on an undeveloped photographic plate. The plate, when developed, showed a foggy appearance. It had registered the effects of emanations from radium. In 1898 the Curies isolated this remarkable substance which emitted powerful rays. This substance was found in Bohemian pitchblende, a gram of radium being got from some five or six tons of ore. In this country radium is found in yellow carnotite ore, found in great quantities in Paradox Valley, Colorado. Unfortunately, this carnotite ore yielded almost infinitesimal quantities of radium—only a gram to every 500 tons! Fortunately for science and the race, rich radium-bearing ore deposits have recently been discovered in the Belgian Congo. Today, even since this epochal discovery of ore, an ounce of radium costs the enormous sum of two million dollars. From a ton of carnotite ore we get an amount of radium only about the size of a pinhead—say from five to seven milligrams.

A gram of radium is worth roughly a hundred thousand dollars in money. But in energy and curative power, its value is almost beyond calculation. It is estimated that the length of life of a gram of radium is about 20,000 years. The discharges constantly given off may be measured in terms of horse power. Wisehart states that the power locked in one gram of radium is sufficient to raise a dreadnaught battleship of 28,000 tons, or even the Woolworth Building in New York, 100 feet in the air!

Radium is a deadly, destructive substance. The greatest precautions have to be taken in its handling and use. It is kept in tiny tubes of glass. One of these tubes, holding 25 or 50 milligrams, is less than half an inch long and one-sixteenth of an inch thick. It is estimated that in 10 hours' time an ounce of radium, carried in the hip pocket in an ordinary glass tube, will kill a man by destroying his tissues and bones. For safety, these tubes—say 25 at a time—have to be carried in a lead container, so that there are at least three inches of lead between the tubes and the outside of the case!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Law

INEXORABLE laws are made
That ring men's paths around,
Laws none escape and none evade;
The stars themselves are bound.

Through all the universe there runs
Immutable design,
And from the atoms to the suns
Its countless tendrils twine.

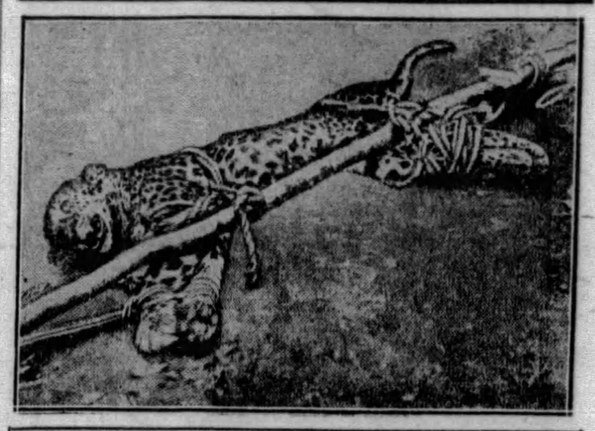
From age to age, through day and night
They move without a flaw,
With sure rewards for wrong or right,
The agencies of law.

Has one done ill? Though man may fail
To glimpse his dark intent,
There is no power which can avail
To stay his punishment.

Do good, and every kindly deed
By good will be repaid,
Thus have unchanging laws decreed
Since suns and stars were made.

When Leopard Turns Man-Eater

A Malignant Look.



HE'LL EAT NO MORE MEN.

This leopard formerly lived and enjoyed himself in the wilds of Borneo. Now he lives a changed life.

The Hutt expedition captured him in a bamboo trap, after he had terrorized many villages, killing the inhabitants, especially old men and women who move slowly and feeble children.

A spotted leopard, this individual weighs 125 pounds, once he takes to man-eating, is more dangerous than the tiger. The leopard, being smaller, creeps up more silently, has great agility and is infinitely more cunning than the heavy tiger beast, his cousin.

Living among the Dyak pygmies, he enjoyed himself until white men, with a cunning greater than his own, came along with well-made traps and caught him.

You will be interested in the way of transporting a leopard without hurting him and with safety for those that carry him. His front legs and hind legs, shoulders and hips are strapped to a long pole. The leopard roars and snarls, with blazing eyes, but cannot hurt the natives that bear his weight at either end of the pole.

You will rarely see a look of more malignant hatred than that on the face of this animal.

DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—This is the American paradise for the realtor and community developer. He is, in many instances, the most convincing liar for whom you ever cupped an ear and in other instances really has the stuff. The only way to avoid him is to leave town.

You meet him along the street, in public parks, the hotel lobby and often he seems to pop out of the woodwork. I actually had one rap on the bathroom door while I, wrapped in a bath twel, peeked through a slit and told him to begone. The idea!

Once he gains an audience you are going to make a first payment down on a bungalow or you have the resistance of a wisdom tooth to dental forceps. It is a brand of high pressure salesmanship that seems to flourish nowhere else in the land.

Their approach is often amusing. This morning one snagged me on the telephone, explaining he was anxious to have me join "a community of artists" far back in the Hollywood hills. "One of the streets," he cooed, "is being named for you." Yet he confessed not a lot had been sold or a house erected.

Another dodge is to announce a prospective purchase will be in the neighborhood of some illustrious motion picture star and those who expect to borrow a cup of sugar or a lawn mower from Harold Lloyd or Corinne Griffith find their "neighbors" are two or three miles away.

However, California real estate is always offering shining examples of quick wealth and the fact so many have profited handsomely through just this sort of slick salesmanship is the lure that bags thousands who will not be so fortunate.

Hills to a hill-billy are so many coals to Newcastle. Hillside homes provide swell views but are about as comfortable as one of those three-legged modernistic chairs. One enters on one floor, leaves wraps on another, meets his host on the next, has dinner up still one more flight and as likely as not falls down four flights on his way out.

* * *

I trust I betray no deep secrets in discussing cute trick bars in many homes. They are inset in the wall. A gadget is pushed, the wall slides up, a brass rail drops down and there you are before the slickest bar you ever saw. Some are circular in the manner of the Paris bistro and nothing is neglected. There is a refrigeration plant turning out cubes of ice, also mechanical drink shakers, glass washers, the attendant in natty white coat with his: "What'll it be, gentlemen?" and some have—in Hollywood, I hear—regular bouncers.

Old timers who used to gnaw a T-bone steak down to the initial at T-Bone Riley's, will be pleased to know he has opened up again. "T-Bone Riley, of Los Angeles, Cal.," has been glorified in songs, poems and books on the West Coast. He dropped out of sight several years ago, but has come back again with a new steakery that is a Roney.

* * *

The New York idea of a steak is the big juicy cut of sirloin at $4 or $5 a copy. There are, too, plenty of thinly sliced "minute steaks," but I have yet to discover the T-Bone save on the Bowery. It should top the meat list daily at the Ritz, Colony, Pierre's and other fashionable cafes. Rightly cooked, no other meat touches it.

* * *

This afternoon I called on Roy Howard's mother who proudly showed me an automobile just received today from her illustrious son. I did not tell her, but I knew him when he cut his own hair, swiped my cigarets and could not have made first payment on a second-hand velocipede.

* * *

Restaurant waiters are extremely friendly. A New York friend, however, seems annoyed by their familiarity. At lunch today he finally said to the garrulous garcon: "Put up a chair and join us." But even that didn't stop him.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

AS YOU move along through life what is your outlook?

Which impresses you most, the good or the bad traits of individuals?

Is oncoming old age a tragedy to you?

It is now impossible for you to enjoy physically, the thing you once thought gave you the most pleasure in life.

It is equally as impossible for you to enjoy the things within the range of your physical strength.

In other words, you have failed in mind desires with the years.

You are still thinking thoughts you had many years ago.

And because your mind has not developed beyond your youth, you cannot adapt yourself to mature pleasures.

Are you still a boy or a girl?

Why don't you grow up?

Get into your class or you're foolish.

You should be a matured human being, a blessing to those around you.

WORDS OF THE WISE

Humble things become the humble. —Horace.

One should try not to be distressed about anything, and to take all that happens for the best.—Pascal.

Surely of all "rights of man," this right of the ignorant man to be guided by the wiser, to be, gently or forcibly, held in the true course by him, is the indisputablest. —Carlyle.

He who sings frightens away ills. —Cervantes.

He who imitates what is evil always goes beyond the example that is set; on the contrary, he who imitates what is good always falls short.—Guicciardini.

Laws and institutions are constantly tending to gravitate. Like clocks, they must be occasionally cleaned, and wound up, and set to true time.—Beecher.

THE HEARST PAPERS DEMAND FOR AMERICA

1—SCHOOLS—MORE schools—BETTER schools—MORE ADEQUATE and more MODERN school buildings; the best TEACHERS and the best COMPENSATION for teachers; a SCHOOL SEAT and a LIBERAL EDUCATION for every child in America, native or foreign born.

AMERICA is the great melting pot of the world, and the product of the melting pot must be competent, educated, loyal, moral AMERICAN CITIZENS.

That is America's duty to itself and its contribution to the social organization.

2—No politics in the schools, no race antagonism in the schools, no religious prejudice in the schools.

THE schools are for all children; and all the children should there be taught and trained and graduated in that KNOWLEDGE WHICH IS POWER and in an enlightened understanding of AMERICAN PRINCIPLES AND IDEALS.

THE government of a Democracy reposes in the hands of the people, and the success of that government, the progress, the prosperity, the perpetuation of the nation depend upon the EDUCATION of the people, and the ABILITY OF THE PEOPLE TO GOVERN.

SCHOOLS are the foundation stones of the republic. Make them STRONG and SOUND and SUFFICIENT.
